Call Council Today to Pick Mayor

ALDERMEN PLAN SECRET VOTE AT SPECIAL SESSION

Party Program of Democrats Upset.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

An unexpected call was issued last night for a special meeting of the city council for 5 o'clock this afternoon to declare the mayor's chair vacant and to select an alderman for acting mayor by secret ballot.

Democratic party leaders and most of the aldermen were taken by surprise. Late night conferences were held, and there were loud protests that Sunday's agreement by the Democrats on a program of action had been treated as a "scrap of paper."

The special meeting call was signed by Ald. John S. Clark [30th], Oscar F. Nelson [46th], and John J. Hoellen [47th]. Ald. Clark, who is chairman of the finance committee, is one of the leading Democratic aldermanic candidates for acting mayor, and Ald. Nelson is a Republican candidate.

Vote by Ballot Planned.

The call for the special meeting set forth that the meeting was for "the purpose of declaring that a vacancy exists in the office of the mayor of the city of Chicago and for the further purpose of appointing or selecting, by ballot, one of their number [an alderman] to be acting mayor or mayor pro tempore, and for no other purpose or purposes whatsoever."

In the political turmoil evoked by the Clark-Nelson call, civic leaders and politicians regarded it as an effort to kick over the traces in a scramble for the Cermak vacancy. Party chiefs held that it threatened the continuation of the Cermak policies at the city hall.

Democratic leaders said they had 26 aldermen, a majority, lined up for an organization program, enough to control council action. But if a secret ballot is held, as contemplated, without roll calls on candidates, the chances of keeping the lineup are diminished.

Advised Against Haste.

The party leaders last night were busy with phone calls and otherwise counseling the aldermen that haste should not be indulged in and that the interests of Chicago, its financial situation, and the coming World's Fair demanded a program that would place the strongest man possible in the mayor's chair.

Today's program now stands as follows:

At 10 o'clock the city council is to hold a special session for the sole purpose of receiving an opinion from Corporation Counsel W. H. Sexton on whether the aldermen are empowered to elect an acting mayor and whether under the law he would have any powers.

At 11 o'clock the Democratic organization is to meet at the Morrison hotel to formulate a program in conformity with the Sexton opinion.

At 5 o'clock the council is to meet in special session again for the express purpose of formally declaring a vacancy and of selecting an alderman, by ballot, which, the city hall experts say, means a secret vote, as acting mayor.

In Dark as to Decision.

As yet Mr. Sexton has not intimated what his decision will be, and last night the Democratic chiefs asserted they were all in the dark. An opinion also is expected to be made public by Controller M. S. Szymczak from Chapman & Cutler, legal bond experts, on whose advice the bankers rely in buying municipal securities. Henry Cutler, while not disclosing what his report to Mr. Szymczak says, takes the ground that the cities and villages act needs amendments to remove any court cloud on securities signed by an acting mayor.

With some forty million dollars of tax anticipation warrants to be signed by the next mayor, the situation is regarded as eminently serious. Political and civic leaders last night held that undue haste by the council would retard Chicago's financial recovery, make impossible the sale of tax warrants, and add to the troubles of the pay rolls for teachers, police, firemen and others.

Clark Explains Call.

Ald. Clark, in explaining the call for the 5 o'clock session today, which was counter to the program formulated at Sunday's meeting of the party organization, which he attended, declared the old charter stipulates that official declaration of a vacancy must be made within ten days after

Pall of Fog Ties Up Rush Hour Traffic

Chicago street traffic was paralyzed for a short time last evening by a low hanging fog of extraordinary density.

Along Michigan avenue, Wacker drive, and loop streets it was impossible to descry even bright lights at a distance of a hundred feet. Motorists reported that they could not see to drive. Drivers getting out to explore the curbs on foot to learn whether they were in the center of traffic arteries or on the sides furnished one of the unusual features. Late in the afternoon, before the fog had reached its greatest density, the city and suburbs were deluged with rain. Heavy hail, accompanied by lightining, fell at Flossmoor and Homewood.

Transport Lines Delayed.

The surface lines, the elevated roads, and the bus companies all reported difficulties during the rush hours because of the fog. The surface lines officials declared all schedules off during the worst period and cars were allowed only to creep along with extreme care. Buses, in many cases, halted where they were for some time while the drivers waited for the fog to lift. Elevated trains were delayed to some extent.

The fog remained at maximum density for only a half hour or less. It shifted from section to section of the city, apparently lying over the regions adjacent to the lake and then moving inland. The south and southwest sides shortly after 7 p. m. were much more affected than the northwest side. Western suburbs to Elmhurst were covered by the fog, and the southwestern suburbs past Willow Springs. Traffic was "merely creeping," it was said, along the north shore.

Shift in Wind Brings Fog.

The first onslaught of the fog came in the late afternoon. With the temperature standing in the high fifties, the winds from the south and southeast shifted to north and east, and the moisture laden air rolled in from the lake. There was night darkness at 4 p. m. There was a lightening up for an hour or two, and then the still more serious inrush of denser clouds.

One of the phenomena was the low position of the fog pall. Lighted tops of skyscrapers in the loop shone out clearly, while streets were black with London pea soup mists.

Chicago's high temperature was 60, five degrees below the record for the day. Forecaster W. P. Day said that the winds would become northwest early today and that the mercury would fall to about 36.

LEWIS PREDICTS BUSINESS SPURT IN FOUR WEEKS

Washington, D. C., March 13.—[Special.]—Within two weeks, or a month at the most, a significant rise in business will be noted, declared Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois, after he conferred with President Roosevelt today.

"The President has invoked such confidence among the people by his forthright and active measures for restoration of prosperity in the country," said Mr. Lewis, "that the people have turned from discouragement to encouragement, from despair to complete hope.

"The bills he has presented to congress, and the speed with which they are being enacted, have shown a possibility of accomplishment that has brought an unprecedented atmosphere of new confidence."

GETS DISCHARGE FROM U. S. NAVY AFTER 12 YEARS

Washington, D. C., March 13.—(AP)—Clarence R. Curtis of Greenwood, Ind., failed to receive his honorable discharge from the United States navy when he applied for it twelve years ago, but today the mails brought him not only his discharge but three meritorious awards.

After the long delay of his discharge he appealed to Senator Robinson of Indiana, who made an inquiry of Admiral Upham, chief of the bureau of navigation, which resulted in the discovery of a victory medal, a merit button and an overseas clasp awaiting Curtis.

Curtis apparently had changed his home address, for the discharge papers had been mailed to him once and returned.

WATCH SAVES HIS LIFE BY STOPPING THIEF'S BULLET

A watch, received as a present fifteen years ago, saved the life of Fred Falk last night when it stopped a burglar's bullet. Falk was at his home at 7619 Chappel avenue when he was notified that burglars were in his brother's bakery at 2006 East 71st street. He hurried to the store. As he crept into a passageway alongside the store, two burglars emerged. Falk seized one and the other fired at him. The bullet smashed the watch to pieces in his vest pocket, but the only injury Falk suffered was a slight bruise from the impact.

Breweries in Chicago Have Beer on Hand

When the 3.2 per cent beer bill recommended by President Roosevelt yesterday becomes law there will be no delay in the slaking of Chicago's thirst.

Brewers both in Chicago and Milwaukee are ready to double or triple their working forces. Also, they have supplies of real beer all ready for the public. The big companies have been engaged in the making of near beer during the prohibition interval. To make it they have to manufacture real beer first, and then de-alcoholize it. It's quite simple to quit taking out the kick.

State's Dry Law Repealed.

The state prohibition law is a thing of the past, Gov. Horner having signed the repealer yesterday. So far as the city is concerned, prospective sellers of the new brew are already licensed. At the suggestion of Mayor Cermak the city council last fall passed an ordinance fixing the license fee for dispensers of malt beverages at $150 for the first half of 1933.

With the supply and the demand assured, the licenses paid, the government moving to amend the Volstead act and the state without a dry law, the proponents of nonintoxicating beer look for an immediate upturn in business when sales finally are started in Chicago.

The Milwaukee brewing companies report that they have been preparing for two years to dispense a stronger beverage and have modernized their plants at a cost of several million dollars in the belief that happier days were coming soon for them. An estimate yesterday placed the probable increase in the brewery forces at 15,000.

Beer to Aid Business.

Whitney Eastman, president of the Milwaukee association of commerce, said that legalization of real beer would have a fine effect on general business and furnish governments much needed revenues.

There will be no dimculty over the issuing of licenses for the legitimate brewing concerns. E. C. Yellowley, supervisor of permits for the government, said care would be taken to see that no gangsters and racketeers get into the trade.

Old line Chicago breweries, many of them holdovers from the previous days of legal beer, probably will increase production from 200 to 300 per cent over the present output of near beer, their managers said.

CITY RECOVERS CONFIDENCE AS 34 BANKS OPEN

Crowds Fill Loop; Deposits Heavy.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Thirty-four Chicago banks, reopened yesterday on authorization of the secretary of the treasury and the state auditor, last night counted up the results of their business and reported an entirely successful day.

During the evening the Federal Reserve bank of Chicago authorized the unrestricted reopening today of 38 banks in eighteen other larger cities in this federal reserve district, including Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, and Wisconsin. This list appears elsewhere in this paper. At the same time State Auditor Edward J. Barrett announced that two more state banks in Chicago would reopen this morning.

Chicago Situation Clears.

The 34 Chicago banks that opened yesterday represent more than 97 per cent of the total banking resources of the city. They were open for normal business with no restrictions on withdrawals except those imposed by the federal regulations against hoarding and the paying out of gold. Thus was ended for Chicago the nine-day banking holiday.

A new spirit of cheerfulness and confidence was manifest throughout the city. It was learned from an official source that every bank that was reopened had an increase in deposits during the day. Crowds filled loop streets and a number of stores, both downtown and in the outlying districts, said their business for the day was considerably above normal.

Two More State Banks Open.

In addition to the fifteen Chicago banks authorized to reopen by Secretary of the Treasury Woodin and the seventeen others given the same permission by State Auditor Barrett in a Sunday night order, two more state banks were permitted to resume business yesterday. These are the Broadway Trust and Savings bank, 2805 North Clark street, and the Main State bank, 2652 West North avenue.

Last night's order from State Auditor Barrett authorized the reopening today of the Hamilton State bank, 3916 Broadway, and the Banco di Napoli Trust company of Chicago, 906 South Halsted street.

The order also gave official authorization for the opening of the Security Bank of Chicago, 765 Milwaukee avenue, and the Second Security Bank of Chicago, 1965 Milwaukee avenue, which had previously announced that they would pay off all depositors and liquidate. Depositors appeared at the two banks in large numbers yesterday to receive their money. Much of the money taken out, it was reported, was going to other banks.

Others Will Be Opened.

Both at the federal reserve bank and at State Auditor Barrett's office it was indicated that further additions would be made to the list of banks approved for reopening.

"The fact that any bank did not open today," Mr. Barrett said, "in no way whatsoever reflects upon its condition or its solvency. I would like to have this clearly understood. The tremendous amount of work to be done in checking over all banks has made it necessary for us to proceed to open the banks on a progressive system."

None but sound banks, the state auditor said, would be permitted to reopen on an unrestricted basis. The reopening process, he added, may be slow because a thorough examination of an ordinary bank requires four or five days' work by three examiners.

Hoarders Give Up Gold.

One of the most convincing signs of the restoration of confidence, observers said, was the rush of hoarders to give up their hidden gold. The busiest spots in the loop were the safe deposit vaults. Smiling attendants reported that box renters in steady streams were hauling out their gold and currency and taking it to bank receiving windows.

Officials of the federal reserve bank would give out no figures, but it was unofficially estimated that the amount of gold turned in was double that of Saturday, when more than nine million dollars in gold and gold certificates flowed back into the reserve bank's vaults.

All reopened banks were using the anti-hoarding certificate authorized by the Chicago Clearing House association in accordance with the treasury's orders against hoarding. Each person withdrawing currency is required to sign a slip declaring that the money is not being taken for hoarding. In many banks this information was not requested except for withdrawals of more than $500.

President for Further Stock Mart Inquiry

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 13.—[Special.]—With the banks of the country reopening amid apparently restored confidence, President Roosevelt today turned his attention to the formulation of the permanent banking reform legislation he will ask of congress.

His first step was to announce a resumption by the senate banking and currency committee of its investigation of stock speculation and banking, the revelations of which last month are widely held to have been responsible to a considerable degree for shaking public faith in the banks and starting the runs that forced the banks to suspend.

Talks to Committee Chairman.

Mr. Roosevelt discussed the matter with Senator Duncan U. Fletcher [Dem., Fla.], the new chairman of the committee, in a conference at the executive office. Afterward the White House stated that the President and the Florida senator had agreed the investigation should be continued with a view to preventing the perpetuation of banking practices which Mr. Roosevelt in his radio address last night held to blame for the present situation.

Mr. Roosevelt deemed it of the utmost importance that congress should be informed of all the ramifications of these evils in order that the banking system and the public may be adequately safeguarded against their recurrence.

The White House added that Mr. Roosevelt has asked Attorney General Cummings to keep in touch with the committee when it resumes its investigation and to prosecute vigorously any violations of the law that may be uncovered.

Pleased by Bank Situation.

It was with an almost audible sigh of relief that treasury officials scanned the reports of the quiet reopening this morning of the first day's list of national and state banks in Chicago, New York, and ten other federal reserve bank cities. Particularly gratifying were the reports that deposits were exceeding withdrawals almost everywhere.

"Reports from all sections of the country from which we have heard," said Secretary of the Treasury William H. Woodin, "indicate that the reopening of banks in the twelve federal reserve cities has caused no excitement, but, of course, considerable gratification. The people have responded to the first step in the government's plan of financial reconstruction with common sense and sober realization of actual conditions."

Would Aid State Banks.

The huge resources of the federal reserve system and the Reconstruction Finance corporation are available to state banks which desire aid in order to reopen, Secretary of the Treasury Woodin declared tonight. That statement was made at the end of a day during which he was beseiged by small bankers and their congressmen asking aid.

Secretary Woodin pointed out two ways in which state banks not members of the reserve system may avail themselves of that system's resources under the emergency plan. The 12 federal reserve banks may advance to any person or corporation a 90 day loan based by government securities, he said. Moreover, banks which are members may lend to nonmembers on security which they in turn can use to obtain loans from the reserve banks, he added.

Intend to Give Help.

"It is the purpose and desire of the Reconstruction Finance corporation

HOUSE ACTING TODAY; SENATE PASSAGE SURE

Roosevelt Cites U. S. Revenue Needs.

Gov. Horner signs bills repealing state prohibition and state search and seizure laws. Details on page 2.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 13.—[Special.]—By the end of the present week, if President Roosevelt's program for the "new deal" goes through on schedule, beer will be legal in the United States and revenue from a beer tax at the rate of 150 millions a year will be in prospect. In addition, passage of the economy bill will have empowered the President to cut the costs of government half a billion dollars.

In a special message, two sentences long, President Roosevelt today called on congress to legalize beer.

Brief Beer Message.

"I recommend to the congress," he said, "the passage of legislation for the immediate modification of the Volstead act, in order to legalize the manufacture and sale of beer and other beverages of such alcoholic content as is permissible under the constitution, and to provide through such manufacture and sale, by substantial taxes, a proper and much needed revenue for the government.

"I deem action at this time to be of the highest importance."

That was all, but before the day's session was over a special house ways and means subcommittee had met and drafted a bill to take beer of 3.2 per cent alcoholic content by weight or 4 per cent by volume out from under the prohibition of the Volstead act.

Partial Action by Noon.

By noon tomorrow it is expected the full ways and means committee will have approved the bill, and by tomorrow night, with Speaker Henry T. Rainey of Illinois putting on full speed ahead, the beer bill should be successfully past the house of representatives.

The tentative beer bill draft reported out tonight by the house subcommittee follows the general lines of the Blaine bill. That bill provided that the Volstead act shall not apply to beer, ale, porter, and other similar beverages.

When the present special session is to take a recess was a moot question tonight. The President is being urged by many to keep congress busy while it is in a compliant mood; to follow the beer bill with the half billion dollar federal construction measure for relief of the idle and some sort of farm relief bill.

Others believe it advisable to pass the economy bill and the beer bill and then take a recess for two or three weeks.

Senate to Act Quickly.

Swift consideration was promised the beer measure on its arrival in the senate. It will be hurried through its committee stage and, with the Democratic leadership putting on the pressure, will be rushed to passage in a senate concerning whose wetness there is no doubt.

All that stands in the way of a clear track ahead for the beer measure is the economy bill, which—passed last week by the house—today struck the snag of dilatory tactics in the senate as had been expected. Leaders hope, however, for a final vote on that tomorrow night.

The senate chamber resounded to the oratory of friends of the veteran and of federal employés, battling, against certain and overwhelming odds, to win some amendment to the bill which promises to give the President power to lop 383 millions off the billion dollar annual bill for the veterans.

The economy bill also would take 135 millions off the federal pay roll. A virtual test roll call showed 60 for the measure and 20 against it.

Glass vs. Robinson.

Once again, as the discussion progressed, with Senator Arthur Robinson [Rep., Ind.] leading the debate on the veterans' behalf, the fight centered about the pugnacious figure of Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, chief sponsor of the emergency banking bill during its consideration last Thursday.

Once again, as on last Saturday when Senator Glass tossed an uncomplimentary character sketch at Huey Long [Louisiana radical] and then sought to follow the adjectives with action, hot words were passed. Diverging from his main theme for an attack on the banking bill and its principal proponent, Senator Robinson declared:

"We were all threatened with dire vengeance if we voted against his pet bill."

Senator Glass sought to interrupt

Senator Robinson refused to be interrupted. Senator Glass broke in anyway.

"I will take my own time in responding," he declared.

"Yes, and he does not waste it, either," the Virginia senator retorted.

"I should like to know what it was but sheer waste of time all day the other day when the senate was assured by the senator that if it passed his pet bill the banks would be open the next morning," Senator Robinson shouted. "They are not open yet."

Senator Tydings Intervenes.

"A point of order," Senator Millard Tydings [Dem., Md.] interjected.

"No senator may reflect upon another senator in his remarks."

"I hope the senator will not insist upon his point of order," came the growl from Senator Glass, "because I intend to reflect upon the senator from Indiana."

Breaking the tradition that new members should be seen and not heard, Senator Patrick McCarran [Dem., Nev.], opponent of the economy bill, demanded to know under what rule the Virginia senator could interrupt Senator Robinson without permission.

"Personal privilege," shouted the Nevada newcomer. "I just heard a remark made by the senator from Virginia and I heard the senator from Virginia address a remark to another senator on this floor last Saturday, and I want to put a stop to such remarks, and if they are not stopped I shall invoke the rules of the senate."

Odds Favor Economy.

How one-sided the odds in favor of the economy bill are was demonstrated in the vote by which it was taken up for consideration over the protests of its opponents, who sought to sidetrack it into the judiciary committee for examination of its constitutional aspects.

Sixty senators cast their ballots against this attempt at delay, while only twenty voted in favor of the motion, and one of these said his vote was to be interpreted only as objection to the hasty tactics of the bill's sponsors.

The roll call on the motion of Senator Pat Harrison [Dem., Miss.], chairman, in charge of the bill, to table the motion to send the bill to committee was as follows:

For Deserving Veterans.

During the course of debate on sending the bill to the judiciary committee Senator Tydings took the floor to denounce so-called friends of the veterans as enemies of the veterans.

"Congress," he said, "might choose between alternatives. It might continue the huge benefits for veterans and wreck the credit of the United States, whereupon the veterans could receive no benefits at all. Or it might limit the cost, preserve the government's credit, and see that benefits went to those veterans deserving them.

"The end of the government's credit is getting closer and closer. There is talk about not having done justice to the state banks in the banking bill. There is talk about a black sunrise for them. Well, just wait until the credit of the government is gone, and there will be a black Friday that will make midnight look like a glorious morning sunrise.

"Congress refused to do its duty to protect the national credit. Congress abdicated its own functions. The President had no alternative left but to demand the power for himself."

Senator Tydings pointed to the 4¼ per cent interest which the treasury had had to attach to its recent offer of 800 millions of treasury certificates.

The only way possible to bring about economy, he asserted, was to delegate the authority to the President.

Senator Harrison, in urging passage of the bill, said that 383 millions would be saved in veterans' slashes and between 125 and 150 millions in pay roll cuts.

Says Voters Gave Orders.

The President was fully justified, he said, in interpreting the huge majority given him at the election as a mandate to proceed swiftly and courageously to cut through red tape and get things done.

Letters and telegrams received at the White House, it appeared, bore out this view. There were 4,000 to 5,000 messages congratulating the President on the message to congress in which he urged the economy bill as a means to balance the budget. Critical messages numbered only 30.

ONE ECONOMY PLAN CUTS 383 MILLIONS OFF PAY TO VETERANS

Washington, D. C., March 13.—(AP)—Although President Roosevelt has not committed himself to details as to how savings from veterans' cost would be effected under the economy bill, some members of congress have been given a compilation showing directions that might be taken and amounts estimated to be saved.

One such plan placing the total to be saved at $383,530,000, follows:

	Estimated annual savings.
1. Eliminate pensions to remarried widows	$ 2,487,000
[a] Civil war, Indian wars	2,109,000
[b] Spanish war	378,000
2. Restrict hospitalization and domiciliary care:
[a] Income provisions on nonservice connected cases.	5,000,000
3. Reduce benefits to $20 for single men hospitalized or domiciled	5,370,000
4. Emergency officers retirement act restricted to causative factor cases	3,386,000
5. One rating table, five rates, $10, $25, $50, $75, $100 average impairment	40,000,000
6 Eliminate term insurance claims	15,000,000
7. Eliminate disability allowance	101,852,000
8 Eliminate Spanish war pension where government can rebut service origin	95,000,000

"KLAN" HAS EYE ON MORTON HIGH, CITIZEN WARNS

Announcement that the "Ku Klux Klan is watching the situation" was made by a citizen last night at an open meeting of the board of the J. Sterling Morton High school in Cicero.

Some 1,200 persons were present. The board is considering the appointment of a permanent superintendent of the school. Paul Shelley is now acting superintendent. Separate groups are supporting him and Carl Anderson, dean of boys, for the job. In the midst of general discussion a man who identified himself as Joseph Cerny of Berwyn rose from his chair.

"I am a member of the klan," he said. "There are others in this room. As an organization we are watching developments and we hope that the trustees will forget partisan politics and work for the best interests of the children."

Trustee Edward Stuchlik replied that the board is working with that object uppermost in mind. The board later adjourned to next Monday. At that time it will be decided whether to appoint a permanent superintendent or wait until after the board election April 8.

ALL STATE DRY LAWS ARE DEAD AS HORNER SIGNS

Governor Carries Out His Campaign Pledge.

Springfield, Ill., March 13.—[Special.]—Gov. Henry Horner today erased the last vestige of absolute prohibition laws from the statute books of Illinois. He signed the two Ward repealers, one canceling the state search and seizure law and the other killing the state prohibition act. There was almost no ceremony attached to his action.

The enactment of the repealers had been taken for granted. He had pledged himself to sign them as soon as they reached him. That was one of the main planks of his campaign platform last year. As more than two-thirds of the members of each house had given similar promises in their campaigns, the bills were among the first passed in this session and they reached the governor's desk this morning.

Cermak Death Delays Action.

The governor's final action on the bills had been delayed by the fatal illness and funeral of Mayor Cermak of Chicago. The death of the man who sponsored his candidacy for the governorship perhaps was the major cause for the lack of ceremony today. Had it not been for Mayor Cermak's death, it is believed, he would have been here today and might have had the pen with which the governor signed the two repealers.

Always a liberal on the question of liquor, although personally a dry for several months before his death, Mayor Cermak had been a wet leader throughout his political career. It was this that brought him to the fore nearly two decades ago when he led a huge public protest against Sunday closing in Chicago long before his possibilities as an executive had been recognized. Even earlier he represented the wet cause in the legislature.

State repeal became effective immediately and Illinois joined the growing procession of states which have repudiated liquor laws.

Enforcement Up to U. S.

Rubbing out of the two anti-liquor statutes in effect leaves prohibition enforcement almost solely in the hands of federal authorities. Liquor traffic will not be permitted to operate wild in Illinois, should the 18th amendment be repealed, for the general assembly soon will enact regulatory measures similar to those in effect in the saloon days, but with the word "saloon" officially barred.

The repeal bills, sponsored by Senator Harold G. Ward [Dem.] of Chicago, were the first measures introduced in the senate this session. They were piloted through the house by Representative A. G. Lager [Dem., Carlyle], but leaders of both parties, some of them formerly dry chieftains, joined in their enactment.

More than two-thirds of the members of both houses of the legislature voted for the repeal bills with emergency clauses. Some of them remain in effect, but the status of others is doubtful because the two prohibition laws were interpreted by the Supreme court as superseding other laws on the subject of prohibition.

Might Require Court Ruling.

In some cases it might require court action to determine whether they deal with the "subject of prohibition," but anyhow, now general regulatory measures are pending in the legislature similar to general laws in effect before prohibition.

Some of the other measures, dealing directly or indirectly with liquor, which may or may not be effective, include the following:

Adulteration of liquor with substances which are poisonous or detrimental to health is prohibited, with penalties of a fine up to $1,000, or imprisonment up to a year, or both.

Drugs detrimental to health are barred in liquor.

DAY IN WASHINGTON

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

President Roosevelt asked immediate modification of Volstead act and action by congress this week to legalize and tax beer was predicted.

Senate voted against sending house-approved Roosevelt economy bill back to committee.

President Roosevelt announced appointments of Robert W. Bingham, Louisville, Ky., as ambassador to Great Britain; Jesse Isidor Straus, New York, to France, and Josephus Daniels to Mexico.

Administration worked on permanent banking reorganization program and Senator Glass [Dem., Va.] introduced banking reform measure.

American government accepted invitation to coöperate with league of nations advisory committee on Sino-Japanese controversy.

21 CONGRESSMEN LISTED; FAILED TO AID ECONOMY

Twenty-one middle western congressmen were listed yesterday by the National Organization to Reduce Public Expenditures as having made preelection promises to support all economy measures and then as "having failed to make good in their first real opportunity to substantiate their promises." They voted "no" on President Roosevelt's economy bill or failed to vote. Those listed as voting "no," and their party designations, are:

INDIANA — Griswold [D.], Jenckes [D.], Crowe [D.].
IOWA—Thurston [R.], Gilchrist [R.].
MICHIGAN—Hooper [R.], Woodruff [R.], Dondero [R.], Musselwhite [D.], Weideman [D.].
WISCONSIN—Cannon [D.], Blanchard [R.], Boileau [R.].

Those listed as having failed to vote are:

ILLINOIS—De Priest [R.], Adairs [D.].
WISCONSIN—Peavey [R.].

"All of these congressmen either pledged their wholehearted indorsement of the economy proposals submitted to them in a questionnaire circulated by the N. O. R. P. E. in the days when they were seeking votes just before the election last November or replied that they were back of the equally important economy plank in the Democratic platform," read the statement issued.

SPEAKER RAINEY SEES BALANCED BUDGET IN 1933

Beer Revenue Will Help, He Declares.

Washington, D. C., March 13.—(AP)—A prediction that the federal budget will be balanced this year "without resorting to additional irritating taxes"—but with revenue from beer playing a part—was spoken tonight by Speaker Henry T. Rainey of the house in an address.

The speaker gave high praise to President Roosevelt, declaring him "as great a leader as Woodrow Wilson," and saying that behind him "all parties are united as I have never seen parties united before."

"In the house of representatives," he said, "politics has adjourned by common consent."

The veteran Illinois legislator said the situation at first looked "gloomy indeed," but added that with the steps now taken and those in contemplation "our fight against the depression will be won."

Outlines Beer Program.

"In a few days," he said, "we expect to pass the bill legalizing beer and to take away from the bootleggers a large part of the profits they now enjoy, and turn it into the treasury of the United States.

"In the near future, and before the adjournment of the present session, we are going to take care of the farmers and restore to them the buying power which they must have in order to start again the industries of this country."

Rainey sounded again the note that because some banks will be opening before others it "does not mean that the banks which do not open are not sound." He pointed out that it was "a tremendous undertaking for the treasury department" to check all banks quickly.

Step Toward Recovery.

Speaking again of beer legislation, he said:

"The legalizing of beer is not a cure-all, but is a mere step in the direction of economic recovery, subordinate, of course, to the question of restoring the buying power of farmers.

"But the legalizing of nonintoxicating beer within the terms of the eighteenth amendment means the speedy reëstablishment of one of our great industries. It means the expenditure in a year from the time that beer is legalized of over 400 million dollars in plant equipment.

"The revenues which will commence to pour into the treasury will be augumented by almost a similar amount from other related industries revived and increased in importance and in output by the legalization of beer. Our immediate troubles and difficulties are over now, and confidence is rapidly returning to the people of the United States."

FRITZI SCHEFF, ONCE FAVORITE OF MUSICAL COMEDIES, NOW BROKE

New York, March 13.—[Special.]—Fritzi Scheff, former stage favorite, is broke and without a home. That became known today. She recently lost her home in Connecticut through foreclosure, and a few days ago electric light service in her New York apartment was cut off.

"Please don't make it appear that I am complaining," she said. "I still am in good health and am cheerful. I hope some stage work will turn up."

Miss Scheff was in several musical comedies and was famous for the song "Kiss Me, Kiss Me Again," some years ago.

NIGHT SLEEPING JUST A HABIT, PROFESSOR SAYS

Night time is sleeping time because man has made it a habit, Prof. Nathan Kleitman of the physiology department of the University of Chicago said in a lecture yesterday before a student class. He backed his contentions with the findings of many experts on the subject.

"If existence were suddenly stretched out into a 30 hour cycle in place of the 24 hour cycle man would simply change his routine to adapt himself to the new conditions," said the professor. "Or if the cycle changed to an 18 hour day, man would revise his sleeping routine. The world would whirl on as smoothly as before."

Many animals, he said, go man considerably better in sleeping, taking frequent naps during the day. Infants, however, take frequent daytime naps, he added, but only up to the age of 5 years. The reason man sleeps nights is because darkness makes it convenient, he said.

STUDENTS TELL LIQUOR VIEWS AT NOTRE DAME

Notre Dame, Ind., March 13.—[Special.]—The attitude of University of Notre Dame students toward the use of liquor was revealed today in the annual religious survey published by the University Press. It was compiled by the Rev. John F. O'Hara, C. S. C., prefect of religion.

Out of 993 students who answered the questionnaire, 394 are of the opinion that moderate use is all right. Eighty-eight others revealed that they drink, but never to excess. One hundred and sixteen said they never drink. Nine others said they have quit drinking. Thirty-five said total abstinence is advisable. Eighteen others said total abstinence is foolish. Thirty-five said drinking is "dangerous."

Father O'Hara states in the introduction to this chapter that nearly a thousand students last year signed pledge cards of total abstinence and 350 others signed a "statement of attitude" signifying that they seldom or never drank, and never drank to excess.

$4,748,000 BOND SALE CONSIDERED TO HELP RELIEF

Wilfred S. Reynolds, executive secretary of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, said yesterday that $4,748,000 in Cook county bonds, the remainder of the $17,000,000 relief issue, may be sold to provide funds for continuing the relief of the idle next month. The Reconstruction Finance corporation has accepted $12,253,000 of the issue as collateral on loans to Cook county.

"The bonds may be sold privately, if a market for them can be found," Mr. Reynolds said. "I do not believe the R. F. C. will be able to advance any money on them, because Illinois has passed its quota for relief loans, unless the law is amended by congress.

"The Illinois legislature is expected to pass upon the sales tax this week, and that tax would provide a new source of funds, but not for next month. Cook county is faced with the problem of raising funds for next month."

POPE PIUS WARNS WORLD AGAINST THE RED MENACE

Six Cardinals Created; King Boris Rebuked.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, March 13.—A warning that communism is atempting to exploit the world's political and economic disoders and a fervent wish for disarmament and settlement of war debts were expressed by Pope Pius XI. in his allocution at today's secret consistory. The pontiff bestowed the Roman purple upon six new cardinals of the church and announced that two others, whose names were not divulged, will be elevated later.

The creation of six cardinals raised the number to 58 of a possible 70. It was the pope's first consistory since 1930.

Second only to the "nefarious propaganda of communists" which, he said, threatens Christian civilization, the pontiff deplored proselyting activitives of Protestant sects in Italy and Rome. He describes these activities as being "impudently pursued" and urged all the faithful to coöperate against "this mence and defend the most treasured riches of city and nation."

Rebukes Bulgarian King.

The holy father also deplored that "considerations of public welfare" had induced King Boris of Bulgaria to break his promise and have his daughter, Princess Maria Louise, who was born in January, baptized in the Orthodox faith. He exonerated Queen Giovanna, the child's mother, and said he would not withhold paternal and apostolic benediction from her.

"She protests before us that she is innocent in all that happened, that she in no way coöperated, that she gave no consent, either express or tacit, and that when she became aware of what was intended she had neither the strength nor the means to express her opposition," the pope said.

"To say and to make believe, as has been done, that such a course was taken by reason of superior motives of public weal brings sorrowfully to mind the divine words so forgotten and ignored today, and yet so worthy of serious meditation, particularly on the part of statesmen—that justice exalteth a nation, but sin maketh nations miserable."

23 Cardinals Hear Pope.

Finally the pontiff designated three cardinal delegates to open the holy doors of three rooms in the major basilicas as part of the inauguration ceremony for the opening of the holy year on April 1. They are Cardinal Pignatelli di Belmonte, Cardinal Marchetti-Selvaggiani, and Cardinal Cerretti.

The pontiff addressed the consistory, which was attended by 23 cardinals, in the consistory hall from a throne chair of crimson and gold. He wore a white cassock, an ermine-fringed red mantle and a skull cap. A velvet canopy hung over him.

Pope Pius invited the whole world to join him in daily prayers for the success of struggles "to cut the economic shackles which are binding nations." He pleaded for an end of mistrust and of "exaggerated and unjust nationalism."

"Again one hears the clash of arms," he said. "There rises to heaven the voice of a brothers' blood. Is not this a call for all to reflect and consider whether and to what extent the present war on God is responsible for world-wide catastrophes of war and economic stress?"

Assails Communists.

Only one class derives benefit from present conditions, the pope declared, and that class is the communist.

"Russia, Mexico and Spain, and some countries in central Europe show only too clearly what may and must be feared wherever their nefarious propaganda and influence penetrate," he said.

The cardinals elevated today are Pietro Fumasoni-Biondi, until now apostolic delegate at Washington, D. C.; Archbishop Jean Marie Rodrigue Villeneuve of Quebec; Angelo Dolci, until now apostolic nuncio to Rumania; Archbishop Theodore Innitzer of Vienna; Archbishop Elia Della Costa of Florence; Archbishop Maruillo Fossati of Turin.

As four of the six new cardinals are Italians, the latter remain in the majority in the college, 30 to 28.

The six new cardinals paid for their funerals today. Each, following tradition, gave $500 to an attendant who came from the Vatican. This $500 will be used for a funeral of state upon the cardinal's death.

The nominations of new bishops and archbishops were postponed.

20,000 PROPERTY OWNERS RUSH TO PAY TAXES FOR '31

Receipts Raise Total to $15,000,000.

Twenty thousand property owners swamped the offices of County Treasurer McDonough yesterday to pay 1931 real estate taxes before the penalty deadline tomorrow night.

A police detail was summoned to direct traffic in Clark street, and finally the treasurer opened a substation at 30 North La Salle street to accommodate the taxpayers. This substation will be open until next Thursday night.

Total Payments $15,000,000.

An aggregate of $1,340,000 was paid during the day by the property owners, according to a trial balance made last evening by Auditor George Hagenauer. This total was in cash and tax warrants, and did not include checks which were accepted by cashiers or received in the mail. These payments bring the total collections of realty taxes for 1931 to approximately $15,000,000.

The reopening of the banks in Chicago increased the rush to pay taxes, freeing funds which had been withheld from savings account depositors while the banking facilities in the community were suspended.

Line Up in Clark Street.

By noon yesterday the lines of taxpayers extended from the east door of the county building to Washington street, from fifteen to twenty abreast. For 5 hours during the day the east doors of the county building were closed to all but the taxpayers.

The 1931 personal property bills have all been prepared but they will not be mailed out until after the real estate penalty date to avoid further congestion in the treasurer's office. The personalty tax penalty date is May 1.

24 Japs Begin Building Nation's Exhibits at Fair

Twenty-four Japanese skilled workmen began work yesterday on the group of buildings at A Century of Progress exposition grounds which will include the Japanese pavilion, done in the Kamakuro or medieval style of architecture, the Ceremonial Japanese tea house, and the Southern Manchurian railway building. They also will make a Japanese garden adjoining the pavilion. The buildings are to be erected just west of the Chinese temple. The materials for the buildings were shipped from Tokio in 17 car loads and fill 1,300 boxes, crates and barrels.

BILL FOR TEXTBOOK BOARD IS ATTACKED BY SCHOOL TRUSTEES

The school board voted unanimously yesterday to oppose house bills 171 and 172, pending before the legislature in Springfield, which would create a textbook commission and enforce uniform curricula in all public school systems of the state. Ralph Condee, assistant attorney for the board, said that the bills, if adopted, would cost Chicago $2,000,000.

"Wasn't it in Kentucky that a textbook commission caused wholesale indictments?" asked Trustee John A. English. Trustee Helen Hefferan declared that similar commissions had caused trouble in several states.

The measure, Attorney Condee explained, would empower "outsiders" arbitrarily to tell Chicago educators what courses should be taught and what books should be read in the schools.

One piece of pending legislation that called forth considerable discussion by the board was senate bill 352, which provides that when the salaries of teachers have been in arrears for two months they may leave their duties without endangering their pension or tenure rights.

"In my opinion the bill would place a penalty on loyal teachers," said Orville J. Taylor, president of the board.

Upon the motion of Mrs. Hefferan the board deferred action on the bill.

POLAND REQUESTS DICTATOR RULE FOR PRESIDENT

WARSAW, March 13.—(AP)—With the statement that present times are so unusual the president must have a free hand to act promptly, the government submitted a bill to the parliament today asking vast special powers for the president during the parliamentary recess which will come at the close of the present budget session.

The recess probably will last from the end of March to the end of October.

Last year the president received powers limited to administrative and economic matters. The present bill would authorize him to decide everything except changes in the constitution.

ROBBER DIES FROM WOUND.

Joseph Blackman, 18 years old, 1757 Warren avenue, who was shot by police during an attempted robbery of a drug store at 4460 South Kedzie avenue on March 3, died yesterday in the Mother Cabrini hospital.

CERMAK'S DEATH DELAYS ADOPTION OF CITY BUDGET

Mayor Cermak's death has made it impossible for the city to adopt its annual budget, due to the lack of an official capable of exercising the veto power over appropriations voted by the council, it was pointed out yesterday by Ald. John S. Clark [30th], chairman of the council finance committee. Under the statutes, the budget must be adopted by March 31.

Either the council must ask the legislature for an emergency act extending the time in which the budget may be completed, or it must elect a mayor pro tem, who would exercise de facto power, at least, in approving or disapproving the budget items, Ald. Clark held.

The budget must be published ten days before final adoption, which means that if it is approved by March 31 it must be submitted to the council on next Monday. The finance committee has last year's budget as a basis for its work, with the recommendations of its own staff and Controller Szymczak for 1933 appropriations, but it has held no hearings of its own on these appropriations.

"I was requested by Mayor Cermak," said Ald. Clark, "to do nothing about the budget until after the Feb. 28 aldermanic election. His assasination made it impossible to hold hearings after that date."

CROWD BRINGING CASH RUSHES TO PAY INCOME TAX

Thousands of income tax payers, most of them bringing cash, jammed the fifth floor of the federal building yesterday as the deadline for filing returns and making the first quarterly payment—midnight tomorrow—moved nearer. Desks had to be moved out of the cashier's office to make room for the lines and two extra cashier's windows were opened.

The final rush was made heavier this year by the banking holiday, according to Collector Gregory T. Van Meter. Although the government accepted checks during the holiday, comparatively few mail returns were received, and with the opening of the banks the rush began in earnest yesterday.

No figures on the number of returns filed and collections received were made public. They will be released from Washington this year, it was said. The collections are expected to be higher because of the increased rates, the lowering of the personal exemptions, and the elimination of the 25 per cent earned income credit.

5 CHICAGO POSTS BACK ROOSEVELT ECONOMY BILL

Legionnaires Act for the Common Good.

Five Chicago American Legion posts swung into line yesterday behind President Roosevelt in his economy program, even though the President is asking authority to reduce veteran relief costs by 40 million dollars in the bill now pending in the senate.

The Advertising Men's post adopted resolutions at a noon meeting "heartily indorsing" the bill which has been passed by the house. The Board of Trade post indorsed the action of the President in seeking authority to slash millions from veteran costs, and sent a telegram to the President telling of the resolution. Commander Joseph M. Hughes of Medill-Tribune post announced that at a night meeting of the executive committee of the post a resolution approving the President's economy program was adopted.

Post Votes Unanimously.

George A. McKinlock post, comprised of residents of Lake Forest, also voted to support President Roosevelt's economy measures. Nearly 100 of the 125 members met and unanimously adopted a resolution to that effect. John Harris is post commander.

Riverside post No. 43 passed a resolution to send President Roosevelt a telegram that it was "heartily behind his economy program" at a meeting at the town hall last night. Donald Abel of Riverside is commander.

Opposes Economy Bill.

James P. Ringley, state commander of the Legion, said he is opposed to the presidential program, "because it would transfer relief of ex-service men from federal to local responsibility." He said he believed time should be taken to make a thorough study of the problem and devise some other plan that would include adequate care for those entitled to and needing assistance.

The Ad Men's post resolution included the following:

"We believe we are expressing the sentiment of vast numbers of Legionnaires who (the insistent demands of small, well organized groups notwithstanding) feel that at all times and especially in our country's hour of danger every type of organization should subordinate selfish purposes to the common good.

"Numbers of Legionnaires agree that at no time should special preference over other citizens as to hospital relief and pensions be given to war veterans who suffer no injuries and no loss of health because of war service, such preference being contrary to the principles of patriotism for which the American Legion has consistently stood, assuming, of course, as contemplated in the present economy measure, that proper care by broad interpretations of all statutes shall always be provided for veterans and for the dependents of veterans who now suffer or may suffer later because of war service."

Has Faith in President.

Charles M. Sloan, commander of Ad Men's post, in an interview, said: "The new presidential administration is tackling its job in a manner that recalls that other great Roosevelt. Advertising Men's post goes on record with this resolution as the first American Legion post in the United States to approve officially the economy program.

"The American Legion did not sponsor the nonservice connected disability compensation bill. This was forced through the house in forty-five minutes purely as a political measure. We believe that any veteran who has service connected disability, or partial disability, should and will be cared for fairly by his government and also that his family should be provided for."

Former Bank Teller Gets Probation as Embezzler

Victor E. Olson, 50, of 104 West 112th place, former teller in the closed Wiersema State bank, was placed on probation yesterday by Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court. He was charged with embezzling $33,314 from customers of the bank. He pleaded guilty some months ago, but Judge Prystalski held up a probation motion until after restitution was made to all of Olson's victims.

ROOSEVELT PLAN WINS SUPPORT OF REPUBLICANS

Chicagoans Praise New Economy Bill.

Chicago Republicans, many of whom contributed to Republican campaigns, expressed themselves yesterday as solidly behind President Roosevelt's government economy program which is being pushed through congress. The Chicagoans gave the President high praise and urged prompt enactment of the half-billion dollar economy bill, which has been passed by the house and is pending in the senate.

Typical of the feelings of these Republicans was the statement of Rufus C. Dawes, president of A Century of Progress Exposition.

Time to Cut Tax Load.

"I cannot praise these efforts of the President too highly," said Mr. Dawes. "They show the finest kind of patriotism. Now, if ever, the tax load must be cut. Reducing the costs of government points the way to that accomplishment." Other comments follow:

FRED W. SARGENT—There is but one way to restore prosperity and that is to balance the federal budget. There is but one way to balance the federal budget and that is to cut expenses. The public has no income out of which to pay more taxes. Every patriotic citizen should support the President in this crisis.

ABEL DAVIS—It is a fundamental fact that before we can have recovery we must bring about economy in government. The President's stand in that respect is so challenging that he is entitled to wholehearted support from congress and every citizen. The admirable way in which he handled the bank situation augurs well for his success.

Calls for United Support.

THOMAS E. WILSON—It must be entirely evident to every citizen that in the crisis such as the United States faces, government waste cannot be continued and support of special interests cannot be tolerated. America as a whole recognizes the value of the prompt and effective action by the President and will demand wholehearted support by the congress.

BERNARD E. SUNNY—President Roosevelt's action is timely and necessary. His program should be enacted at the earliest possible moment.

GEORGE W. DIXON—In this crisis President Roosevelt has demonstrated that he is a man of action and leadership. Regardless of party affiliation all good Americans are solidly behind him and his program to establish business confidence, reduce governmental expenditures, and perform the one great task necessary to solve the most important of problems—that of putting men back to work.

Veterans for Economy.

CHARLES S. DEWEY—No family can live and prosper if it continually spends more that it receives, and what is true of the family is true of the country as a whole. Recognizing that, President Roosevelt has presented his government economy bill as one of his first measures, and so evident is the necessity that every patriotic citizen must stand squarely behind him.

NOBLE BRANDON JUDAH—The President has an excellent economy program. As an ex-service man I feel that a large majority of the ex-service men are for it. I have today wired Senator James Hamilton Lewis and Senator William H. Dieterich, urging them to support the program. This is the time to come to the rescue of our country.

CHARLES S. CUTTING—I am heartily in favor of the program and urge its prompt enactment. A telegram from those in our firm [Cutting, Moore & Sidley] who are members of the American Legion was sent today to Senators Lewis and Dieterich asking them to vote for the program.

ACT TO GET TAXES FROM PROPERTIES IN FORECLOSURE

Kerner and Courtney Join to Force Payments.

Attorney General Otto Kerner and State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney yesterday joined in a move to force payment of back taxes on foreclosed properties. Before Superior Judge Robert E. Gentzel they initiated action to assess penalties on back taxes against trustees of such properties who have not made tax payments from funds deposited with them.

The question of charging penalties against dilatory trustees was raised before the judge in an action to oust the bondholders' protective committee of Wollenberger & Co., bankrupt bond house. The suit was brought by Attorneys Morris Sider and Isadore Becker, representing a group of bondholders of the Park Shore hotel and the Park Shore apartments. The Wollenberger bond house floated issues on the two buildings.

Tells of Cash Deposited.

Sider told Judge Gentzel the committee had deposited $18,000 with the Chicago Title and Trust company as trustee of the properties 18 months ago. None of this had been paid on taxes, he said, although more than $60,000 is due on 1928, 1929 and 1930 taxes. He pointed out that penalties since the deposit of the $18,000 had reached $4,500.

The judge demanded an explanation from Attorney Nathan Blumberg, representing the committee. Blumberg said the taxes should have been paid. He asked that the court direct payment of the money on 1931 taxes because of efforts to arrange payment of back taxes in installments.

Assistant Attorney General John W. Brabner-Smith and Assistant State's Attorney Hayden N. Bell asked leave to intervene as friends of the court and file a petition asking that the penalties be charged against the trustee. Judge Gentzel granted them ten days to file such a petition.

Sees Way to Collect Millions.

Prosecutor Bell said he would also ask the court to issue an order directing trustees to report on the amounts deposited with them and how much they could pay on taxes. He said if the court found the penalties should be fixed against trustees, millions of dollars in back taxes would be paid to the county treasurer.

He explained that under the present procedure the penalties were charged against bondholders.

Waterway Boosters Greet Barges.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

A deep water sailor from the Pacific smoked his pipe yesterday afternoon on the deck of a barge which was being pushed up the Chicago river at the rate of four miles an hour. He peered through the fog at the gigantic buildings which winked out of the gloom, at strange bridges which lifted and parted in the air, at friendly people who waved at him from bridges and windows.

At 4 o'clock the barges, propelled by the tug Turnbull, tied up at the North Pier Terminal company, 549 East Illinois street, and the first cargo trip over the completed waterway from St. Louis to Chicago had been accomplished. The sailor felt more at home when he saw the wide waters of the lake, and the gulls. He was one of a crew of six to make this historic passage.

Rowboats from West Coast.

At the Damen avenue dock the barges dropped off four rowboats, which had come by water all the way from Seattle, and which are gifts of Swift & Co. for scout competitions at the Century of Progress exposition next summer. This was another direct link between deep salt water and Chicago's river that runs backward.

This voyage was not a speed test, for the barges left St. Louis on March 4, encountering much bad weather and some obstructions, but it has been demonstrated that the way is open at last. The pioneer trip was made for the Illinois River Navigation company. Maj. Spencer Merrell, owner of the company, acted as mate, and Capt. Herbert Horstman brought the boats up the river. The cargo consisted of 250 tons, consigned to 25 different shippers, including chemicals from the Monsanto Chemical works, fence from the American Steel and Wire company, oil, and 150 barrels of shelled pecans. Annheuser Busch and the Falstaff Brewing company sent up malt products.

Pick Up Cargo on Way.

Freight was discharged at Havana and Joliet and some was picked up at Joliet and Peoria. The trip back will start next Wednesday, with one thousand tons already booked. The draft of these boats is 5½ feet.

The barges were met at Damen avenue by a committee of waterway enthusiasts and escorted to the North pier. The coast guard cutter Old Chicago, piloted by Capt. John Anderson, took the party down to meet the incoming boats. The tug John F. Cushing of Duluth led the way up the river from that point. Among the welcoming delegation were William R. Dawes, vice president of the Mississippi Valley association; J. P. Haynes, vice president of the Chicago Association of Commerce; Col. Dan Sultan, U. S. engineer in charge of the Chicago district.

FINDS CHRISTIAN MONUMENTS IN NUBIAN RUINS

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

CAIRO, Egypt, March 13.—New discoveries giving a definite view of Nubia's artistic development between the seventh and twelfth centuries are revealed with the conclusion of three seasons of work by Prof. Ugo Moneret de Villard under the auspices of the Egyptian government. Excavations of Christian monuments in southern Nubia must now cease, since this region will soon be submerged as a result of the raising of the Assuan dam.

Villard recently discovered fourteen churches, two monasteries and a large palace in a fortified enclosure, and about 100 houses. All the buildings date from the eighth to the twelfth centuries.

Sign Call for Special Council Meeting Today

COUNCIL CALLED TO PICK ACTING MAYOR TODAY

it occurs. He said that, although tomorrow would be the last day for such action, the council on that day would have its regular session to attend to.

Meanwhile activities started up concerning a legislative program at Springfield to fit the emergency. It depends upon the position taken by Mr. Sexton in his opinion. If the opinion should advise the council that it can elect an alderman as acting mayor and the council should do so, political sentiment last night seemed to be growing in favor of emergency measures at Springfield which would provide for a primary in April or May and a mayoralty election June 5, at the time of the judicial elections.

The Sexton opinion and what it will say was the great subject of conjecture last night. As affairs stand the cities and villages act adopted in 1875 makes no specific provision for selecting an acting mayor in Chicago where the vacancy is for a year or more. The law merely calls for an election.

Republicans Formulate Program.

The Republicans, too, took a hand. The Deneen group at its regular luncheon reaffirmed the position which had been taken at an earlier conference between George F. Harding, Roy O. West, David Shanahan, Elmer Schnackenberg, Jacon Allen, William Weber, J. L. East, E. T. Brekke, Ald. Oscar F. Nelson, and others, embracing most of the Republican factions. At this meeting of the Republicans the general decision concerning emergency legislation on the mayoralty at Springfield was as follows:

1. The Republicans decided to oppose any emergency legislation to do away with primaries on the mayoralty.

2. They decided to oppose any combination of a special mayoralty election with the judicial election June 5, arguing this would throw the bench election into politics.

3. If the Sexton opinion is that the acts of an acting mayor would not be valid the Republicans would favor helping the Democrats to pass an emergency bill endowing an acting mayor with full powers.

CLARK TELLS STAND

At 2:30 o'clock this morning Ald. Clark gave out a long statement announcing that he is a candidate for acting mayor and saying that, though there had been rumors that he might if elected seek to hold the mayoralty for the full period of Mayor Cermak's unexpired term, he would in fact ask the council to call immediately a primary election and a special election to choose a mayor. He added:

"I would feel, if elected acting mayor, that I was acting for Mayor Cermak just as fully as if he had asked me to act because of illness, and I would feel his entire cabinet should remain in office with me until the people decided whom they wanted for mayor. I know of no reason why the entire cabinet should not remain in office. In fact, I would feel it was a duty they owed their city to help me in avoiding any upsetting of existing conditions."

He said further that he would, if elected, try to carry out the policies Mayor Cermak had in mind.

"I would permit no extravagance and I would be guilty of none myself. I realize fully that these are days of retrenchment and that the people want drastic economies in government. If I am elected that is just what you will get from me."

ZANGARA TO DIE WEEK OF MAR. 20; TAKEN TO PRISON

Raiford, Fla., March 13.—(AP)—Heavily guarded by a squad of National Guard machine gunners, Giuseppe Zangara, the assassin who shot five persons in an attempt to kill President Roosevelt Feb. 15, awaits the electric chair here for the murder of Mayor Anton J. Cermak of Chicago.

Gov. Dave Sholtz today signed the death warrant after Zangara had secretly been removed from the Dade county jail in Miami, where he was convicted last Friday. The warrant sets the execution for the week of March 20, the actual day and hour to be determined by Supt. L. F. Chapman of the state prison farm. It was held likely Tuesday, March 21, will be the date.

Under rigid orders from the governor, interviews were forbidden with the swarthy Italian who shot down Mayor Cermak, Mrs. Joe H. Gill, prominent Miami society woman; Russell Caldwell, Coconut Grove, Fla.; William Sinnot, New York policeman, and Miss Margaret Kruis, Newark, N. J.

The latter three were not seriously wounded, but Zangara was given an 80 year sentence two weeks ago for attempting to kill the three and Mr. Roosevelt. He was never tried for the shooting of Mrs. Gill, who now lies in a hospital in a serious condition.

BILLIARD ROOM HELD UP.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, March 13.—Cuba's smoldering "underground rebellion" burst forth today in at least six different localities scattered throughout the island. The most spectacular outbreak came at Santa Clara, capital of Santa Clara province, where four bombs, one in each corner, exploded and demolished the army headquarters there. Two officers and ten privates were killed and scores were injured, according to reports received at the ministry of interior.

Fire, which developed from the blasts, threatened to destroy a large part of the city's business section. Damage to the headquarters building was estimated at $700,000. The total loss is expected to exceed $1,500,000.

Many Insurgents Slain.

Near Bayanio in Oriente province troops routed a detachment of rebels in a battle in which many insurgents were killed.

Riots also flared at Consolacion, Mariel and Cabanas, but details are lacking. It was reported that the mayors of these cities are abandoning their posts and leading armed groups toward the northern coast, where rebel expeditionary forces are expected to land, according to opposition leaders here.

In Havana Police Captain José Albuerne was killed by five men in an automobile, who sprayed his car with machine gun bullets. Lieut. Nicholas Hernandez and two policemen who were riding in Albuerne's car were seriously wounded.

One hour later two students, who had been arrested in connection with Albuerne's murder, were found hanging from palm trees near Havana. Their bodies were riddled with bullets. Highway police said the prisoners had tried to escape.

Two Die of Bomb Injuries.

Leocadio Gonzalez and Miguel Perez, clerks in a store which was wrecked last night by a bomb explosion, died tonight. Five others who were injured are in a critical condition. Fifteen alleged terrorists have been arrested in connection with the bombing.

Government spokesmen announced that "scattered groups of armed oppositionists and communists" burned 15 freight cars and destroyed stocks of sugar when a train arrived at Moron, Camaguey. The government also attributes the poisoning of 2,000 head of cattle in the last three days to rebels.

Charging that the army is unable to guarantee safety to life and property, officials of omnibus lines announced that passenger and freight service would be discontinued indefinitely. Railway officials also notified the government that if present conditions persist trains will have to be stopped.

THREE GUNMEN GET $550.

Three gunmen escaped with $550 yesterday from the Western Packing company, 933 South Western avenue, after threatening the owner, Thomas Falone, and two clerks with revolvers.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 13.—[Special.]—This city and its suburbs, hard hit by Friday's earthquake, will ask the federal government and the Reconstruction Finance corporation for the majority of funds needed to repair property damage, placed by latest estimates at 75 million dollars—50 million of it in Long Beach—it was indicated today. Estimates of the damage were made by insurance appraisers.

At Washington Senator William G. McAdoo of Los Angeles introduced today a bill providing for an emergency federal appropriation of $5,000,000 to relieve distress in the quake ridden area, and indicated that he would ask at a later date for $10,000,000 more for his constituents.

Want Rules Amended.

California has already been a larger beneficiary than any other state in the union of R. F. C. loans for construction purposes, but, as constituted at present, the rules of that corporation do not permit it to make loans for relief of a disaster. A state emergency council will meet here tomorrow to discuss a plea for liberalization of those rules. The Los Angeles chamber of commerce will hold a similar conference.

Frank Shaw, chairman of the county board of supervisors, said that he will introduce two resolutions at the latter meeting. The first will call upon the heads of all cities and unincorporated areas in the quake area to submit estimates of their losses, to be followed by application to the R. F. C. for rehabilitation loans. The second resolution will ask an R. F. C. loan of $10,000,000 to build a new courthouse to replace the old structure, rendered untenable by the earthquake.

Rocked by 38th Shock.

Order began to emerge out of chaos in the earthquake area today, in spite of the 38th major shock of the quake series, the heaviest since the original one, which caused practically all of the damage. Scientists assured the population that shocks may be expected to continue for some time, but that the history of other quakes shows that none will be as violent as the original temblor. Today's shock caused a wall to collapse in the Los Angeles city hall.

Officials believe that the peak of the load on emergency medical services and hospitals has been passed and that they will be able soon to begin compiling lists of the injured, estimated at 5,000, of whom 1,000 are in hospitals. The known death toll rose to 124 with the deaths of several injured in hospitals. Other bodies are buried in ruins, particularly in the cities of Long Beach and Compton, it is believed, and the total fatalities in the disaster will probably reach 125, authorities said.

The Los Angeles earthquake will probably give to science the first accurate records of just how the earth shakes during such a disaster, information which may be highly valuable in constructing buildings to withstand earthquakes in the future. Seismographs, which register quakes thousands of miles away, are too delicate to function in the midst of an earthquake, but the federal geodetic survey installed a few months ago four machines of a new type in the Los Angeles area, designed to picture the force and direction of quakes. All of these machines made satisfactory records of the earth movements, it was learned today.

SENATE PONDERS BINGHAM, STRAUS FOR U. S. ENVOYS

Robinson (Rep.) Attacks Former's Speeches.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.

Washington, D. C., March 13.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today sent to the senate the names of three men he has chosen for important diplomatic posts.

They were Robert Worth Bingham, publisher of Louisville, Ky., as ambassador to England; Jesse Isador Straus, president of R. H. Macy & Co., New York department store, as ambassador to France, and Josephus Daniels, wartime secretary of the navy under whom Mr. Roosevelt served as assistant secretary, as ambassador to Mexico.

The appointments were referred to the senate committee on foreign relations, where it appeared today that one at least will be under some criticism.

Indianian Starts Protest.

Senator Arthur Robinson [Rep., Indiana] announced that he would offer, as a member of the committee, evidence that Mr. Bingham had made speeches in England which caused him to be labeled an "apologetic American."

Mr. Bingham, who is publisher of the Louisville Courier-Journal and of the Louisville Times, has spent much of his time in England, entertaining on a lavish scale in past years at Guthrie castle, in Scotland. He delivered a speech on Aug. 20, 1927, at the opening of a flower show in the village of Friockheim, near Arbroath, at which he was officiating as lord of the manor by virtue of his occupation of Guthrie castle.

Plans to Quote Bingham.

Excerpts from this speech, which Senator Robinson asserted he intended to quote before the senate committee, follow:

"I want to apologize to you as an American citizen for what may be regarded as the failure of the Geneva [naval limitation] conference. We have all read with regret that it has been apparently, perhaps actually, a failure.

"That it was a failure was the fault of my own country and my own countrymen. They failed at that time—those who represented us—to realize the actual necessities of the British nation. They failed to realize that a nation placed as this one is must at all times keep open the seas."

Talks from Pulpit.

A few days after making this speech Mr. Bingham occupied the pulpit of the John Knox Free church at Arbroath. There he was quoted as making the following statement:

"I am a patriotic American, but at the same time I recognize, as do many of my countrymen, our faults and failings. Perhaps more than anything else, we deplore the failure of our country to go into the league of nations."

President Roosevelt has had several conferences with Mr. Bingham. While it was not known whether Mr. Roosevelt had been informed concerning the Bingham speeches quoted above, his advisers declared that he was fully satisfied that Mr. Bingham will assert and defend America's position on all issues emphatically and patriotically.

Mr. Bingham is a former mayor of Louisville. His second wife was the widow of Henry M. Flagler, Standard Oil multi-millionaire, owner of the Florida East Coast railroad. After her death he married Mrs. Byron Hilliard, a widow of Louisville, in London in 1924, and she will accompany him to his new post.

Straus Harvard Overseer.

Mr. Straus was graduated from Harvard, of which he is now a member of the board of overseers. He began business life as a clerk in the Hanover National bank of New York, going with the Macy company in 1896. Since 1919 he has been president of that company. He is a member of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, Council on Foreign Relations, and the Foreign Policy association.

Mr. Daniels, best known for his work in President Wilson's cabinet as secretary of the navy, has for many years been publisher of the News and Observer at Raleigh, N. C.

GETS PARDON

LADY EDME OWEN.

[Acme Photo.]

PARIS, March 13.—(AP)—Lady Edme Owen, who was sentenced to five years' imprisonment in 1930 for shooting Mme. Paul Gastaud, was pardoned today after having served two years of the sentence.

She is the widow of Sir Theodore Charles Owen. She provided financial support for Dr. Paul Gastaud, a beauty specialist patronized at the time by Paris society.

Subsequently she and Dr. Gastaud had a disagreement and Lady Owen went to his home and shot Mme. Gastaud five times. She recovered.

ESCAPED CONVICT SLAIN IN BATTLE WITH POLICEMEN

Charles Dolan, 26 years old, an escaped convict, was killed and his companion, Peter Dejewski, 29 years old, 4818 West 28th street, was captured yesterday after a running gun battle with a Cicero police squad. Dolan escaped Jan. 21 from the Pontiac reformatory, where he was serving a sentence for robbery. Dejewski, who has a police record as a robber, has been sought by police since he forfeited his bond and fled while awaiting trial on a larceny charge.

The chase started at 52d Avenue and 33d street, Cicero, when the hoodlums who were in an automobile, disregarded the police command to halt for questioning. Dolan, who was driving, increased his speed and both men opened fire on the police car. Policemen Steve Klimes, Charles Bulvas, and Irvin Knovesky exchanged shots with the pair as the chase led through Cicero streets and into Chicago. A police bullet struck Dolan below the heart in front of 4246 West 21st place.

Dejewski was captured when he leaped from the wreckage and ran. He was carrying a pistol and a second gun was found near Dolan's body.

Bandit Is Wounded by Gasoline Station Watchman

One of four bandits who kidnaped an attendant from the Norbard filling station at 6201 North avenue, Oak Park, last night was shot by Arthur Snyder, a special watchman. The wounded robber and his companions escaped. They took $28 from the gasoline station and then forced Arthur Malow, 4722 Race street, the attendant, into their car. As they started away Snyder fired at them. Malow was released by the bandits later and notified police one of his captors had been wounded. Snyder killed a bandit at the filling station last December and captured another.

Flying Mail Pickup Not So Good with Gold in Bag

Litchfield, Ill., March 13.—[Special.]—The Livingston postoffice hung a mail pouch containing $2,000 in gold sent by the Livingston National bank to St. Louis on a "pick up" arm at the railroad station here. When a fast mail train going through here at full speed snagged the bag it burst and the gold coins were scattered for an eighth of a mile down the track. All but one of the coins were recovered.

HELD ON ROBBERY CHARGE.

Daniel Hetzel, 22 years old, 1210 South Morgan street, was held to the grand jury yesterday in bond of $5,000 by Judge Matthew D. Hartigan on a charge of robbing the office of the R. G. Lydy parking station, 225 West Wacker drive.

PRUSSIA MAYORS FIRED BY HITLER; SOME ARRESTED

Count Confesses Plot on Chancellor's Life.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 13.—Chancellor Hitler's government followed up its sweeping victory in yesterday's Prussian municipal elections by ousting mayors and other municipal officials in many parts of the state. Some mayors were placed under "protective arrest" and others were sent on "long leaves of absence."

At Cologne Nazi storm troops occupied the town hall, before which a huge crowd had assembled. The local Nazi leader, Herr Grohe, appeared on the balcony and announced he had deposed Lord Mayor Adenauer, president of the Prussian state council and a member of the Catholic Centrist party, and his two assistants and replaced them with his own nominees. The throng cheered.

Mayor Flees to Holland.

At Frankfort-on-Main it was officially stated that the wrath of the populace against Lord Mayor Ludwig Landmann was so threatening that it became necessary to place him under "protective arrest." When police visited the lord mayor's residence, Landmann had disappeared. It is reported he fled to Holland.

Mayors of Mannheim, Giessen, Brunswick, Wiesbaden and Neustadt-an-der-Haardt were placed under arrest, while city executives of Magdeburg, Altona, Kiel and Nuernberg were forced to retire. Berlin's mayor is still negotiating with authorites to keep his post, but a number of his aids were ousted.

All ousted officials are entitled to pensions. It is reported that legislation is proposed to reduce such pensions to a minimum where it is not possible to wipe them out altogether for breaches of duty.

More Papers Suspended.

Meanwhile the arrest of newspaper men and suspension of many papers throughout the reich were reported. In Hessen the entire Socialist press was prohibited, while Nazi storm troops took over offices of several well known Catholic publications in the Rhineland.

Dr. Joseph Goebbels, editor of Der Angriff, Berlain Nazi organ, was appointed minister of public enlightenment and propaganda today. Walther Funk, the government press chief, will serve as his state secretary.

Official sources have revealed a plot for the assassination of Chancellor Hitler. Count Toni Arco-Valley is reported to have confessed the plan upon his arrest in Munich last night. The count shot Kurt Eisner, Socialist premier of Bavaria, in 1919. Republican courts sentenced him to death without loss of honor "because his act was inspired by glowing patriotism." He was pardoned on President von Hindenburg's 80th birthday. He is a monarchist.

Political Violence Ebbing.

Political violence has fallen in the last 12 hours as a result of stringent orders issued by Hitler and Dr. Wilhelm Frick, minister of interior, forbidding private expeditions of storm troops.

A brother killed his own brother because of political differences in Schweinfurth today. Fritz Krug, a Nazi trooper, was entering the home of his parents. He was met by his brother, who ordered him to leave and, according to the Nazi report, threatened to stab him. As his brother placed his hand in his pocket, apparently reaching for a weapon, Fritz drew a revolver and shot him to death. Fritz surrendered to police.

Julian Fuhs, American night club owner in Berlin, filed an affidavit with the American consulate today, complaining that storm troopers had mistreated him Saturday morning. Fuhs said he was sitting at a table with Nazi patrons when storm troops marched in and dragged him into a dark room where they ordered him to pay $300 to a porter of a Berlin hotel. Fuhs denied the debt and was locked in a washroom. Patrons rescued him after clashing with the troopers.

AUSTRIAN SOLDIERS RAID REDS; HUNT FOR WEAPONS AND BOMBS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, March 13.—Alarmed by the possibility of putsches by either Nazis, the monarchists or communists, police and soldiers today raided many buildings at Hellein, near Salzburg, for weapons, dynamite and revolutionary propaganda material allegedly hidden by communists.

A list of names of prominent persons, including some Socialists, who were marked for assassination, was found.

Similar raids were staged in Vienna. The entire editorial staff of 27 of the communist paper Rote Fahne were arrested. Among the prisoners seized in the roundup was Hans Koplenig, leader of the Austrian Reds and Austrian communist labor union.

Plans Law for Permanent Banking Reform.

and the federal reserve banks to be as helpful as possible in meeting the needs of the present situation," the secretary explained. His statement to state nonmember banks came just before the government takes the third and most difficult step in its program, the reopening on Wednesday of banks in centers where there are no clearing houses. Many of those banks will be nonmember banks. The secretary's advice tonight was directed to them.

Clearing Houses Report.

The local clearing house associations have reported on the condition of those banks seeking licenses to resume tomorrow and the reserve banks have notified the treasury which banks are sound and fit to reopen. Licenses for such banks were being approved by the secretary as fast as the recommendations were received.

Mr. Woodin announced that banks that do not reopen will be permitted to carry on the limited activities ranging from making change to furnishing funds for necessities of life and pay rolls that are specified in regulations 1 to 19 inclusive.

With the opening of banks entering its second stage, two other problems, the handling of gold and foreign exchange and the reorganization of banks still closed, began to loom larger on the financial horizon here. Treasury experts today were turning more of their attention to these questions.

Prepare to Name Conservators.

Actual appointment of conservators for banks not yet open seems to be indefinitely, but not distantly, in the the future. Conservators will be announced from Washington, it was said at the treasury.

Banks for which conservators are appointed may not remain completely closed but may open for partial withdrawals, it was revealed today. If the controller of the currency approves, the conservator may set aside certain of the assets of the bank, out of which deposits may be withdrawn on a "ratable" basis, it is said.

Eventual reorganization of the banks which are placed in the hands of conservators will often bring a scaling down in the deposits and other liabilities of the banks. If this process is followed 75 per cent of the depositors must consent to the reorganization before it becomes effective.

Consent Is Required.

If the capital structure of a bank is revised instead of its liabilities written down, two-thirds of the stockholders must consent before the conservator's plan will go into effect. If both the capital structure and the deposits are revised, the consent of both 75 per cent of the depositors and two-thirds of the stockholders is necessary.

Still a third method whereby banks not opened on a 100 per cent basis may be helped is by the granting to them of permission to issue new stock, the sale of which will bring new funds into the banks. Frequently. this method will be combined with the first two, it was said.

Licensing of dealers in gold, through whom gold obligations may be discharged "will be coming along soon," one official predicted, and a similar device for handling foreign exchange transactions is under consideration. Such plans have been in rough form for some time but were temporarily shoved aside for other more pressing business.

Pending the setting up of the licensing system, Secretary Woodin today instructed federal reserve banks to sell gold needed "in trade, profession or art." Requests for such gold, however, must be accompanied by affidavits showing the need for the metal and the amount of unmanufactured gold on hand, the secretary said.

Work on Gold Licenses.

Asolute prohibitions now prevent any gold transactions, and even government securities, which the treasury promised to redeem in gold, cannot be converted into the precious metal. Treasury officials, however, are resolutely calling the present suspension of gold payments "temporary," and for that reason they are anxious to solve the existing dilemma by a licensing system.

Banks have been ordered to desist from all but the most necessary foreign exchange transactions. Under the emergency banking law the secretary of the treasury may license dealers in foreign exchange and presumably he will invoke this right. Only by permitting some official agency, like the federal reserve banks, to deal in foreign exchange can the government prevent speculators from manipulating the value of the dollar on world markets during the period of suspended gold payments.

Dollar Sellers Caught.

Strength of the dollar today in both London and Paris brought true the prediction of government officials that persons who sold the dollar short because of the current disturbances would be caught. Raids on the dollar abroad were expected, but as long as America remains a creditor nation and foreign countries must purchase dollar exchange with which to settle bills here, the dollar cannot be driven down far, officials maintain.

A resolution to permit state banks, with the approval of state bank commissioners, to receive loans from federal reserve banks was introduced in the senate by Democratic Leader Joe T. Robinson of Arkansas. It would serve to meet, he said, objections which have been made to the emergency banking act.

This was a signal, however, for Senator Carter Glass [Dem., Va.] to point out that by virtue of the Glass-Steagall bill there was already in the statutes a provision authorizing federal reserve banks to make loans direct to corporations, companies, and individuals unable to secure credit through usual channels. This, Senator Glass explained, would give the state banks a broader opportunity to secure loans than was contemplated by the Robinson resolution.

Consider Guarantee Bills.

Tomorrow morning the banking and currency committee of the senate will meet in executive session to discuss what course of action shall be taken relative to the numerous bank guarantee bills of various types which are now pending. The Glass banking bill, which was re-introduced by its author last week, will also be up for consideration.

Senator Thomas P. Gore [Dem., Okla.] proposed an amendment to the constitution providing:

1. Hereafter no state shall without the consent of congress charter a bank and all state laws on the subject of banking shall be subject to the revision and control of congress.
2. The congress shall have power to make all laws which shall be necessary and proper to provide for a more uniform system of banking throughout the United States.

HOW CONSERVATORS WILL DEAL WITH BANKS IN DIFFICULTIES

Washington, D. C., March 13.—[Special.]—Treasury officials today explained what will be the duties of the conservator of a closed bank, the officer to be appointed under the terms of the newly enacted emergency banking legislation to conserve the assets of any such bank for the benefit of depositors and other creditors.

The conservator, who is to be appointed by the controller of the currency, will take over the property of the bank. The conservator has all powers granted to national bank receivers and is subject to such bond as may be required by the controller.

An examination of the bank will then be made and a report sent to the controller of the currency. If the controller is satisfied that it may safely be done, he may terminate the conservatorship and permit the bank to resume business, subject to terms and restrictions as he may prescribe.

While the bank is in conservatorship the controller may require the conservator to set aside, to make available for withdrawal by depositors and payment to other creditors, on a ratable basis, such amounts as in his opinion may safely be used for that purpose.

The conservator may be permitted by the controller to receive deposits. While the bank is in the hands of the conservator deposits received will not be subject to any limitation as to payment or withdrawal. These deposits will not be used to liquidate any indebtedness of the bank existing at the time that the conservator was appointed. Deposits of this type must be maintained intact at the bank, redeposited at the reserve bank or invested in government securities.

If it is found that a national bank cannot operate on a 100 per cent basis the conservator may arrange a reorganization subject to the approval of the controller. In the writing down of deposits and other liabilities the consent of depositors representing 75 per cent of the depositors, other creditors representing 75 per cent of the liabilities and stockholders representing two-thirds of the outstanding capital stock is required under certain conditions. When this requirement is met, any plan of reorganization approved by the controller is binding on other interested parties. The act is effective only for national banks and those in the District of Columbia.

BANKS RECEIVE MILLIONS MORE IN HOARDED GOLD

Estimate Total at More than $15,000,000.

Unofficial estimates on hoarded gold deposited or exchanged at the Chicago Federal Reserve bank yesterday were that Saturday's receipts of $9,000,000 were approximately doubled. A steady stream of gold and gold certificates also poured into the big loop banks throughout the day, but most of these receipts were deposited during the day in the reserve bank.

Only five tellers were employed in the gold department of the reserve bank on Saturday and the number was increased to 15 yesterday to handle the gold rush. The bank remained open two hours, the crowd appeared twice as large, and on this basis bank officials estimated that collections were between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000, as compared to Saturday's total of $9,600,000.

Friday is the deadline for depositing or exchanging all gold withdrawn since Feb. 1, in accordance with the edict of the secretary of the treasury, and the names of hoarders still holding out at that time will be forwarded to Washington.

Get Millions in Gold.

Such expressions as "a steady stream of gold," "the clink of gold all day," and "millions of it" came from the loop bank officials when they were asked for figures on amounts received yesterday. However, early estimates were as follows:

First National, $1,250,000; Continental Illinois National, $1,250,000 in the commercial department, no estimate on the savings department; Northern Trust, "several millions"; City National Bank and Trust, "close to a million"; Harris Trust and Savings, "a steady stream all day, both savings and commercial."

On these estimates it appeared last evening that seven or eight millions of dollars in gold and gold certificates were received by the loop banks alone. A total of $23,000,000 had been received by the reserve bank Saturday night since the edict of the secretary of the treasury a week ago calling in the gold.

Officials of the loop banks said much of the gold returned in small amounts at the savings departments was exchanged for currency, but that most of the larger amounts received at the commercial departments were deposited. Transactions as high as $250,000 were handled and the reserve bank was reported to have received $500,000 in one consignment and $600,000 in another.

Queries About Returns.

Many persons were still inquiring yesterday as to whether gold jewelry, a few gold coins held as keepsakes, and gold certificates in small quantities possessed for long periods of time should be turned in. Any gold coin or gold certificates will be accepted, but there has been no request for the return of small amounts not recently withdrawn. Gold jewelry is not subject to the return order.

Depositors withdrawing substantial amounts of money from the banks open yesterday were required to sign "anti-hoarding certificates—for information of the United States government." The depositors were required to fill out the blanks, with their names and addresses and certify that the withdrawal was not for hoarding. The certificates were put into effect after the adoption of a resolution by the Clearing House association.

Revocation of 3 Doctors' Licenses Recommended

The state department of registration and education recommended yesterday that the licenses of three physicians be revoked because of their association with Henry J. Schireson, self-styled plastic surgeon, in his revent ventures. Hearings were completed in the case recently by the medical committee of the department. Schireson is a fugitive on a warrant charging him with practicing medicine without a license. The physicians who contested the charges of working with an unlicensed practitioner are L. N. Cohler, E. K. Langford, and T. W. Cogger. Similar charges against Theodore Burnstein and H. M. Golden have been taken under advisement by the state department.

ILLINOIS ORDERS MORATORIUM ON INSURANCE LOANS

Death Benefits Will Be Paid.

Springfield, Ill., March 13.—[Special.]—In an effort to assist in the stabilization of banking Illinois today declared a partial moratorium on life insurance policy loans.

In a notice addressed to "all life insurance companies authorized to do business in Illinois," Ernest Palmer, superintendent of insurance and acting head of the department of trade and commerce of which the insurance division is a branch, called a halt on all insurance loans and policy surrender values in excess of $100.

Palmer's Order to Companies.

"In view of the emergency legislation to be proposed to the legislature in the very near future," says Palmer's order, "you are hereby notified that from and after the receipt of this notice you are not to permit the withdrawal of cash by making loans upon the security of policies issued by you, nor by paying the cash surrender value of the same, until further notice from this department, except that loans may be made on a policy for the purpose of paying the premium on the same and also in cases of great need loans may be made in an amount not exceeding $100 to any one person on a policy or policies issued to him, and provided that the amount of such loan not exceeding $100 does not exceed 50 per cent of the cash value of the policy.

"Until this department shall otherwise order, all premium payments (except such as are paid with the proceeds of a loan) received by your company from policyholders in Illinois, after receipt of this notice, shall be put in an account from which the policy loans permitted under this order and also death claims, annuities and maturities may be paid, and the remainder of such funds may be invested only in securities of the United States government.

"Benefits Must Be Paid."

"Nothing herein contained is to excuse or prevent payment of death benefits, matured endowments or annuities, which must continue to be met promptly by all companies.

"During the stay of policy loan payments, no company having capital stock shall declare or pay any dividends to stockholders.

"Please acknowledge receipt of this notice and advise me whether the above instructions are thoroughly understood and that the matter will be handled accordingly."

Britain and Denmark Plan Reciprocal Trade Treaty

COPENHAGEN, March 13.—(AP)—C. V. Bramsnaes, Danish minister of finance, in an address tonight said a reciprocal trade agreement with Great Britain, covering numerous commodities, was in the offing. He said Denmark would be able to maintain her present quota of Bacon exports to the United Kingdom and avoid an increased tariff on butter if, in return, she were willing to buy an adequate amount of steel, iron, coal, jute and salt from Britain.

Stop a COLD the First Day!

Taken Promptly, this Four-Way Remedy Will Usually Stop a Cold the First Day and Save You Much Suffering as Well as the Danger of Serious Complications!

The time to stop a cold is before it gets started. Once a cold fastens itself on you, it becomes twice as hard to remove. And a cold lodged in the system may lead to something worse.

Don't hope to kill a cold with merely local or external applications. A cold is a germ attack, an internal infection and, as such, calls for internal treatment.

Don't hope to kill a cold, either, with anything except a COLD remedy. A cure-all is self-deception. Many preparations which people commonly take for a cold actually make the relief of a cold more difficult because these preparations are constipating and also make the system acid.

The Required Effects

The thing to take for a cold or case of grippe is Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine—because it does the four things necessary, in the way that is necessary.

First of all, it opens the bowels, gently but thoroughly—the first step in knocking a cold. Secondly, it kills the cold germs in the system, expels the poisonous infection and reduces the fever. Thirdly, it relieves the headache and that grippy feeling. Fourthly, it tones the entire system and fortifies against further attack.

Harmless, but Effective!

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine may be safely taken by young and old and whether you stay indoors or go out. There is no penalty attached to its use. For more than forty years it has been the standard cold and grippe tablet of the world, the formula keeping pace with Modern Medicine. Always ask for it by the full name and look for the letters L B Q stamped on every tablet. Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine now comes in two sizes—30c and 50c. Resent a substitute as an attempt to exploit you.

NOTE: During Epidemics a tablet or two of Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine every morning and night will do much to fortify your system against infection.

U. S. TAKES OVER CONTROL OF TWO DETROIT BANKS

Will Do Business Under Conservators.

Washington, D. C., March 13.—(AP)—The treasury tonight announced appointment of conservators for the First National Bank of Detroit and the Guardian National Bank of Commerce of Detroit under authority of the new banking act.

In making the announcement, Secretary Woodin said that course will permit the institutions to retain deposits to be segregated and kept in cash or invested in obligations of the United States or deposited with the Federal Reserve bank.

Permits Making Payments.

Likewise, he said, it lets the conservators set aside and make available for withdrawal by depositors and payments to other creditors on a rateable basis such amounts as in the opinion of the controller may safely be used for this purpose.

Placing these banks under conservators also gives time for development of a satisfactory permanent plan for adequate banking facilities for Detroit, the secretary explained. A number of plans have been discussed, he said, but there has not been general agreement as to the course most advantageous for the city.

Two on Way, It's Said.

The two conservators are already en route to Detroit, both due to arrive there by noon Tuesday. It was understood that one was J. L. Schram, administrative assistant of the national bank reduction agency of the treasurer's office, while it was rumored that the other was a "Mr. Keyes" of the controller's office. That office, however, stated no one of that name was known there.

FIRST DAY'S RESULTS

A total of 160 banks, all members of the federal reserve system, opened yesterday without restrictions on withdrawals of funds other than those designed to prevent the hoarding of gold or currency.

In addition, 122 nonmember banks in the twelve cities, to which openings were restricted by treasury regulations, also swung their doors wide to the public.

The heartening message that more money was being deposited than was being taken out came from all the reporting centers.

Results in Reserve Centers.

In brief, the story of the opening in the cities which have federal reserve banks was:

New York—Fifty-two member banks of the reserve system, 24 state commercial banks, and all 59 state savings banks open; one federal reserve member closed and eight under restrictions.

Boston — Eleven federal reserve members and eight state banks open. This list contains all the Boston commercial banks and it was reported "business was normal for a rainy Monday."

Philadelphia—Twenty-one federal reserve member banks and 29 state banks opened without restrictions. Deposits of $35,000,000 made the day one of the biggest in banking history. Receiving tellers reported so swamped that extra boxes were furnished them, into which currency and gold were dropped as they came in.

Richmond — Four reserve member banks open fully and one with restrictions; eight nonmembers of system also open. Thirty-nine additional banks in the reserve district, including those of Baltimore and Washington, authorized to open today.

Atlanta — All the four federal reserve member banks open fully. Licenses to open today granted 56 banks in the district. Gov. Talmadge of Georgia extended state bank holiday indefinitely but announced any banks which satisfy the state superintendent of banks may open without restrictions.

Cleveland—Three national and four state banks, all federal reserve members, open. Two large federal reserve member banks open under restrictions.

St. Louis—Eighteen reserve member banks open; eleven closed "but may open later." Eight state banks, nonmembers of reserve, open.

Kansas City—Nine reserve member banks and fifteen nonmembers open. One reserve and two state banks still closed. Clearing house banks to the number of 89 authorized to open in Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Colorado, Nebraska, and Wyoming.

Dallas — All five reserve member banks and six state banks open. One state bank [nonmember] remained closed.

Chicago — Told elsewhere in this issue.

Status of Other States.

From Denver came a report that the banks expected to open there today. Florida banks were open, in general, with restrictions. In North Carolina 68 banks filed applications with the state to reopen at once.

Vermont's banks will be unable to open until tomorrow, as there are no clearing houses in that state. From Baltimore it was reported that 6 federal reserve members and 9 nonmember banks would open today and that 18 state banks may open later. Alabama's bank holiday remained in force, but it is expected that banks in Birmingham, Mobile and Montgomery, all with clearing houses, may open today.

The Iowa legislature rushed through legislation yesterday that will make it easier for state banks to get into the federal reserve system. All but 24 of the state's 626 banks were open yesterday with restrictions on withdrawals.

Receives $28,000,000.

New York, March 13.—[Special.]—New York enjoyed regular banking facilities today and was glad to get them. It was obvious the people have confidence in the reopened banks. There was a general "run" today to deposit or redeposit money in the banks. The banks reported large deposits and small withdrawals. Savings banks as a whole reported that their deposits were three times greater than their withdrawals.

The Federal Reserve bank of New York reported net receipts of $10,000,000 of currency. The bank paid out about $18,000,000 in new and old currency and took in $28,000,000.

Gold and gold certificates returned to the reserve bank by hoarders and by member banks today totaled $27,000,000, bringing the receipts since the beginning of last week to $135,000,000.

Better Trade Outlook.

In New York and in several other cities there were indications of a revival of business, including a noticeable increase in advertising, which was construed as meaning that merchants anticipated increased buying of goods by the public.

One hundred and thirty-five banks throughout Greater New York were reopened; 59 savings banks, 52 national and state banks which are members of the federal reserve system, and 24 state commercial banks which are not members of the federal reserve system. In addition, J. P. Morgan & Co. and other private banks reopened.

Only nine banking institutions in the city failed to receive licenses to reopen. Two of these are in Manhattan, one in Brooklyn, and six in Queens. All are national banks except one, which was a state bank, but all are members of the federal reserve system.

One Large Bank Closed.

Of the nine, only one was closed altogether. This was the Harriman National Bank and Trust company of 527 Fifth avenue. That was closed by order of the controller of the currency. Henry E. Cooper, president of that bank, was appointed as federal conservator in charge of the bank. The bank has deposits of $30,000,000.

The other banks which failed to obtain licenses to reopen on a normal basis were permitted to continue the same measure of restricted banking functions which were authorized for banks during the banking holiday. These banks are the Mercantile Bank and Trust company, in Manhattan; Lafayette National bank, Brooklyn, and the Jamaica National bank, Ozone Park National bank, Richmond National bank, Elmhurst National bank, Douglaston National bank, and Newton National bank in Queens.

The state banking commissioners will permit the opening of ten banks in five clearing house cities tomorrow. Savings banks and building and loan associations also will reopen tomorrow with withdrawals limited to $25 a person.

CITY RECOVERS CONFIDENCE AS 34 BANKS OPEN

Loop Streets Thronged; Deposits Heavy.

into the night tabulating the day's receipts and disbursements. No figures were made public, but the results were everywhere considered highly encouraging.

Although the security and commodity markets remained closed La Salle street saw its biggest crowd in many months. Despite the accumulated pay checks to be cashed and the withdrawals of taxpayers anxious to avoid penalties on state and federal taxes, more money was going into the banks than was being paid out. This was the report from banks in the outlying districts as well as in the loop.

In the vaults of the federal reserve bank were millions of the new money—federal reserve bank notes—but no banks were reported calling for it. There was no need.

Three New Reserve Members.

The federal reserve bank last night announced that word had been received from Washington of the formal grant of three memberships in the federal reserve system to the Liberty Bank of Chicago, the Merchandise Bank and Trust company, and the Uptown State bank, bringing the total membership in Chicago to 17. A number of other state banks have been approved by the authorities here and are assured of membership.

Credit unions in Illinois were authorized to reopen at once in a statement issued late yesterday by Auditor Barrett. There are 127 credit unions in the state with assets of approximately two million dollars.

Among the banks authorized to resume business were the Chicago Chicago branches of the Bank of Montreal and the Bank of Nova Scotia.

Work on Smaller Banks.

State Auditor Barrett's staff was concentrating on the task of reopening 600 downstate banks in Illinois. Under the instructions sent out from Washington only banks in cities with recognized clearing house associations were to be permitted to reopen today. Federal reserve system banks and nonmember state banks in other communities will be permitted to open tomorrow if properly licensed. Banks in Evanston, Oak Park and other Chicago suburbs come under this classification.

Business of the postal savings banks, the only banking agencies permitted to remain open during the holiday, was reported back to normal yesterday. Postmaster Arthur C. Lueder reported that Saturday's deposits totaled $249,649 and withdrawals $95,801.

All checks drawn on banks which have reopened on the authorization of the treasury department or the state auditor will be honored regardless of the date on which they were made, federal reserve bank officials said. No checks need be redated, it was explained, checks dated during the holiday being honored as well as those dated before and since.

This applies only to checks on reopened banks. Persons holding checks on banks not yet open are requested to hold them until they are open.

More Midwest Banks to Reopen

Thirty-eight banks in eighteen cities of Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan and Wisconsin received authorization last night from Secretary of the Treasury Woodin to reopen for unrestricted business today. The order was transmitted through the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago.

The 38 banks are permitted to reopen under the treasury department program which provides that reserve system banks and nonmember state banks in 250 cities that have recognized clearing house associations may open today if properly licensed.

All 38 banks that received licenses last night are members of the reserve system, thirty-one being national banks and seven state banks. The list follows:

JAIL THREE REDS FOR URGING DEPOSITORS TO GET CASH IN BANK

New York, March 13.—[Special.]—Three men who passed out circulars, signed "communist party, New York district," in Union square this afternoon, calling on small depositors, workers and professional people to demand their banks to pay their accounts in full, were arrested and later held in $500 bail each for violation of the law that prohibits acts endangering the public peace.

The men first were charged with disorderly conduct but the charge was changed in the Yorkville court upon the recommendation of Assistant District Attorney Ray Leo.

"A national emergency exists and we are at war with economic forces," Mr. Leo told the court. "The action of these three defendants is almost equivalent to treason, in view of the President's proclamation."

The defendants said they were David Freed, a musician; Joseph Green, unemployed, and Owen Appleton.

U. S. AGENTS NAB GIRL AS PASSER OF COUNTERFEIT

Miss Wynne Birell, 21 years old, was arrested yesterday by secret service agents after purchasing railroad tickets with three counterfeit $100 bills in three different railroad stations. She was held in bond of $2,500 for hearing before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker on Thursday on charges of possessing and passing counterfeit money.

Government agents, who said the woman was a "passer" for a counterfeiting gang, started a search for the ringleaders.

Miss Birell, who said she lived at 4008 North Austin avenue, passed the first $100 bill at the Union station. Fifteen minutes later she passed another one at the Illinois Central station. A warning was sent to all railroad stations and Miss Birell was arrested in the La Salle station after passing the third one.

HOOVER ALMOST READY TO START FOR CALIFORNIA

New York, March 13.—[Special.]—Former President Herbert Hoover was expected to complete the personal business which has held him in New York since his successor took office and leave for California within "a day or two," his secretary, Lawrence Richey, said today.

Mr. Hoover failed to take a morning walk, which has become his custom since he became a private citizen, and remained in his carefully guarded suite on the thirty-third floor of the Waldorf-Astoria today.

Mr. Hoover is concentrating on personal matters which could not be disposed of last week because the banks were closed, Mr. Richey said.

Porter Dies of Wounds Intended for Another

Patrick Gallagher, 49 years old, a porter in the Crown hotel, 1659 West Division street, died yesterday in St. Mary's hospital of bullet wounds received Saturday when he was caught in the crossfire of a revolver battle between Frank Verego, owner of the hotel, and Policeman John Payton, a guest there. The shooting started when Payton attempted to disarm Verego.

U. S. CUSTOMS WILL WATCH LINERS FOR WITHDRAWN GOLD

New York, March 13.—[Special.]—Twenty selected customs agents are to be assigned here to the task of doing their best to see that no gold gets out of this country, it was announced. For the duration of the gold embargo they will be provided with lists from the Federal Reserve bank of those who have withdrawn gold in the last two years.

If any of those on the list sail, they will be questioned and every precaution will be taken to prevent their taking gold from the United States. If search reveals gold in the possession of suspected persons, the customs men will notify the Federal Reserve bank and the gold will be seized.

The Bremen, sailing from Brooklyn tomorrow night, will be the first ship so treated; thereafter, all will be.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

IMMEDIATE MODIFICATION.

The President follows up his masterful action in the banking crisis by another blow at the depression. He fulfills, as far as he can at this moment, the definite pledge of his party for immediate modification of the Volstead act, calling for "the passage of legislation to legalize the manufacture and sale of beer and other beverages of such alcoholic content as is permissible under the constitution, and to provide through such manufacture and sale, by substantial taxes, a proper and much needed revenue for the government."

The conditions supporting such legislation and the force of public opinion demanding it hardly need discussion in either congress or the country. The state of the federal government's finances and the public morale both imperatively call for this action. When taken, as we cannot doubt congress will take it, an important step will be accomplished for the defeat of the depression.

MANDATES.

Mr. Stimson's reliance on "world opinion" as a restraint upon military force or as fuel to put the new machinery of world peace in motion against aggressors has not yet shown its influence in a very impressive degree. The Japanese armies have now swept over Jehol, and, in spite of much indignant protest in the press or a part of the press of the world, there is some reason to suspect that they may not stop at the wall. We think they will, but for reasons of a military, financial, and political nature rather than because of any of the expectations cherished by Mr. Stimson.

The diplomatic situation remains to the outside world very obscure. We hope the new state department is better informed. The proposal of an embargo on arms does not seem to have been followed up, although promptly and enthusiastically indorsed by Mr. Stimson. Its practical effects are sufficiently doubtful to justify hesitation in any other quarter and the motive of the British government in proposing it is not easy to interpret.

Meanwhile Mr. Stimson's advocacy of a boycott, to be applied to Japan, as an aggressor and breaker of treaties, has been treated with as little enthusiasm by the governments which would be called upon to make it effectual. In this situation it is not surprising that Japanese operations have proceeded as planned. Japanese delegates have departed from Geneva in protest against the league assembly's approval of the Lytton report, but other results have not yet appeared. The Japanese government has not given formal notice of an intention to withdraw from the league and in the circumstances has no reason for doing so.

One of the reasons why Japan is expected to be reluctant to withdraw from the league, expected, that is, by league enthusiasts, is that she might fear that her action might result in her loss of her mandates in the Pacific islands. We doubt there is any such fear at Tokio. The Japanese have every reason to take their mandates for fictions clothing the reality of possession, which in international affairs, even more than in domestic, is nine points of the law. Japan has not hesitated to let the world know that it looks upon the islands as spoils of war. The altruistic formula of the mandate does not deceive her or any one else except Mr. Stimson and other naïve ideologues, most of whom are in America. Japan derives her right from her contribution to the war, and, whether in or out of the league and notwithstanding Mr. Stimson's doctrine of non-recognition of titles thus obtained, none of the late allied powers is in a moral position to deny Japan's title.

A mandate is theoretically an altruistic device for vesting in a strong power authority to take charge of a weaker for the latter's good. It is supposed to be a trusteeship binding the mandate power to protect the weaker country and to assist in its progress toward order and self-government. But experience very feebly supports this theory. The French mandate in Syria serves as an illustration. The Syrians protested, and have continued with good reason to protest, the French mandate, and the terms which the French government is reported to offer the Syrians as the price of relief from this altruistic invention throw a fierce light upon its real character. It is true that the French government has denied that these terms have been demanded, but it can be safely predicted that Syria will have to pay through the nose for escape from French ministrations. The terms reported are undoubtedly near enough to French demands to be worthy of note. They are as follows:

1. Syria's present frontiers are to be maintained, thus precluding any possible union with the British protectorate of Iraq.
2. France will ask from $480,000,000 to $680,000,000 indemnity for the costs of military occupation.
3. Syria must agree not to make any deal with a foreign company without French consent.
4. French advisers will be employed by the chiefs of all important government bureaus.
5. France will support the entry of Syria into the league of nations after three years.

The French have not got much from the Syrian mandate but trouble and expense, but they will drive a hard bargain before they retire. Malebrouck is not Stimson, and no one knows better than the directors of Japanese affairs that a mandate is to be taken in the Pickwickian sense. Japan will hold her islands until she is put out by some force more influential than Mr. Stimson's world opinion.

GOVERNMENT IN THE METROPOLITAN AREA.

The executive committee of the Suburban Area and County Towns Association of Cook County has a plan for coördination of police work. Gov. Horner has recommended consolidation of suburban police forces and the committee's plan seems to be intended to forestall consolidation, which the committee thinks would increase costs.

We are not prepared to say whether coördination can be expected to work well enough to obviate consolidation. There is some voluntary coöperation now, but conditions remain unsatisfactory. Some of the suburban police departments seem to be efficient, but under a system of local autonomy other suburbs have scandalously incompetent or corrupt police conditions, and, although their effects extend beyond the limits of the suburb which permits them, it seems impossible to get them corrected. Consolidation would permit a superior control in the interest of the general community.

In fact, one of the chief problems of government in Illinois is to reorganize the metropolitan region. The present situation is the result of the spontaneous growth of agencies of government in the many localities which were at first and for many years independent units or communities. This independence has been replaced by interdependence and close interrelation economically, politically or governmentally, and socially. Men and women live in one unit while doing business in another. Business overruns locality. Transportation is a web covering the whole region. This complex of interests and responsibilities is served by innumerable agencies which often overlap and unnecessarily duplicate, or, for lack of articulation, are collectively inefficient. Prof. Lepawsky of the University of Chicago, in his recently published study, "The Judicial System of Metropolitan Chicago," says that within a radius of fifty miles from State and Madison there are approximately eighteen hundred governments or taxing bodies. There are 556 independent courts in this area. "The metropolitan district, in spite of its concentrated, overflowing, mobile population, is still governed by a medley of local authorities established for a manorial and rural society."

This vast haphazard structure is and must be unnecessarily expensive and unnecessarily inefficient. No practical observers will expect or even wish it to be suddenly demolished and replaced by a planned new structure. That is not practicable and probably not desirable. But we must work toward it by degrees. Consolidations can be accomplished in matters which most clearly demand or justify consolidation. Simplification and coördination should follow the path of least resistance. Thus we can bring about the larger synthesis essential to government efficiency and economy.

It is opportune in this connection to call attention to the important enterprise initiated and carried on by the social science departments of the University of Chicago. Besides Prof. Lepawsky's valuable study of the metropolitan judicial system referred to above, surveys on population trends, geography, physiography, agriculture, and public health organization of the metropolitan district have already been published. Studies are now under way of governing units, police, education, water supply, political problems, public welfare, public finance, religion, recreation, industry, commerce, transportation, and newspaper circulation. Thus is being accumulated a body of information and of constructive suggestion which is essential to the intelligent public opinion required for reform and intelligent legislation.

Editorial of the Day

[Minneapolis Tribune.]

A legislature that meets the need for drastic economy squarely this year may well consider that it has met what is the first need of its constituency. To avoid the need for retrenchment is to avoid an all-important task, and the manner in which the governing bodies of the several states meet this issue is going to be taken as the measure of their responsiveness to a popular mandate. On that score the session of the North Dakota legislature, which has just closed, must be ranked high. Its economy record stands out as something unparalleled in the history of the state.

A reduction of almost 50 per cent was effected in the total appropriations for the coming biennium by the session just closed at Bismarck. The total of $8,500,000 appropriated in 1931 was cut to $4,500,000 this year, which means that state expenditures all down the line have been made to feel the economy ax. In bringing about so radical a swing in the appropriation pendulum it was inevitable that extreme measures should be employed and that in some instances the slashes should not have been as judicious as would be consistent with sound economy. Yet the legislature is convinced that nothing that is fundamental to government will suffer seriously as a result of its action.

With an average delinquency in tax payments of 25 per cent last year, the need for drastic economy was self-evident. That the legislature recognized the need and met it squarely must be placed to the credit of the leadership of Gov. William Langer and members of the legislature who were ready to sacrifice anything to keep the state's credit sound and to enable it to carry on its essential functions without hindrance. How firmly this objective had become fixed in the minds of the North Dakota legislators is suggested in the last minute enactment of the controversial sales tax, which the governor felt was a necessary step in order that a balanced budget might be a certainty. Amendment of the tax collection laws and a growing delinquency have made the revenues that will be derived from ad valorem taxes almost unpredictable and, even though the sales tax had been defeated three times previously, Gov. Langer insisted that it be made a part of the state's tax program.

It is the lesson in state economy, however, which North Dakota has furnished that compels attention. One legislature has shown that when the need and the desire for retrenchment is stronger than anything else, tax levies can be reduced and in a measure that will pay dividends in lower taxes. With an average delinquency in tax payments of 15 per cent obtaining in Minnesota last year our own legislature might well make inquiry into the methods employed by the North Dakota budget makers.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. By F. R.

AUSTRIA expresses great alarm over the possibility of Nazi or monarchist putsches. About everything else has happened in the last two or three weeks to the U. S. of A. except a putsch. We do hope we won't have a putsch; it sounds simply horrible. Or maybe we've had one and didn't know what the darned thing was.

KING CAROL of Rumania is accused of graft and President Machado of Cuba is charged with everything from robbing a hen roost to murder. It's hard to satisfy people in this world, but why wouldn't it be a good idea for Rumania and Cuba to exchange rulers? Would they be any happier? I doubt it, said the carpenter, and shed a salty tear.

PEARLS UPON A THREAD.

I string their names as pearls upon a thread,
The names of lovely women long since dead
Who kindle still the breasts of living men
That read of them and dream and read again—
The lonely Iseult in her Cornish tower,
Francesca learning under boughs in flower
How lips may stray, the "serpent of old Nile,"
And Sappho of the luminous sweet smile;

The sumptuous Sheba, grave Andromache,
Delilah, Guinevere, Penelope,
Scheherazade, the dark-eyed Shulamite,
And Judith in a hostile tent by night;
The gentle Ruth at work within a field;
Elaine, the wistful, burnishing a shield;
Lucrece and Helen of the golden head.

ADELAIDE LOVE.

WE'RE VERY GLAD, INDEED; as glad as anybody. But at the same time why must the headlines rub it in so hard? It's probably a good place to be in; oh, and indeed, a fine place and yet . . . We're always so pleased and happy when we get back to the old home—or the old school—or the old apple orchard and places like that. But honestly in spite of all the relief from sorrow and anxiety we have a pain in the neck at arriving back at Normalcy.

AN ENCOURAGING SIGN.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Already the effects of the new administration's policies are visible to trained observers here. Varying pronunciations of Mr. Roosevelt's name have been reduced to three.

WADVET WEBBER.

WE JUST KNEW it would happen. Several one hundred per cent Americans have written in violently upbraiding us for referring to "our President" as "F. D." That's been just the trouble with this country, we took our Presidents too seriously and they took the job too seriously. It wasn't G. Washington's fault, but with his sad, stern face and his tightly clinched jaws George established a terrible precedent. George kept his mouth shut in that aggressive, hard, unyielding way because he had a set of false teeth with strong springs at the back and they would snap his mouth open if he didn't keep a good strangle hold on 'em, but the one hundred per centers have never acknowledged that fact. They wanted a very serious, even a gloomy looking man for President. Nobody that ever smiled, in their estimation, was eligible for the office. But now there's a man in the White House with such a big personality, with such great popularity, with such amazing ability and energy that he is hailed by his own initials as well as by his title. It means a lot for Mr. Roosevelt that he is called "F. D." as well as "our President." It's a new era!

AREN'T WE ALL?

RHL: Encountering Our Mamie the other afternoon in the marts—or, more specifically speaking, ranging the aisles in the local jitney and dime emporium, I said, by way of opening a conversation: "Well, Mamie, what are you giving up this Lent?" Mamie turned to me with a wintry smile and replied: "Man, religion ain't got a thing to do with all the things I've giving up THIS year." I am still wondering what she meant.

JAZBO OF OLD DUBUQUE.

A CHICAGO WIFE is being sued for divorce because her husband alleges she broke an alarm clock over his head. A fond and loving wife should not do that; if the alarm clock is broken how can a lady know when to bounce something else off the bean of the sharer of her joys and sorrows?

THANKS, JUST THE SAME.

I hate to spend the night
In some one else's home,
When I have no toothbrush,
And didn't bring my comb;
I hate to wake up mornings
And not know where I am,
Then have to eat a breakfast
Of scrambled eggs, and ham;
I feel so lousy, later,
Without a change of clothes,
And no clean, folded hanky
On which to blow my nose;
I'm fond of people, evenings,
But in the morning—well,
Staying places over night
Is my idea of hell.
My friends are of the finest,
Their beds are of the best,
But just give me an army cot
At home, when I need rest.

HEATING BY STEAM.

THE advantages of steam in radiators as a means of heating are matters of common information. It is expensive to install the heating plant, but it is economical to operate. Steam heat has not been accused of being a coal eater. The fuel is burned in one place and its consumption can be regulated. Comparatively little heat is lost up the smokestack. At night, on warm days when the sun comes out or the wind dies down, the pressure in the radiators can be dropped.

The radiators can be placed where they will serve best—under the windows, near the doors, or, if the owner is of the group that saves ice by wrapping it before putting it in the ice box, he can have his radiators placed against inside walls.

Steam heating coils and pipes are nearly foolproof, do not get out of order readily, and last a long time.

There are disadvantages as well. The cost of installation is one. Another is the quality of the air in the heated room. It is apt to be too hot near the radiators and too cold in some other parts of the room.

Heat distribution is generally unsatisfactory. This can be overcome, in part at least, by the use of electric fans. A fan placed on the floor and throwing the cold air through the coils helps materially. The air is heated as it passes through the radiator and after that it strikes the hot wall and is deflected to various parts of the room. Another plan is to use ceiling fans to drive the hot air of the ceiling zone to the lower parts of the room. The best fan for this purpose is one that is movable and the blades of which can be tilted in any direction desired.

The grocers use electric fans to keep their windows free from frost and to maintain vegetables under just the conditions to prevent wilting and drying on the one hand and freezing on the other. The balance of us can learn from the food merchants.

Air treated by steam radiators is generally far too dry. By installing a pinwheel valve the room air can be moistened by steam blown from the coils. However, the sizzling noise is often objected to and the odor is complained of not infrequently. Janitors object to having the steam escape from the radiators because they say it increases the danger of blistered boilers and explosions.

DISCOURAGED.

Discouraged writes: What foods should one avoid in a case of acne? What place have cereals and dates in the diet of an acne victim? Which foods are beneficial in acne cure?

REPLY.

As a rule foods play a minor part in the causation and treatment of acne. Lack of cleanliness of the skin is far more important as a cause. Failure to empty the grease glands is an important cause. The influence of the sex hormones far outranks foods among the causes. It is customary to advise people with acne not to eat rich foods, highly seasoned foods and fats, at least not to eat them in any considerable quantities. This advice is usually vaguely given and it is even more loosely carried out. It may be well founded, but there is not much dependable evidence as to the correctness of the theory on which it is founded. Fats eaten and absorbed affect the fats in the body. That is proved by the effect on the lard of feeding soya beans to hogs. It should be possible to make the grease of the grease glands more liquid by changing the fats in the diet. If that secretion were more liquid the glands would empty better and there should be no acne. But practically very little has been done along this line.

BRAN IN HOT WATER.

E. L. H. writes: I am a woman past 80 and have been troubled with constipation since childhood. For some time I have been taking, both night and morning, a tablespoon of all bran in hot water. Do you approve of this, or will the constant use be irritating to the stomach or bowels?

REPLY.

Those with spastic colitis are generally made worse by eating bran. In some old people bran tends to pack in the large bowel.

With these exceptions, eating bran is helpful, especially in those prone to constipation. Bran contains cellulose which acts mechanically. It also contains ferments and minerals that act biologically and chemically

BANK STOCK.

Rockford, Ill., March 5.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I own six shares of stock in a small Wisconsin bank which has been closed for liquidation, providing they are not successful in reorganizing. This bank was reorganized in 1925, at which time I paid a 100 per cent assessment. 1. Can they legally assess me again on this same stock? 2. Can they legally prevent my having access to my safety vault box? 3. Can they prevent me from taking securities from this box? They ask depositors to waive 32 per cent of their deposits. 4. Can they legally take any share of the money I have on deposit without my permission?

E. P. D.

1. Yes.
2. In our opinion they have no more right to exclude you from your box than other persons, but they have the power to exclude you.
3. See 2.
4. Yes, under stockholders' liability.

SETTLING ESTATE.

Chicago, March 5.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A mother died five months ago, apparently leaving no will. 1. What action should be taken by four adult children regarding the property? 2. Can any one of these children appoint himself administrator? 3. What constitutes duties of such an administrator? As yet the estate has not been put through Probate court. 4. How is this done and is there any charge? There was an insurance policy paid to one of the children. 5. Should hospital, doctor and funeral expenses be paid out of this amount? As far as the three children [6] can determine there was no specified beneficiary to this policy. 7. Can this be investigated by them and information received, as the sister refuses to give them any information? M. H. L.

1. If the estate includes real estate, probate proceedings would be necessary in order to have a merchantable title.
2. No, in the sense that an administrator is appointed by the court on a petition properly filed.
3. Roughly to get the assets together, pay the creditors, distribute the proceeds, and render proper accountings to the court.
4. If you have had no experience with such matters it will probably be advisable for you to employ an attorney.
5. No, assuming that the insurance was payable to the person to whom the payment was made.
6. It seems probable that you are wrong, since otherwise the insurance company would not have paid as it did.
7. Try applying to the insurance company for information.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 14, 1917.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—To strike and have it over with before war with Germany comes. That is the plan mapped out by the four railroad brotherhood chiefs, who left Washington for New York, where they will deliver their threat of a general transportation strike to the carriers' conference committee, in the event that the renewed demands of the employés are rejected. Unless the railroad executives agree to put the Adamson law wage raise into effect at once the brotherhood presidents will threaten to call a progressive series of strikes on lines in different sections of the country beginning the night of March 17.

LONDON.—The British forced the Germans to abandon their main defensive system west of Bapaume. Gen. Gough's troops, their path cleared by an intense artillery bombardment, swept forward during the day along a front of three and one-half miles to a depth of a mile, capturing the village of Grevillers and the powerfully fortified Loupart wood and driving into the outskirts of Bapaume itself.

OTHER WAR NEWS.—Berlin reports the repulse of the British south of Arras. Berlin also reports an advance against the Russians on the Naraguvka river in Galicia and the capture of prisoners. London reports that British cavalry continues the advance in the Bagdad region and that they have occupied Kazimain, five miles above the ancient city. Vienna reports artillery duels and aircraft activity on the Italian front were livelier. Near Goritz enemy machine gun nests were destroyed. Berlin reports French battalions attacking German positions between Ochrida and Presba lakes on the Macedonian front were repulsed.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Unless Germany as a nation disavows the ruthless submarine orders of Jan. 31 against neutrals the administration made it clear today that armed guards on American merchant ships will not recognize any indication of friendliness or of adherence to international law from German submersibles encountered on the high seas. This frank declaration by the government, following official notification to the nations of the world yesterday that all merchant craft of the United States venturing into the barred zone would be armed for protection, carried with it the conviction that armed guards on such vessels would ignore signals from German submarine commanders for visit and search. It means unmistakably, officials of the government declared, that until the German government notifies the United States of a modification of its pronouncement against neutrals and agreeing to adhere to the international principle of visit and search American gunners will shoot the moment a lurking periscope appears.

NEW YORK.—Guns were placed on the American steamship Manchuria. It is an Atlantic Transport liner engaged in carrying freight to London and is the first American merchant vessel to be armed under government orders. No one was permitted near the piers of the company.

CHICAGO.—Chicago was practically isolated last night from telegraphic communication with the outside world. The storm which began with snow two days ago and changed into rain yesterday was general throughout the east and west and most of the telegraph wires leading into the city were reported down.

THE JOY OF RIVERS.

Chicago, March 10.—THE TRIBUNE editorial of March 9 captioned "The Forgotten Joy of Rivers" was much appreciated. Chicago yachtsmen are grateful for THE TRIBUNE'S sponsorship of waterway improvement. The opening of the gulf waterway is also an event of great interest to the owners of motor boats on the great lakes and in the Mississippi valley. Many owners of motor cruisers in the valley cities, such as Peoria, St. Louis, etc., have already signified their intention of visiting the World's Fair via the water route. The opening to navigation of the Illinois and Des Plaines rivers above Starved Rock, the so-called "missing link," has increased the cruising radius of power yachts on the great lakes by thousands of miles of inland waterways of unsurpassable scenic beauty having a low water depth of 9 feet. The channels are well marked by the United States lighthouse department, thus making navigation by the novice absolutely safe. Complete sailing charts of the Illinois waterway are available at the United States engineer office in Chicago for 50 cents; light lists covering the Illinois, Mississippi, and tributary rivers may be secured at small cost from the superintendent of documents, Washington, D. C. Owners of cruising motor boats in Chicagoland appreciate the opening of the Illinois waterway and promise to make extensive use of it. It will be dedicated in June by appropriate ceremonies, including a marine parade in which Chicago yachtsmen will participate in great numbers.

There is no safer or greater health giving recreation than cruising by motor boat. We are hopeful that with the expected increase in the number of Chicago owned pleasure boats the local authorities will see the wisdom of providing the necessary anchorage facilities now so sadly lacking. G. W. SCHAEFFER, Chairman, Waterways Committee, Lake Michigan Yachting Association.

A LITERARY WAR.

Chicago, March 8.—Why not conduct in your newspaper a column entitled "How to End the Depression," in which those with suggestions for overcoming this gigantic evil may make public their ideas?

Let us declare a literary war on the depression. True, action is needed now, but remember thought precedes every action of consequence; therefore, to act wisely and surely much clear, rationalistic thinking is required first of all.

Every man's livelihood and happiness are at stake during this universal calamity, so let's all fight it like real Americans! G. BINDER.

APPROPRIATE MUSIC.

Chicago, March 7.—May I have a little space in your column to extend a word of thanks and appreciation to the staff of W-G-N and especially to Russ Russell and Leonard Salvo for the pleasing and considerate way in which they presented the musical program during the last remaining hours of Mayor Cermak?

LOUIS B. SCULLY.

THINGS ARE LOOKING UP.

Eupora, Miss., March 6.—Saturday, 72 years ago, I heard Abraham Lincoln take the oath of office in Washington when he was sworn in as the sixteenth President on March 4, 1861. Saturday I traveled more than 100 miles in a car over well paved concrete roads and stopped at noon at a filling station over a thousand miles from Washington to hear Franklin Delano Roosevelt take the same oath, over the radio.

At 81 I'm living in the best time of all my long and eventful life. The present, in spite of the criticism and the depression, is the most progressive era of the world's history. Today there's more Christian brotherhood, more worth while education, more liberty of thought and action, and more human sympathy for the poor and needy than has ever existed before. The puritanical shackles have been struck from the wrists and ankles of woman, and she is successfully filling every sphere of business and every field of thought, the equal of man and in many instances his superior.

Children are better cared for and better educated than at any time in the past. Homes are more sanitary and the health of the rank and file of the nation is the best in its history. Comforts such as kings did not command three hundred years ago are the common heritage of the common laborer and the artisan alike.

I would like to live the next 72 years, for those coming 72 years are to be greater and better than the 72 that ended last Saturday. JIM WALTON.

THE GOVERNMENT AS BANKER.

Chicago, March 7.—With the government exclusively in the banking business, confidence would be restored immediately. Hoarding would stop and hoarded money would again circulate freely. Interest rates on commercial borrowing could be reduced, which would stimulate business, and the government would still make a profit and increase our now depleted income. Government owned banks would make our financial institutions and economic system as impregnable as the nation itself, strike a final death blow to the soviet plan of world revolution, and prevent abuse and mishandling of our nation's lifeblood. P. A. GOLLNICK.

THE ADVANCING TAX RATES.

Chicago, March 5.—Your fight for the high taxes on real estate in Cook county is certainly appreciated by us taxpayers. Very little is gained by reducing the valuations when the tax rates go up sky high. For instance, for us living in Jefferson Park, the Albany Park district rate has been increased to 52 cents per $100. Although I spoke to many residents, nobody seems to know definitely where such an imaginary park is situated that should cost such an enormous amount for upkeep, when our large and fine forest preserves rate is only 11 cents.

EUROPE JUMPY; DANGER OF WAR SEEN IN 2 SPOTS

M'Donald May Pay Peace Visit to Mussolini.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 13.—Not since 1914 has Europe been so jumpy as today. Every chancellery on the continent is watching closely the moves being made at Geneva in an effort to save the disarmament conference, and the happenings in Germany, Italy, and France.

The two obvious danger spots today are the Danzig corridor (the free city of Danzig and the Polish province of Pomorze between Prussia and East Prussia) and the demilitarized Rhineland zone. (The Saar basin, next to France, which is under a league of nations commissioner, is located in the Rhineland.) An eminent British diplomat today said the Rhineland situation is most dangerous.

French in a Panic.

The French are in a panic over the occupation by Nazi storm troop detachments of Kehl, Cologne, and Speyer, all in the Rhineland district. The French claim this is a violation of the Versailles treaty, which forbids the maintenance of armed forces in the demilitarized zone and limits the number of police. The question to be decided by the powers is whether the Nazis are soldiers or special police, and, if the latter, whether the police allowance has been exceeded.

The Poles are equally in a panic over developments in Germany. On either frontier a trifling incident might provoke a war, observers say.

British diplomats say the key to the situation is held by Italy, which means Mussolini, and it is significant that there is talk at Geneva of Prime Minister MacDonald making a special trip to Italy to talk to Il Duce. Italy is demanding naval parity with France, which France refuses on the ground that it would mean inferiority for her in the Mediterranean. At the same time Italy fully realizes that geography and history compel her to be on good terms with Great Britain.

Must Take British Orders.

With Great Britain supporting France in the Mediterranean, Italy's fleet could be scuppered, and while Italy may from time to time have "affaires" with Germany, Hungary, and others, she must in the long run return to her old home and take orders from Great Britain.

Britain's whole desire now is to keep peace in Europe, and she is determined to throw all her weight against disturbers. The danger is that this policy may involve her unwillingly in more than she has bargained for. MacDonald, however, is definitely a pacifist and he is relied on not to exceed the weapons of diplomacy in his efforts to prevent trouble.

France Drafts Protest.

PARIS, March 13.—(AP)—Occupation of the demilitarized Rhineland by Chancellor Hitler's German Nazis will be protested by the French government.

French officials say that the entire Rhineland police has been doubled and placed under Nazi control since Hitler became chancellor and that the customs officers on the French and Swiss frontiers have been augmented. They consider these moves to be violations of the treaty of Versailles and of police regulations formulated later.

Officials say Germany agreed, first, to recruit police locally under command of the provincial authorities; second, not to reinforce the police by auxiliaries; and third, that specifically the Rhineland police were not to be increased.

The protest will be delivered shortly by Andre François-Poncet, the French ambassador at Berlin.

WAR SPARKS FLY IN EUROPE

European chancelleries are worried over a series of ominous events in several parts of the continent, which, it is feared, may lead to a new great war. The heavily barred areas on the map are considered the two greatest danger spots in Europe today. The map shows:

[1] The Saar basin, former German territory now under a league of nations commissioner, where a plebiscite is to be held in 1935 to determine whether it shall be under under French or German rule.

[2] The Rhineland, where France charges Chancellor Hitler of Germany has violated the Versailles treaty by stationing armed forces. The treaty provides that the Rhineland shall remain demilitarized.

[3] The Polish province of Pomorze, the "corridor" which separates Germany from East Prussia, also German. Germany is agitating for a revision of the eastern frontier so as to reunite the nation.

[4] The Free City of Danzig, also under a league commissioner, where Poland has reinforced its guards. The commissioner charges this was a violation of treaty engagements guaranteeing the city's freedom. Poland refuses to withdraw the reinforcements.

U. S. HIGH COURT O. K.'S JAIL FOR WOMAN JUROR

Washington, D. C., March 13.—[Special.]—The Supreme court today upheld the conviction of Mrs. Genevieve A. Clark on charges of criminal contempt growing out of her service as a juror in the Foshay mail fraud trial in Minneapolis, Minn. The decision was rendered by Justice Benjamin Cardoza and was concurred in by the entire membership of the court.

Mrs. Clark was found guilty of contempt, fined $1,000 and sentenced to six months in jail, after she had held out for acquittal of Foshay against verdicts of guilty rendered by her fellow jurors, all men. It was developed in her trial that she had been an employé of Foshay.

Reviewing the points made in the argument before the court, Justice Cardoza said with reference to Mrs. Clark's conduct in assuming a jury post in the case:

"There was concealment by the petitioner, and that willful and deliberate. There was positive misstatement."

"While the trial was still in progress," continued Justice Cardoza in his decision, "she argued with her fellow jurors that Foshay was a hapless victim of circumstances too strong for him, and went outside the evidence, quoting statements in a newspaper to win them to her view."

ERICKSON GOES TO U. S. SENATE FROM MONTANA

Helena, Mont., March 13.—(AP)—Gov. John E. Erickson resigned late today, to become the successor to the late Thomas J. Walsh in the United States senate. Frank H. Cooney, lieutenant governor, becomes the chief executive of Montana.

Gov. Erickson last November was elected to a third successive term as the state's chief executive and began his ninth year Jan. 1. Born March 14, 1863, in Stoughton, Wis., Gov. Erickson received his early education in the rural schools near his father's farm. He continued his education at Washburn college, from which he was graduated in 1890. The following year he was admitted to the bar of Wisconsin.

Dr. Hirsch said Balakhofsky recently found that by the addition to blood of minute quantites of chemicals, notably magnesium sulphate, its coagulation is inhibited, thus making it possible to have blood of any category desired ready for transfusions.

Experiments have shown that blood thus prepared remained uncoagulated for twenty days, he said, and actually blood sent from Moscow was successfully employed in a transfusion in Tiflis. It was also found that such blood caused less reaction than an arm to arm transfusion. Blood taken from a man who died in an accident thus preserved was used for later transfusion to patients in the same blood category.

JAPAN BLOCKED BY CHINESE ARMY AT GREAT WALL

TIENTSIN, China, March 13.—Stubborn Chinese resistance south of Hsifengkow pass in the Great Wall, which already has cost more Japanese killed and wounded than the entire rest of the Jehol campaign, is causing much uneasiness in Japanese circles. It was announced today that if the Chinese resistance continues it will force the Japanese command "to make a most important decision." This obviously is a threat to invade south China proper south of the Great Wall.

According to Japanese admissions, they are now outnumbered at Hsifengkow by more than ten to one by the Chinese, whose forces exceed 10,000. Moreover, Japanese observers report the arrival at the Chinese lines of continuous reinforcements of men, munitions, and artillery.

Although the Japanese forces hold Hsifengkow pass, it was captured only after the severest fighting. More than 500 Chinese corpses have been found, many of them boys in their early teens.

In the Koupeikow region the main body of Chinese troops has retreated southward to Miyuan, but about 3,000 Chinese remain ambushed in a semicircle south of the pass continuously harrassing the Japanese, whose airplanes have thus far been ineffective in dislodging them.

The capture of Koupeikow was also at the cost of many lives. The Chinese casualties are placed at about 5,000 dead.

Japs Present New Ultimatum.

TIENTSIN, China, March 13.—(AP)—A third Japanese protest to China today intensified apprehension in Chinese circles that the Japanese forces will move south of the Great Wall and attack Tientsin.

While it is understood that the protest does not set any time limit, it is sharp in tone and insists that the presence of Chinese troops in Tientsin, as well as the trenches which have been dug near Taku, violate the Boxer protocol and endanger the safety of communications by river with Tientsin. The Chinese believe the protests heralds an ultimatum.

Japanese sources report the arrival of a Japanese squadron at the bar of Taku, which is on the gulf of Chihli about 25 miles east of Tientsin. A small party of officers and men went ashore by motorboat, but there was no incident, although the populace was agitated.

Chinese officials declare that in the event of an attempted seizure of Tientsin, they will resist. Provincial government archives have been transferred from Tientsin to Paotingfu by order of Marshal Chiang Kai-Shek, Chinese dictator, who has taken personal charge of the armies in the north. Various other precautions have been taken, including the construction of pontoon bridges to augment the existing bridges connecting Tientsin and its suburbs.

BOY FLYER LOSES AFRICAN AIR RACE; IS FORCED DOWN

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, March 13.—(AP)—After giving his friends a worrisome day by disappearing just as he seemed about to beat the England to Cape Town airplane record, Victor Smith, young South African flyer, was found unhurt late this afternoon at Van Rhyns Dorp, 200 miles north of Cape Town. The flyer had hoped to beat Amy Johnson's record for the flight.

Smith said he ran into fog and then met high adverse winds and his gasoline giving out, he was obliged to land when almost in sight of his goal.

Two pervious attempts at this same flight by Smith have ended in failure. To beat the record he should have reached Cape Town at 9 a. m. today.

ROOSEVELT WILL HELP LEAGUE ON SINO-JAP DISPUTE

Washington, D. C., March 13.—(AP)—The American government has accepted an invitation to coöperate with the league of nations advisory committee on the Sino-Japanese controversy.

The league some time ago requested the United States to coöperate with its committee of twenty-one members on the subject and the state department disclosed today that the Roosevelt administration has replied. While details of the reply were not immediately made known, it was learned that the invitation had been accepted.

The action means that the United States will continue to work with the league in its efforts for peace in the far east on much the same terms as the Hoover administration did. Not being a member of the league, the United States cannot serve as a member of a league committee, and was not invited to do so, but can coöperate with it.

League Ponders Arms Embargo.

GENEVA, March 13.—(AP)—The committee of 21 of the league of nations assembly will meet tomorrow or the next day to consider the question of an arms embargo against Japan.

Meantime, meetings of the major committees of the world disarmament conference scheduled for tomorrow and Wednesday have been cancelled so that the league committee and others may meet. Private conversations are still in progress by Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain, but the deadlock between the views of France and Germany remains unbroken. In this series of conferences there has been some discussion of adjourning the conference, but a basis of agreement on the terms of adjournment has not been found.

The Germans oppose halting the conference without some practical application of the principle of equality through reduction of armament in the states at present armed. The French insist just as vigorously that there must be a provision for international supervision of disarmament and some guarantee against German rearmament before adjourning.

Britain Withdraws Embargo.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 13.—Stanley Baldwin, lord privy seal and president of the council, announced in the house of commons that Great Britain has withdrawn the embargo on export of arms to Japan and China which was imposed on Feb. 27.

It's always easier—and surer—to know a market from the inside-out rather than the outside-in.

Come to Cleveland any business day. Stand in any of Cleveland's metropolitan department stores. Take more than a second look at the shoppers. You will find they come, not only from the preferred sections of Cleveland, but from the many above-average cities that make up the triple million Cleveland Compact market.

Just as the Cleveland market is unique in its compactness, so is it unusually easy to sell because it is so completely covered by the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Both morning and Sunday, the Plain Dealer holds the great Cleveland market entirely to itself. There is no duplication "to be figured in" when you plan your Cleveland advertising.

There is no guesswork about it. Research after research, by manufacturers, merchants and independent authorities, repeatedly proves that the Plain Dealer parallels the buying power throughout the entire, triple-million, compact Cleveland market. The definite Cleveland facts are always available for every executive to sell Cleveland as it should be sold. Why not write or wire for them now?

New Costume Bracelets to Win Shoppers

Have Initialed Discs for Identification Rage.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Costume knick-knacks, the sort of colorful things that are welcomed each week with a never failing regularity, consist usually of good looking costume jewelry gadgets. Among them are bracelets, and this time it's the new identification bracelets that are neat, new, noiseless, and quite a bit different. There are two varieties . . . the sports bracelet, made of a glittering chromium disc attached to leather straps.

This disc is wide and visible anywhere . . . it must have been designed for temporarily knocked out combatants in any sort of a game, for any victim could be identified at one glance as the initials or telephone number or address can be engraved so that a half blind person could find out the necessary data at one glance. Some similar bracelets have these flat initialed discs covering a hideout for powder and a bit of a puff, to care for a shiny nose, in the midst of a golf or tennis game.

Very flat oval discs, also of chromium, are held by colored silk cord for the other model . . . clever well designed, slim, smart bracelets, also ready to be inscribed with the owner's initials and these are the identification bracelets a fashion wise bridge enthusiast probably will wear. You can buy bright red, blue, beige, black, and brown cords fitted with chromium or silver discs and a three letter monogram can be engraved for a very small sum.

Another good excuse to spend some money is the good old excuse of new hosiery shades . . . here are a few hints as to what the sock conscious gal is told. With your new grays you are supposed to wear black pumps, beige gloves and a blac': hat and handbag, so the hosiery makers insist that you match your gloves and socks. Thus you are presented with grand collections of new beige and sun tan colors, with as many trick new names as a new shipment of sleeping cars. The very new shade is a nutty one, called pecan, it is tan, with a gray cast . . . a great shade for gray, black, brown, blue and any other dress color; in fact, it is so near perfect as a good neutral shade for all spring and summer wardrobes that you might stick to it for the coming season.

Another neutral color is called rain, and it is gray, a typically raindrop gray, a good darkish color for many dress and suit shades. Both of these colors can go places day and night with gray, red, all solid spring shades as well as in company with gay striped sheer woolens. They are two printed frocks and smart tweeds and splendid beginning tones for the stocking shopper. Others will be listed as they prove themselves as fashion contrasts.

If you haven't had the pleasure of owning a mending kit for your hosiery collections, now is the time to buy and mend your own . . . you can buy small compact kits all zippered in a flat box, holding twelve shades of thread, needles and a thimble, enough mending supplies to keep every pair you own in perfect condition. Very small slim rolls of matching thread in six different shades are available for the corner of your handbag, ready for emergency performances. They are something every one should carry and the price stickers are ridiculously low for such splendid first aid benefits.

Getting Some Late Winter Sunshine

Johnny is big enough to walk on warmer days beside the perambulator of his baby brother, who will be a year old on the 21st of this month, but on very cold days he takes his fresh air and sunshine in a carriage, too. Johnny is almost three and considers himself a very big boy, indeed.

Mrs. Roosevelt Plans Simple Social Regime

Decides There'll Be Few Formal Parties.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 13.—[Special.]—Society is going to be spelled with a small "s" at the White House this spring.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, the lady who's going to do the spelling, made that very clear today when she held her weekly press conference with the newspaper women, up in her second floor sitting room at the executive mansion.

Even though these are plain times, they can be pleasant times, she believes. That is why she intends to continue her custom of simple, often spontaneous, hospitality at luncheons, teas, and dinners. But she is scratching a blue pencil through any formal entertainment that is on the social calendar. Better frequent, informal gatherings, than infrequent, formal affairs, is the formula to be followed at the White House.

In other words, and these are her words:

"I met with the wives of the cabinet members and we decided that, because of the conditions at the present time, none of us cared to have any more formal social functions than were absolutely necessary. We all realize that now is not the time to think about things like that. We all felt that this is not the time when much money should be spent on, shall we say, a purely social show.

"We all realize it is necessary for people to meet socially and get to know each other; but we decided that as far as formal social things were concerned, we would do as little as possible."

Accordingly, the "cabinet wives" will not hold Wednesday sacred for the traditional at-home; not until autumn, at least. For the present, these ladies will lead ordinary lives, attend no formal meetings at the White House, but will be free to run in for a cup of tea whenever they want to have a chat with the wife of their husbands' chief.

Two big events only remain on the spring calendar: The Easter Monday egg rolling on the White House lawn for all the children in Washington; the garden party for the disabled veterans.

From talk of parties the conversation went quickly to queries about food and economy. Mrs. Roosevelt has reduced the White House staff from 32 to 23; is gratified that many of the ones removed did not lose their jobs, but were merely transferred back to the government department from which they had been specially detailed to the White House.

As for food, the mistress of the White House is anxious to use the same caution and concern over the budget which, she believes, the average American housewife is today using.

Her own breakfast, which she has at half-past eight, consists of orange juice, toast, and coffee. From it she goes to talk to the housekeeper; then to her study to the 250 or 300 letters that come daily to her desk. After that?

Is she tired? Not a bit of it, she insists. This White House régime, she reckons, may give her more leisure than the old schedule of teaching school three mornings a week.

In Badminton Tourney

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan D. McClure will be among the Genevans driving northeast to Winnetka next Sunday in a badminton tournament, the second of the sort to be held this season between the north shore and Fox river valley players. Winnetka won six out of seven matches in the first tournament, played in Geneva, but the Fox river valley residents hope to redeem themselves in Winnetka. Mrs. McClure is the former Louisa Olcott of Albany, N. Y., and Mr. McClure is a son of the late Dr. James G. L. McClure and Mrs. McClure of Lake Forest.

McFadden Rite to Be Simple Church Affair

BY JUDITH CASS.

It is for reasons of sentiment that Miss Marion McFadden has chosen to become Mrs. James Pickrell Hume in Greenwich, Conn., instead of here in Chicago, where she and her mother, Mrs. Parmalee J. McFadden, live at 219 Lake Shore drive. The McFaddens lived there for twenty-five years and Marion was born there and lived there for ten or twelve years.

The ceremony is to be performed Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Round Hill church, about five miles out of Greenwich, and the service will be read by the Rev. Dr. George M. Thompson, rector emeritus of Christ church, Greenwich, where the McFaddens used to worship. Dr. Thompson is a very dear friend of the McFaddens as well as their former rector.

In keeping with the simplicity that Miss McFadden wants to characterize her wedding, she will be married in the traveling suit she is to wear when she and her husband leave for their honeymoon, and there will be no decorations, no attendants and no guests except the immediate families.

Miss Frances McFadden, the second of Mrs. McFadden's three attractive daughters, will go to Greenwich from New York, where she is an editor of a smart magazine, for the ceremony, and Eleanore, the eldest, and her husband, Edward P. Lay, who live on a farm in Westchester county, between Greenwich and Mount Kisco, also will be there.

T. D. Healy Engaged to New York Girl

Society is interested today in the announcement being made in New York of the engagement of Miss Sylvia Beinecke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Beinecke of the Plaza hotel, New York, to Thomas Dodd Healy, son of Mrs. Thomas J. Healy of 5039 Ellis avenue. Miss Beinecke was graduated from Miss Bennett's school at Millbrook, N. Y., and presented to New York society in 1930. She is a member of the Gotham Jun-

West Pointers Stretch to Keep Fine Posture

Straight Spinal Column Is Basis of Exercises.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

In the West Point manual of physical training, proper and correct posture is referred to as "exerting the traditonal psychological influence that inspires the cultivation of smartness, neatness, poise, and pride in personal appearance." An influence as keenly inspirational outside of army circles as in. As effective with women as with men.

As announced yesterday, today we begin our series of exercises arranged through the courtesy and cooperation of the United States Military academy at West Point. Object: To improve the posture of every grown man, woman, or small boy and girl; to build stronger, better, and more beautiful bodies; to eliminate fat from overweighted hips and waists; to exert that very "traditional influence that inspires smartness, neatness, poise, and pride of bearing."

This series is for the entire family. We urge you make a game of it. Everybody get in on it! Mom, Dad, and the youngsters. Dad, if you're slowing up a bit, thickening around the mid-sector, feeling "down," here's your chance. Mother's, too! It's an opportunity for you parents to get your small boys' and girls' feet [and spines] set in the right direction. As for you grownup boys and girls, here's your chance to get a little more of a West Pointer's smartness into your bearing.

I think the most valuable feature of this West Point series is the attack on the spinal column first. As Maj. Rayner, director of gymnastics at West Point, showed in yesterday's illustration, the spine is the root, so to speak, of our posture and physical unfitness troubles.

Get the spine muscles stretched and straightened and the rest of the body must arrange itself rightly. Maj. Rayner likens the spine treatment to taking a gnarled and crooked stick, anchoring it in the ground and stretching it up straight.

Throughout this series we're going to do a lot of work getting the spine to act, look, and be all a spinal column should be. Right away we start in with a stretching exercise to straighten this back column on which so much depends.

Straighten Back

b. Raise the arms forward, upward, overhead to the fullest extent, stretching the entire body upward, inhaling as the arms move upward, rising on the toes.

c. Lower the arms to the sides of the body forcibly, exhaling as they move downward and keeping the entire body stretched. Chest up, abdominal muscles stretched, weight mostly on the balls of the feet, head up, chin level.

Good morning!

Scenic authenticity hath charms. Miss Swanson's current, foreign made product, "Perfect Understanding," has scenic authenticity. Therefore it's not the complete flop it might have been otherwise.

Notwithstanding the invigorating views of Cannes harbor, etc.; notwithstanding the fact that the film offers a panting public the opportunity of viewing Gloria's spouse, Mr. Michael Farmer, this picture is a tame number. It leans limply against the old triangle plot and has nothing new to offer in the way of treatment, dialogue, or entertainment.

Miss Swanson, as an American girl, falls in love with Laurence Olivier, an Englishman. In order that their marriage may survive the rocks of daily dullness the two draw up an agreement that they shall always be "lover and mistress; never husband and wife." Each is to have complete liberty and there are to be no questionings and jealousy.

Well, you know how all that works out. . . .

The photographer has not done well for the star and neither her costumes nor coiffure are up to the customary Swanson standard.

I imagine that acting and direction are quite the best that could have been wrung from the antique and tasteless fruit of the story.

Studios Agree with Workers on Salary Cuts

Hollywood, Cal., March 13.—[Special.]—A dispute between the motion picture producers and their studio employés was brought to an end tonight after a one day production shutdown n Hollywood's film plants when a meeting between producers and representatives of the employés agreed on an acceptable scale of salary reductions.

Under the agreement no studio employés drawing $50 a week or less will be included in the salary cut. All the cuts will remain in effect only during the time required for the studio producers, as a body, to invoke arbitration of their attempt to induce labor unions of studio craftsmen to accept cuts from their contracted wage scale. The conferences will begin in New York, where offices of the heads of the international studio unions are located, within the next few weeks.

The new wage scale provides that all employés drawing between $50 and $75 a week shall be cut 25 per cent, with a minimum of $50, and that those making between $75 and $100 shall be cut 35 per cent, with minimum of $65. Stars, directors, writers, and studio executives drawing more than $100 will accept 50 per cent salary cuts. The compact was agreed to on behalf of the unorganized employés by the Motion Picture academy whose committee had been authorized to act for the workers.

MINUTE MYSTERY CAN YOU SOLVE IT?

BY H. A. RIDLEY

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

ON THE SPOT.

Prof. Fordney elbowed his way through the crowd gathered in front of the narrow cul-de-sac between two buildings. He took only a few hurried steps into the passageway and suddenly stopped as his foot brushed against a head. His flashlight disclosed a man, lying face down, stretched full length, one arm pinned beneath him. Turning him over he recognized "Snipe" Morrisey, notorious gangster. A glance at the end of the alley showed no light over the door of Heinie's "restaurant."

"Say," remarked a bystander anxious to offer information, "I was standing across the street a few minutes ago and I saw 'Snipe' jump from a car and run in here. Then I saw another guy sneak out of that building on the left. He must have plugged 'Snipe' 'cause there wasn't anyone else around. Had a silencer on his rod I guess. I didn't hear no shot."

"That's probable," agreed Fordney with a nod to Inspector Kelley to keep an eye on his informer. Leaving the homicide squad to their routine he walked to Heinie's. Though the place was in darkness it was soon opened and the professor admitted through the only door opening onto the alley.

"I tell you I don't know nothing about it," insisted Heinie in reply to Fordney's inquiries. "Ain't seen 'Snipe' in a month."

Opening the door he called to Kelley, "Bring that witness down here, inspector. You'd better talk fast, Heinie!"

HOW DID THE PROFESSOR KNOW "SNIPE" HAD BEEN SHOT FROM HEINIE'S?

The Changeling Bride

By Martha Ostenso

SYNOPSIS.

The Hendersons—Meryl and Margaret, sisters, Flint, their older brother, and Andrew, the father—have lived for twelve years in poverty in a fishing settlement on the shores of Lake Superior, after losing their fortune in Chicago. Andrew went to pieces after the death of his wife. Great-Aunt Letitia is the liaison between the Hendersons and a cultured past. Flint and his friend, Ned Bremner, hope to build up a great export business. Ned is in love with Meryl, but she dreams of a better future.

INSTALLMENT II.

AN UNFAVORED SUITOR.

Flint's feeling for Ned, simple and frightening in its simplicity, filled Meryl with mistrust. He had not as yet declared himself in so many words, but she knew that his diffidence would vanish at a sign from her. Poverty, being a mutual condition, would not deter him, once she permitted him to see that she was stirred by the breadth of his shoulders and by the blue intensity of his eyes when he looked at her.

The day when she had first known that Ned Bremner imperiled the bright though undefined future which had adorned her imaginings since her little girlhood, was especially memorable to her. Ned had been at work with his father on the completing of their cottage, at a distance from the Henderson place which Flint described as "one long whistle down the wind." Meryl had gone over with Flint and had found Yvonne Benoit, the French trader's daughter, perched sociably on a pile of lumber, quite as though she intended to stay indefinitely. Yvonne, with her dark eyes and her roguish mouth, was making a frank bid for Ned's interest. An emotion which was not pleasant had stung Meryl at that observation. Her fear of Ned had been born in that moment.

That had been a raw spring day, with wind and spindrift and sullen cloud-rack, with surf that thundered unforgettably against the rocks on the point, and with the vast, bleak and penetrating smell of the lake. A week later the sunlight on the lake shore had become pithy and sweet with the scent of choke-cherry blossoms and wild plum—and then the summer, its hot, languorous days standing spellbound between the infinite and the eternal, between air and water. But the biting memory of that day in spring had remained.

She knew now, as she had known then, that she was not a fit mate for Ned Bremner. She could never capitulate to a physical impulse which would tie her forever to a fisherman's cottage on Lake Superior, to the mending of nets and the dreary, ever-hopeful bargaining for a quarter of a cent more per pound for herring.

Only once, in a moment of romantic heedlessness, had she ignored that inner resolution—and she thought of that moment with shame. There had been a night in June, a night of warm stars and black, still water. She and Ned had walked home from a dance at the house of Peter Hrdlecka, the Finn, a mile up the bush road. On the rocky beach, Meryl, undone by the night and Ned's nearness, had suddenly flung her arms about him and kissed him. The effect had been, for a moment, obscurely alarming. Ned had gone still as death. But then Meryl had laughed and slipped her arm gayly through his as they continued once more toward home. "Don't take me so seriously," Ned," she had admonished him, but he had been strangely silent. In the morning she had been uneasily penitent, and although the soleman Ned had chivalrously made no reference to the incident, she was from that time forward demurely casual in her conduct with him.

She had been silent for a long time, her eyes fixed upon the southern horizon where the black hulk of an ore freighter had come into view.

"Well," she said at last, "Ned hasn't proposed to me yet, Flinty. He'll probably surprise us and elope with Yvonne. She's dotty about him, and she'd make him a good wife, too."

Flint scowled down at the water and looked suddenly as though he were in acute distress. "Shucks!" he burst out. "Girls are a hot lot! Why don't you know your own mind?"

"Why—I know my own mind on——"

"You act as though you didn't know it was all set between you and Ned. Darn it, he told me to keep mum about it—but he's been saving his money to buy you a ring!"

Meryl's hands gripped the sides of the dory as the ancient craft swerved at a rude angle. In her amazement at Flint's disclosure the gesture was involuntary.

"Flint," she said soberly, "you should have told me before. How long has he been saving his money—for that?"

Flint made a humorous grimace which was meant to express his distaste of the subject. Privately, he believed that any man who could fall in love with a girl who sat by the hour on the sod roof of the vegetable cellar and wrote poetry was not to be trusted. There was something gravely irregular in such a man's mental processes.

"He has no right to think he can buy me a ring," she cried stormily. "You should have told him so."

Flint looked out over the water with a lofty expression which on any other occasion would have been comic. "It's none of my business if he wants to make a fool of himself. And if you had any sense, you ought to feel flattered."

A pall came over Meryl's spirit as she realized that what Flint said was, essentially, true. After all, what was she, apart from her own unaccountable sense of importance in her own being? Great-Aunt Letty had informed her in her spacious and genteelly vague manner, that she was well bred, and that it was nothing short of a cataclysm that the Hendersons should have come to such a pass. But Meryl was the daughter of a man who had always been a dreamer. There had been no fight left in him after the death of his wife and the failure of his business and his health. He had even been secretly relieved to vanish from the troublous world into this hide-away on Lake Superior, from which, Meryl honestly believed, no sudden turn of fortune could now ever pry him. After a public schooling at Agate Bay, the Henderson children had learned Latin and Greek and French from Aunt Letitia, who had been dean of a girls' school in Ohio before she had gallantly and rather unnecessarily given up her position to follow her only nephew into what she called "the wilds." Their father had patiently and not very successfully endeavored to inculcate in them some idea of higher mathematics; but in the dulcet byways of literature he had shone, especially to Meryl, like an unearthly radiance. Poor Dad, Meryl thought. He had stepped out into the world on the wrong foot. And as a consequence, she, his daughter, had never been encouraged to learn the rudiments of anything that might make her self-supporting. "This simple life!" Andrew Henderson would murmer. "It's the only life!" And so—an offer of marriage from Ned Bremner should be flattering to her.

She had sat quiet for a long time, her eyes fixed upon the southern horizon where the black hulk of an ore freighter had come into view.

"Well," she said at last, "Ned hasn't proposed to me yet, Flinty. He'll probably surprise us and elope with Yvonne. She's dotty about him, and she'd make him a good wife, too."

She had sat quiet for a long time, looking out upon the darkening east, lost in her thoughts. Suddenly, as though in dismissal of a vexing problem, she threw back her head and took a deep breath. Then she breathed again, quickly, shallowly, experimentally. Her senses were at once alert, stimulated to a sudden fear by a scent of the wind.

"Flinty!" she exclaimed. "I smell smoke!"

"Smoke? Aw—go on! Those fires are way down by Fingard." He was derisive, but he sharpened his nostrils, nevertheless, to a condescending sniff. "By gosh!" he cried. "I believe you're right!"

German Star Fond of Men of America

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., March 13.—[Special.]—After the way the American girls in Hollywood have been doing the rave over foreign actors, and boosting the art of hand kissing, it is refreshing to report that Wera Engels, recently arrived German beauty, says: "American men, ach! They kiss first and ask questions afterward. They understand that most girls like the kiss after they get it, whether they wanted it or not."

It took the assembling of M.-G.-M.'s English cast of Elisabeth Allen, Benita Hume, George K. Arthur and others, engaged in filming "Service" to reveal that the author of that story hit, named as C. L. Anthony, really is a woman who worked in a furniture store, and her real name is Agnes Dodo. Diana Wynyard, who works at M.-G.-M. also, knows Mrs. Dodo.

Short wave earth-to-sky broadcast was used for the first time in picture history in the scenes for Paramount's "Eagle and the Hawk," in which Fredric March, as the ace flyer, and Cary Grant, as his machine gunner, were in the air for war scenes. The plane really was piloted by "Boots" Boutellier, war aviator and now a movie technical director. The studio had to rent the short wave apparatus which is officially listed by the government as station W-10-XE for the film scenes. It was an ultra high frequency short wave set with maximum range of ten miles.

Eugene Thackeray, former White House correspondent for the New York World, was engaged as technical expert for M.-G.-M.'s film, "Gabriel Over the White House," which has been setting the local preview critics into spasms.

When time came to shoot scenes of the Washington newspaper reporters flocking around "President Jud Hammond," played by Walter Huston, Thackeray told Director Gregory La Cava, "Now, don't have the reporters haul out big black note books, and don't have them act as ill mannered crabs, and don't —" but La Cava stopped him, made Thackeray turn actor, and do the part before the camera the way the real White House press group is supposed to behave itself.

Fox canceled its week-end cruise of the temporarily chartered French liner, Winnipeg, which was to have given the first sea going preview party in movie history, and donated the money, the food and other supplies to the Long Beach earthquake relief stations instead.

Samuel S. Hinds, an attorney from Pasadena who got interested in dramatics merely as one of the society sponsors of that city's little theater movement, has turned actor. Metro signed him to play "Dr. Eastman" in "Gabriel Over the White House."

Aristocratic looking Ralph Morgan, the czar of "Rasputin," comes out from behind his "muff" to confess that when he attended Columbia, his name was Wupperman, "Wuppy" for short to his classmates. When he went on the stage, he changed it. What a name for a czar—Wuppy!

Herb Howe, the magazine humorist, was quartered at the Breakers hotel, Long Beach, the day of the quake. This hostelry was one of the quake casualties, but Howe wasn't in it when the temblor struck, last Friday evening. Instead, he was driving down one of the Long Beach streets, alone. Trying to dodge falling walls he was horrified to see a woman's form half buried under debris. He ran to render aid, and only after he had lifted the form into a free area in the middle of the street did he realize he was carrying a woman's dummy, dressed in a Paris mode.

Paris Couturiers Sponsor the New Brimmed Hats for All Occasions

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Brimmed hats are in style for all kinds of occasions. The very newest and most exciting hats with brims are made of linen, cotton, and cloth. They are cool, crisp, and chic. The cloche, or the sailor hat, with a crown about as deep as a soup plate is much worn by the ultra fashionable, and side by side with it is the brimmed or brimless hat with a crown of considerable profundity. Your hat may be shallow or deep, and in style both ways.

The most popular of brimmed hats for spring are on the order of the three shown in our sketch today. They're worn tilted forward and a bit to one side of the head.

In the center is shown a quaint little brimmed hat from Molyneux, made of a rough cotton material in beige. This hat has a narrow brim and a very shallow crown and is pushed forward over the forehead. It is trimmed with bias stitched bands of the material and a bow of the same stuff in front.

Slovenly Boy Fails to Win Girl's Heart

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"In my home we were taught that our oldest clothes must be kept neat. He [Win's beau] is the exact opposite. His suit is never pressed. He has only one tie to his name and it's a sight. His shirts are never fresh. . . . My people are against him because he is so sloppy. My dad has but one suit of clothes, but he always looks neat. I'm pretty disgusted myself.—Win."

The demand for a snappy looking escort now comes home to roost in the male coop. Boys haven't been very delicate about making known their taste for a girl companion whose appearance does them proud. In fact, if a young woman isn't pretty up-and-coming in appearance she gets the wallflower seat. It would seem, then, that the course of training the girls have received for public appearance has sharpened their wits, too, about the boy who'd like to squire them about!

The girls are right, too! What's dressing for the goose——

We note this complaint about the boy's lack of neatness is increasing lately. Whether the girls are taking their cue from the boys who exact a high order of neatness and grooming we don't know. But we do know that a sloppy tie, an unpressed suit, and spotty linen are death to many a budding romance.

We're in favor of this protest from the girls—mostly for the boys' own interests. Neatness, cleanliness, and pride in his personal appearance are business assets. So, a little chastising in his romantic life may serve to inspire the boy to a better personal setup.

Another evidence of the pictorial demand coming home to men is the intolerance of wives toward the husband who lets himself run to fat. Well, husbands hector their wives about the thickening waistline. So, why shouldn't they get a little of their own medicine?

The question isn't just one of good looks. There's a powerful element in the concoction known as love that is brewed out of respect—admiration. This is what is destroyed when man or woman lets him or herself go.

1 JAR RESINOL HEALED SEVERE ECZEMA
"More than 35 years ago, when I was a child, I developed a severe case of eczema behind my left ear. In spite of all the remedies used the disease spread rapidly over my head. Finally our doctor, one of the best in Kansas City, told Mother to try Resinol Ointment as he knew it was good. It was wonderful and after using a full jar the affection was entirely healed. Since then I have been an ardent user of Resinol for burns, cuts, and all manner of skin affections, and have never known it to fail. There is nothing like it for the skin disorders of babies, it is so soothing and healing." (Signed) Mrs. O. S. Piott, 297 Carrollton Ave., Shreveport, Louisiana.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

If there is any question pertaining to beauty and personal hygiene upon which you wish advice write to Antoinette Donnelly, The Chicago Tribune. Enclose stamped, addressed envelope for personal reply.

READER: THE COLD WATER used in connection with oily skin is to regulate the gland activity by toning it. Keep away from creams and remove powder carefully after use.

M. H.: BETTER PUT THE "spreading hips" to work on some good exercises. Don't rely on diet only for paring them down. Send for my hip-rolling exercises, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Address Doris Blake, The Chicago Tribune regarding problems of the heart. Enclose stamped, addressed envelope for personal reply.

Too Much Competition.

"Dear Miss Blake: I have a boy friend and he cares for me, but two of my girls friends teach him how to dance and everything. How can I win him from the two and how can I find out if he loves me? RAY."

Wouldn't it be easier to pick on some one where there isn't so much competition? Or, perhaps, you'll have to dig in and teach him something, too. Maybe jigsaw puzzles, Ray.

McFadden Rite to Be Simple Church Affair

ior league. Mr. Healy, an assistant state's attorney, received the degree of bachelor of arts at the University of Chicago and the degree of bachelor of laws at Harvard.

Mr. Healy, with his youngest sister, Miss Katherine Healy, will go east the end of this month for an engagement party the Beineckes are giving for their daughter the evening of March 25. Miss Beinecke and Mr. Healy expect to be married in the early summer.

Mrs. John J. Abbott has turned versifier in behalf of the North Side Animal Shelter, which is located at 5448 North Damen avenue, and which is supported partially by a rummage shop at 1060 Lawrence avenue. It is hoped by the board of directors that through Mrs. Abbott's verse, which is being sent out on a postal card to hundreds, stock at the shop will be augmented by many donations of clothes, bric-a-brac, and the like, for resale. Below a picture of a police dog and a kitten is the verse:

"We were 'wet,' too,
And shivering and lean,
But now we are 'dry'
And fit to be seen—
The Shelter received us
And fed us and warmed us:
No longer we're homeless,
And frightened, and hopeless.
Will you some old thing give
That we may eat and live—
We and our brothers?
—Ther're hundreds of others!"

Girl Scout Council Marks Birthday

We suggest that Mrs. Charles R. Lindsay Jr. add to her other duties as a member of the National Board of the Girls Scouts and acting commissioner of the Chicago council, that of conducting a class so that Girl Scouts may learn how to preside at a meeting in the same informal, spontaneous manner in which Mrs. Lindsay presided yesterday at the luncheon given by the Chicago council to celebrate its thirteenth birthday and the twenty-first anniversary of the organization of Girl Scouting in America.

Her introductions were so succinct and pleasant, and without offending any one in the slightest she managed to limit the speeches to just a few words or even to a bow in some cases, which added to the success of the party, for long after luncheon speeches are de trop in these busy days.

Mrs. Abraham S. Selz, chairman of the committee in charge of the luncheon, had presented a huge birthday cake with twenty-one candles on it to the party and it was brought in by five Girl Scouts who dramatized Anna Hempstead Branch's "Ceremony for Bringing in a Birthday Cake."

At the speakers' table with Mrs. Lindsay were Mrs. Julius Weil, Mrs. George J. Farnsworth, both actively interested in Scouting in Chicago since it was started here at a meeting at Mrs. Julius Rosenwald's in the spring of 1920; Miss Elizabeth Webster of the Council of Social Agencies, Miss Elizabeth Mundie, local director of Chicago; Mrs. William S. Monroe, chairman of the finance committee; Samuel Gorsline, commissioner for Chicago of the Boy Scouts of America, and Perry Lint, executive director of the Boy Scouts.

Friends of China to Hear Lectures

Malvina Hoffman, the celebrated sculptress—in private life Mrs. Samuel B. Grimson of East 35th street, New York City—is coming to Chicago April 3 to talk to the American Friends of China. The lecture, with illustrations, is to be given at 3 o'clock at the Arts club. And for the sake of those who are not American Friends the affair is to be opened to the public.

On April 12 the Friends of China will have another delightful afternoon. Dr. Berthold Laufer, curator at the Field museum, is to explain his collection of Chinese antiques in the newly completed rooms of the museum, and there will be luncheon beforehand in the museum cafeteria for those who desire it.

Julia Peterkin, the author, is to be the guest of the Friends of American Writers at a literary tea the afternoon of March 22 in the grand ballroom of the Palmer house. This is to be an open meeting in order that the many admirers of the author may have an opportunity to meet her. Mrs. Peterkin is mistress of the Lang Syne plantation at Fort Motte, S. C., and there she writes, hunts, fishes, swims, grows roses, and raises Llewellyn setters, pigeons, and turkeys. Besides her "Scarlet Sister Mary," which won the Pulitzer prize in 1928, she is the author of "Black April" and "Bright Skin."

Y. W. C. A. to Open New Courses

A series of spring classes in things like analytical psychology and contract bridge will be launched today at a tea at the Harriet Hammond McCormick Y. W. C. A. in North Dearborn parkway. This is a widening of scope, the committee on management explains, to interest home women and women of leisure who have spare time to invest in developing talents, pursuing hobbies, and delving into cultural interests of the day. Hostesses for the party today will be Mrs. Philip S. Post, Mrs. Cyrus Bentley, Mrs. Hermon B. Butler, Mrs. C. Barney Goodspeed, Mrs. John Stuart, Mrs. John Paul Welling, and Mrs. Douglas Waples.

Tonight at the Casino the P. E. N. club, of which Miss Fanny Butcher is president, will give a dinner at the Casino for Mr. and Mrs. Philip Guedalla and tomorrow night Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meeker will entertain about twenty guests at dinner at their residence, 1100 Lake Shore drive, for the distinguished English writer and his wife. The P. E. N. club has invited only a few guests, mostly husbands and wives of members, to their party.

The Chicago Woman's club is giving a luncheon for Mr. Guedalla tomorrow and on Friday night the Book and Play club will entertain for him. On Saturday from 4 to 5:30 o'clock the English Speaking union is giving a tea for the Guedallas at the Tavern, and since the space is limited and only the first 150 reservations will be accepted.

The members of the MacLeish clan who are in town will meet the train on which Archibald MacLeish arrives from the east this evening on the south side, for there will be just time enough to get to the James M. Stifiers' residence on Dorchester avenue for the dinner Dr. and Mrs. Stifler will give for Mr. MacLeish.

Dr. Stifler is chairman of the William Vaughn Moody lectures at the University of Chicago, one of which Mr. MacLeish is to deliver tonight. After the lecture Mr. MacLeish and his wife, who sang so charmingly at the Arts club Sunday night, and his mother, Mrs. Andrew MacLeish, and his brothers, Bruce and Norman and their wives will motor to Glencoe, but the "Archie" MacLeishs will not linger long there for they are leaving tomorrow for New York.

Parties for Lord Gorell.

Lord Gorell, the distinguished Englishman, who is a power in the National Labor movement and a partner in the publishing house of John Murray, famous for its association with Lord Byron and Robert Browning, is to be entertained widely during his brief visit to Chicago.

Due to arrive from the west coast on Thursday he will be the guest that noon of Col. William Nelson Pelouze at the Chicago club and the guest speaker that evening at the dinner of the Association of Arts and Industries and the Illinois chapter of the American Institute of Interior Decorators is giving for him at the Congress hotel. In between these two dates he is to have tea at the home of William R. Moore in Bellevue place. Mr. Moore has invited 30 friends to meet Lord Gorell.

At the speakers' table at the dinner will be the British consul general, Lewis Bernays, and Mrs. Bernays and Everett L. Millard, president of the English Speaking Union.

Mrs. Sidney Heyworth Heap is sitting for her portrait. Yesterday was the first session in the apartment of Mrs. Colin Campbell at 900 North Michigan avenue. Mrs. Campbell is the artist. She has done many portraits but this is the first since she moved to Chicago some months ago. It is to be a head in pastels, Mrs. Heap explains.

Mrs. J. Hill Whiting arrived in town last week for an indefinite visit with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolf E. Prussing.

The Seaborn T. Whatleys arrived in Hartford, Conn., where they are to make their new home on Saturday. For the last several years the Whatleys have been Lake Shore drive and Lake Forest residents.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Black of Lake Forest left yesterday for a two months' vacation on the Pacific coast.

Want to Look Young?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They help bring about the natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c, 60c.

By NANCY CABOT.

The "Little Beech Tree," though designed at the same time as the "Pine Tree" pattern, in 1810, and intended as a traveling companion of the latter, has noticeably lagged behind and never has reached the same destination. Since it is a much simpler one to piece, it is strange that it never has attained equal popularity. Kentucky and the New England states are virtually the only regions in which this pattern is found. In the hills of Kentucky it sometimes is known as the "Scrap Bag Tree," supposedly because the little blocks [the leaves of the tree] are so small they can be cut from scraps of material.

For a pattern of this quilt design send 5 cents in stamps or coin to Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, printing your name and address clearly. Or call at the Tribune Public Service Office, One South Dearborn Street.

Introduce Bit of Green Into Meals on 17th

Contrasting White Sets It Off Properly.

BY MARY MEADE.

Another grand excuse for a party—or at least for staging some gay surprises at the home board—is this minute doing the Irish jig around the corner with a shamrock in its buttonhole, a green ribbon around its hat, and a bushelful of fun inside.

For though St. Patrick's day has a religious significance, it's the Irish of it that it shall be full of fun and rollicking. And if you've a yen for color and gayety and a jolly good time, let them blossom out next Friday, March 17, at an Irish party in honor of St. Patrick.

First a quick look at what the day suggests. Thoughts linger over shamrocks—those three leafed green clovers of the Emerald isle. Then come small clay pipes, Irish potatoes, a peat bog or two, the Blarney stone, those snakes which St. Patrick banished forever from Ireland, and perhaps an Irish flag.

Of course, there are all sorts of ways to get these effects. Shamrocks may leaf forth in the crêpe paper table cloth, in green cutouts, scattered over snowy white linen, in the form of place cards or "backstops" for nut cups, as shamrock rolls, gay molded lime salads topped with whipped cream mayonnaise—or they may be formed from cream cheese and whipped cream curled out from a pastry bag in shamrock shape on the top of a clear emerald green gelatin luncheon dessert.

Gay Irish green should be the predominating note at the festival, but don't overdo a good thing. The accent will be all the gayer for the presence of plenty of contrasting white to set it off. This national color, then, can turn up in fresh green peas, brussels sprouts, beans, or spinach [muddy, brown greens here would be inexcusable]. Or it may be accented in the salad course with lime gelatin the setting, or fruits colored with green vegetable tint adding the proper Irish note. Pears, apples, light colored plums, pineapple, and grapefruit will any of them take on delectable tints of green if let stand in their own juices or a thin sugar sirup to which a touch of coloring has been added. Two pear halves tinted in this way, stuffed with chopped dates and nuts and molded in a salad of clear lemon gelatin make a fresh shimmery salad for early spring.

Tiny green skinless grapes which can be bought in jars are helps in decoration. Pistachio ice cream or lime ice makes a convincing Blarney stone for the topping off course of an Irish dinner. To add even more delectableness, sprinkle the chocolate shot used for cake decorntion over the pistachio ice cream and serve in squares.

IRISH SNAKE COOKIES.

Make a rich sugar and butter cookie dough from your favorite recipe, roll it out quite thin, and cut in strips about four inches long and half an inch wide. Arrange these on a greased baking sheet, curving them about in the shape of a letter S, snake fashion. Taper down the noses and the tails with a little pinch, and then, with melted chocolate, add an eye and a few stripes at intervals across your snakes. Bake in a hot oven until crisp and golden brown.

BLARNEY STONES.

Another way to suggest the Blarney stone—perhaps to accompany a simple frozen vanilla cream dessert—is to start the trick with angel food cake. Break fresh angel cake into uneven pieces approximately 2 inches across. Make a simple confectioner's frosting tinted pale green with food coloring. Dip the cake [Blarney stones] into this, drain and place on an oiled paper. Sprinkle with finely ground pistachio nuts and let dry.

ST. PATRICK ICE CREAM.

I've talked about this ice cream stencil stunt before, but lest you have forgotten, we'll go over it again, for it may be just the answer to the St. Patrick's party dessert. First decide upon a simple design—an Irish pipe, a tilted high crowned hat, an Irish flag or a shamrock. Then outline the design on a piece of stiff thin card which is just the size of the face of a slice of ice cream from a brick. With a sharp knife cut out the design, forming a stencil from the remaining card. Now dip the card into thin melted paraffin and let it stiffen.

Just before serving time, cut white ice cream in serving slices and place on plates. Have ready some whipped cream tinted a clear, bright green with food coloring. Now place the stencil quickly on the face of each slice of ice cream in turn, drawing a spatula with a spread of green whipped cream over the design. The cream will go through the opening and immediately freeze, so that when we whisk the stencil off, there is our clear cut St. Patrick's design frozen atop the ice cream.

Ages at Which Child Learns Hygiene Vary

For One It May Be Early; Another, Late.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Naturally there's much more to be written on the subject of toilet habits than was in yesterday's column. To say, "Don't grit your teeth and grimly determine that your baby will form the dry habit by a certain age" isn't enough.

There are certain principles underlying this training which every mother should learn, if she hasn't already discovered them for herself. But first she must realize that for each individual child there is a right physical time for him to acquire the desired habit. For one it may be very early; for another very late.

Allowing for this, we will first make the general statement that control of the bladder during the day is usually established between 2 and 2½ years of age. Night control is later, six months or more. But the important thing to remember is that during the formation of the habit and for a while afterward the responsibility for the small boy or girl going to the bathroom lies with the grownup who is in charge of him.

Basing the figures on studies made of young children, control of both bowel and bladder during the day and night may be reasonably expected between the ages of 3 and 4. It must be remembered always that these figures are approximate. Individuals vary and other factors like illness—or a new baby—may cause interruptions and setbacks. These "backslidings" have to be taken philosophically and with a good deal of patience.

Practical suggestions on the establishing of toilet habits will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

—Tennyson

Many of yesterday's best sellers have become curios in a museum

TODAY is a new day. Men and nations have paraded on. More history has been created. Customs have been discarded, and new ones formed. Needs and desires have been altered by a fresh perspective.

Alert business men are studying this element of change in relation to their own business. They have seen many of yesterday's best sellers become curios in a museum. They know that a number of the successes of tomorrow are yet to be born.

They realize the rewards that await the manufacturer who strikes today's keynote with our hundred millions of people; and the obscurity that is in store for those who sell a product not adapted for today.

In no business is change so vital and so constant as in publishing a newspaper. Through the changing tides of thirty-seven years, The Evening Bulletin has published a newspaper for Philadelphia homes. Through two wars, three depressions, and countless other changes, it has reflected the activities of each day.

The Bulletin uses no premiums, contests, or other short cuts to circulation peaks. Its circulation represents the normal demand for this newspaper. A demand created by being accurate and timely in its news columns; by giving alert, effective counsel in editorial pages.

In this manner The Bulletin has grown, from the smallest of all Philadelphia newspapers in 1895, to one of America's great newspapers today: With a daily sale of more than half a million copies... two and one-half times greater than any other evening newspaper; greater than all morning newspapers combined.

Strong Team Picked for Chicago Match.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 13.—Almost 20,000 of these poor, busted Americans came to the Garden this evening to watch the fighters punch one another for fun in the final program of the New York Golden Gloves tournament, contributing $39,254 on their way in for the exercises.

They were witnesses to about four hours of spirited chin popping and nose dabbing between the survivors of a field of about 2,000 original participants. This evening's pugnastics served to identify the New York Golden Gloves champions, class of 1933, and also to pick the New York team which will fight the Chicagoland squad in Chicago on March 29.

Although the day had been dark, foggy, and generally gruesome and there had been 9,000 tickets still to sell in the morning, not only were all seats sold by ring time but several thousand standing privileges as well.

Strong in Light Weights.

The bouts showed that the New York squad was particularly strong in the flyweight and bantamweight groups and better than just pretty good in the featherweight class.

Jimmy Siclari, twice winner of the New York Golden Gloves flyweight title and recognized as one of the best amateurs of his ounces in the country for the last couple of years, lost his fight with an amazingly agile and bouncy little colored boy named Charlie Green and thus failed by very little to win a third title, which would have made him a superchampion. No fighter has ever won a championship three times.

Green and Siclari were the two best fighters unveiled this evening.

Again, in the bantam class, where Julie Katz won a poor decision from Louie Camps, the same being hooted heartily by all present, both fighters were plainly superior to the general run of amateur champions. Katz fought as a flyweight in last year's intercity bouts and won his bout, but this Camps put him on the floor briefly in this evening's fight and won in the judgment of all except the judges themselves.

Have One on Muldoon.

These being amateur fights and in no way subject to the jurisdiction or prejudices of old William Muldoon, the cigaret hater of the New York prize fight commission, smoking was permitted and was indulged in on a free co-educational basis. That is to say that the ladies were drawing away on gaspers on even terms with the gents, and both blew the fumes of the shrub impudently into the faces of the ushers and gendarmes, who would have heaved them from the place for this if the bouts had been of the professional kind. The big blowers built into the plant at great cost by the late Tex Rickard, but robbed of their purpose by Mr. Muldoon through all these years, seemed to lay holds on the smoke puffs and yank them bodily up into the chimneys and out of bounds.

The ring ropes were of green velvet, like the moss that trout fishermen slip on to break their ankles, and these sumptuous strands were wound about for some distance out from each of the combatants' corners with wrappings of muslin, blue and white in one corner, blue and gold in the other.

Dramatize the Introductions.

They were dramatizing the introductions with clarion music and rolling drums. The boys entered the ring one at a time, to be picked out by a long, fingering spotlight as they stood in their corners with their heads bowed and looking not unlike priests of some strange cult in their satin robes with golden cords and piping. The loud speaker mumbled their names and club affiliations, if any, the bell clanged, and they came out punching.

Winthrop Rutherford, Princeton alumnus with a rich social background, a youth of 28, as lean as a length of string and billed as a rowing coach, started off as though he ought to smack the wadding out of a thick, swarthy heavyweight named

$50,000? NEVER! RUTH AND YANKEE OWNER DISAGREE

Babe Threatens to Retire —Wants $60,000.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 13.—Special.]—After a conference of about a quarter of an hour today between Col. Ruppert, Yankee owner, and Babe Ruth, America's outstanding baseball star still is unsigned. The colonel and the Babe decided to disagree in no unmistakable terms.

BABE RUTH.

Ruppert told Ruth that in view of present day conditions the club could not offer him a penny over $50,000 and that he thought it was a liberal offer. Ruth came down from his former compromise figure of $62,500 to $60,000.

"If they want me to quit over the matter of $10,000, it's okay with me," the Babe asserted.

The home run king received $75,000 last season, and when he was offered a contract for $50,000, a cut of $25,000, he flatly refused.

Ruth said he will not play in tomorrow's exhibition game with the Braves or any other Yankee exhibition game until he is signed.

Compares Babe and Roosevelt.

"We are offering Ruth, a ball player, $25,000 less than is paid the President of the United States," said Ruppert. "And President Roosevelt is tackling one of the toughest jobs in history."

Both Ruppert and Ruth seemed perturbed over their failure to reach a solution in the Babe's salary tangle.

"Ruth pointed out what he has done for the Yankee club and for baseball," said Ruppert. "I reminded him that perhaps baseball also has done something for him. It made him a well-to-do man, who is in comfortable circumstances because of what he made in baseball or the by-products of his connection with the game.

"Just Made Expenses."

"I take nothing from Ruth. He has been a great ball player and a wonderful drawing card. But this is 1933, not 1928. This club just about made expenses last year with a world championship team. Everybody else has had to take cuts. Ruth's cut of $25,000 looks big because of the great salary he received in former years."

The Babe did not try to hide his disappointment, nor his belief that he is being badly treated.

"I have some idea of what I am worth in baseball," he said. "I told Ruppert I would take $60,000. That would be a $15,000 cut. I expected a cut and was willing to take one, but no man should be asked to take one of $25,000. That's going too far."

Ruppert said his $50,000 offer will not be lowered, as was reported.

"That's my offer, and it is up to Ruth to take it. It will hold until the end of the training season."

COLLEGE TEAMS TAKE TO A. B. C. ALLEYS TONIGHT

Columbus, O., March 13.—[Special.]—The American Bowling congress will take on a college atmosphere tomorrow night when the twenty-eight new tournament alleys will be monopolized by fraternity, college, and university boys.

The two squads of fifty-six teams will be made up of bowlers representing colleges and universities in the Big Ten conference as well as fraternities from Ohio State university. Cheer leaders, bands, and all the color attendant to college events will be in evidence.

The news that the banking situation is being cleared up was well received here.

Missouri Senate Passes Race Bill; House Favors It

Jefferson City, Mo., March 13.—(AP)—The house private corporation committee tonight reported favorably on the Wisdom bill to legalize pari-mutuel wagering on races. The bill was passed by the senate today, 21 to 8.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

SOURCES OF CASH.

FT. LAUDERDALE, Fla., March 9.—Friend Arch: Well, Arch, I suppose you are worrying about me away from home on my vacation and without money, or possibly you are worrying about yourself. Now I'm not so concerned about when the banks will reopen with restrictions as I am whether the dog tracks or horse tracks here will close, and I will tell you why.

As soon as the banks took a holiday, we started to "dig ourselves in," as it were. First we swapped a $10 check to the grocery for a $10 coupon book good in trade. Then the milkman came and wanted $3.50 and would take a check.

My fellow Hoosier, who owns the leading restaurant, said he would take checks for a limited amount, but he didn't say it too enthusiastically as I thought one Hoosier might to another, so we're eating out "only to a limited amount."

So then we were down to gasoline and laundry among the necessities. Well, we went to a gas station and the chap said they had no orders yet about accepting checks. So I said, "Why, Sheldon Clark, vice president of your company, is a good friend of mine. Furthermore, his son married the daughter of another friend of mine who is wintering here." And he says "Yeah? Well, Christopher Columbus was a friend of mine and his son married my great-grandmother so I discovered America." So we had to pay cash and it costs about 25 cents a gallon, including the state tax of 7 cents and federal tax of 1 cent—8 cents a gallon taxes.

Then there was the colored laundress. When she came I told her we had a "moratorium" as a prelude to seeing how much credit we could get. Her eyes popped and she asked who had it, and I said every one had it. Then she said "they's enough misery in our fambly now without ketchin no mortality," and she was away before I could explain anything more to her.

Well, Arch, we got down to a collective $3.60 last Monday night and restless for some excitement other than financial. Because the movies are 35 cents and the dog track admission only 20 cents, including tax, we went to the races as innocent bystanders. Sitting there watching the foolish whippets chase that mechanical bunny, we were dumbfounded to hear over the loud speaker, "Express and A. B. A. checks will be cashed up to the amount of $50 for the benefit of our patrons."

Although the doc said to be quiet on my vacation I set a new dash record to the cashier's window where to my disgust I found all I had with me in checks was $20, not expecting to use anything so worthless as travelers' checks. Well, even with all this new money I was conservative as you always have known me. So we formed a pool of five to bet $2 a race, or 40 cents each, and only lost 80 cents each the rest of the night.

So we went to the Hialeah races next day and soon we had only $3.80 left. Then I happened to meet Joe McLennan, racing secretary and everything like that here just as he is at Arlington Park, and he asked me was I enjoying myself and could he do anything for me, and just in fun, not expecting anything, I said "Yes, cash a travelers' check."

Then Joe said "how big?" and I said "O, not too big." Well, I had some 10's and 20's and one 50. So I said "I'm sorry, Joe, but $50 is the smallest I have." Then he said, "All right; next time you're out and have plenty of time, I can get it for you," and I said "O, I've plenty of time, principally time, right now." Then he said "Well, I've got to get things going for the next race; come back in half an hour."

I've known Joe a long time Arch, and I don't think he'd run out on me, but I said "O, I'll wait." Well, it ended up by his sending a colored boy for the money, and I thought it'd look pretty cheap unless I tipped the colored boy 4 bits, much as one hates to part with four bits all at once. Isn't it funny, when you have money you're lucky and win; while when you need money you lose. Well, we got back the $18 we'd lost before and a little interest on it.

So now, Arch, we have $54.35, and if things are really bad up there I can enclose $10 in a letter for your personal use, because you've always been so understanding about my expense accounts, but don't send for it unless you really need it, because if the dog or horse tracks close I'll be in trouble again even though I bought checks in the first place at the bank and not at the "gambling hells" as I suppose the reformers, if there are any reformers left, would call them. Will write again soon. Regards.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The bicycle caravan in the 29th international six day race was nearly 500 miles out on the trip to nowhere when the first rays of daylight began to blink through the big sky windows in the Chicago Stadium early this morning.

The customers and riders had already begun to feel the weight of their eyelids. Any minute they expected to arrive in Omaha, Minneapolis, Pittsburgh or Nashville. In fact the old New York bantamweight, Jack Sharkey, who came all the way from Jersey City to see the race [he having become a six day addict about the time he quit fighting], was aroused suddenly from his slumbers and shouted, "All out for Kansas City."

McNamara Forced Out.

Sharkey rubbed his eyes and looked around him. He whiffed at the mixed aroma of hot dogs and popcorn, peanuts that were roasting, and coffee that was boiling, and was glad it was nothing more than a dream he had been having about getting into Kansas City.

As the caravan wended its way there was a break in the ranks, and a most serious one, at that. Reggie McNamara, the old iron jockey of the bicycle business, went down in a nasty spill shortly before 10 o'clock, just about the time the troupe should have been winging its way through St. Louis or Louisville.

Attempts to Resume Race.

Manera, who had been riding back on the caboose almost from the time the race started, tumbled first. McNamara fell over him and suffered slight concussions. He was out for 15 minutes. The he leaped up suddenly and crawled back into the saddle of his bike. He circled the pine saucer a couple of times, but didn't know where he was or where he was going. The track doctor ordered him out of the race.

Mr. Harry Mendel had better keep the track doctor away from the customers. If he rules them out for not knowing where they are or where they are going as fast as he did McNamara there will be an enormous falling off in the attendance.

Deulberg, Croley Lead.

After enjoying the lead for nearly 24 hours, the American team of Bobby Thomas of Kenosha and Norman Hill of San Jose, Cal., was knocked sky high during the first set of sprints last night. Nearly everybody in the race gained a few laps but the two leaders, so as the race went into its second morning the German-American team of Franz Deulberg of Germany and Paul Croley of Brooklyn, was sailing along out in front.

Then during the 1 o'clock sprints Rodak and Peden forged to the front and the Duelberg-Croley team dropped back into a tie for second.

Harry Horan of Newark, who was paired with McNamara, did not drop out of the race as a result of McNamara's injury. Al Klingbell of Chicago, the teammate of Giovanni Manera of Italy, was injured during an afternoon spill. He dropped out of the race and Horan and Manera were paired.

GIANTS FED UP ON QUAKES; SEEK TO LEAVE COAST

Los Angeles, Cal., March 13.—[Special.]—Tumbled out of their beds at 5:15 o'clock this morning by another temblor, the Giants' training preparations once more were thrown into confusion.

Manager Bill Terry's first act was to reach for his telephone, call Trainer Willie Schafer and ask him how long it would take to pack the trunks and clear out. However, after the tremors had subsided, Bill regained his composure and decided to await the return of Secretary Jim Tierney, who was hastening back from a week end barnstorming tour at Santa Cruz.

Tierney Wants to Leave.

Later in the morning Tierney arrived and at once went into a conference with Terry, the upshot of which is understood to have been a wire for instructions to President Charles A. Stoneham.

That Tierney is all for packing up and leaving this city of sunshine and quaking sidewalks, the Giant secretary made no effort to hide.

"Our sole purpose for being here," said Tierney, "is to get the players in shape for the opening of the championship race. But how can that be done with such disturbances as we have been having since last Friday night. I returned this morning to learn that the players were sleeping in their rooms at 5 o'clock and a few minutes later they're dashing around hallways and into the streets.

DODGERS, 6; ATHLETICS, 4.

Miami, Fla., March 13.—[Special.]—A home run by Danny Taylor enabled the Dodgers to come from behind today in the sixth inning and win the "rubber" game from the Athletics, 6 to 4. Danny's drive, the only homer of the series, rode far out to the center field fence. He crossed the plate easily before Mickey Cochrane, playing the midfield, could retrieve the ball and start it home.

Dowell Claset, southpaw, was on the mound, and Jake Flowers on base. Two other Dodger runs had scored in this inning, Jordan bringing the first one in on a balk by Claset and Bobby Reis scoring on Flowers' single.

The A's scored three runs in the fourth inning off Hollis Thurston, who followed Joe Shaute on the mound. Hits by McNair, Miller, and Higgins, followed by Lou Finney's double to right, accounted for the total. Score:

Sh-h-h! Sox Take Secret Workout for Cub Series

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pasadena, Cal., March 13.—Secret practice behind locked gates was in vogue today at the White Sox training camp. Manager Lew Fonseca gave his charges some signal instructions and quizzed them on how they would handle themselves and the ball in various situations.

The workout didn't appear like that to the reporters, who contented themselves with remaining outside and looking in. All they could figure out from seeing the athletes huddled in different groups on the ground was that private crap and marble games were in progress.

However, regardless of how it appeared from the outside, the work was serious and the hired hands will be expected to make use of some of their new found knowledge when they tie up with the Cubs Wednesday and Thursday. Secret practice will be tried again tomorrow.

New Quake Bothers Boys.

Some of the boys might have learned just a little bit more today if the earthquake hadn't been revived as a popular subject. At 5:15 this morning the hotel beds suddenly began to bounce as the result of the worst jolt since the first and biggest one Friday evening. A few of the players weren't even awakened, a few claimed they now are so accustomed to the intermittent swaying that they like it, and some were so alarmed that they established new records getting into their clothes.

All went back to bed with one exception. That was Carl Boone, a rookie right hander. Boone leaped into his clothes quicker than an experienced fireman could accomplish the trick, walked two miles to the one story clubhouse at the training field, and finished his slumbers there. He'll be right back there if another temblor occurs, and probably will have at least a dozen athletes for company.

Batters Out of Luck.

Along with the crap and marble games today there was an extensive batting drill, which served both hitters and pitchers. The pitchers bore down and threw whatever the catcher signed for. The hitters weren't tipped off to what was coming. There naturally wasn't a great amount of heavy hitting. The batters haven't seen enough real pitching to perfect their eyes. The pitchers also had to show their moves to first base. Those who displayed faults were told about it by Fonseca and Ted Lyons, who is an artist in this department.

For the first game with the Cubs at Los Angeles Wednesday the pitching will be shared by Ed Durham, Paul Gregory, and Johnny Wilson, a rookie from the Buffalo club. The two first named are counted on for regular service this summer and Fonseca wants to get them started as soon as possible.

Frasier Starts Thursday.

Vic Frasier, another prospective regular, will start Thursday's game. Murray, Gaston and possibly Kimsey will follow him. Kimsey is sure to get in there if there is trouble toward the finish. Rescue work is his specialty.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., March 13.—The Chicago Cubs, stricken with terror by the earthquake at 5:15 o'clock this morning, bravely tried to work at their trade against the Los Angeles Angels this afternoon, but were so jittery they were obliged to take a 10 to 8 licking.

At least half of the Cubs are in a panic to the point where they are becoming pale and drawn. Bill Herman suffered a nervous collapse after his wife departed the danger zone at noon, and was unable to play, the first time he has missed a Cub game since he joined the team in 1931. Reb Campbell, Buck Newsom, and Lon Warneke, who have been near collapse, were able to participate in a workout before the game, but have been existing virtually without sleep.

Sleep in Their Clothes.

Others have been sleeping in their clothes, but arising and rushing to the park across from the Cub hotel with every tremor. Eight of the athletes did not return to their rooms after the series of shocks at 5:15 o'clock.

For a time in the eighth inning it appeared as if the Cubs had forgotten their earthquake shakes, for they made six runs and had the bases full when Babe Herman supplied the third out with a foul to the catcher.

Aside from the terror there were other elements that shattered the Chicago battlefront. Gabby Hartnett suffered a cracked finger nail in practice to join Campbell, who had a similar accident yesterday. Gink Hendrick stayed away to have a couple of teeth extracted, and Bill Jurges and Riggs Stephenson were given a day of what might jokingly be called rest.

Doctor Cheers Grimm.

The team was directed from the bench by Manager Grimm, who was given some encouragement in his do or die visit to Dr. Charles Spencer, osteopath. The doctor said Grimm's back wasn't as bad as Charley had believed and after mauling him about for a spell predicted that he may yet be able to start the season at first base.

The game today was another in which the Cubs employed second string pitching. Lyle [Fat Boy] Tinning waddled through five innings and Leroy Herrmann made a bid for release to the Angels in the remaining innings, though the affable young man admits that he cares not to linger on these trembling shores.

Tomorrow the Cubs will wind up their exhibition season with the New York Giants. They will be at no disadvantage in this encounter, however, for, if anything, the Giants are suffering more from tightening of the tonsils than are our valiant Cubs.

Grimes to Pitch Today.

Old Burleigh Grimes will start against the Giants tomorrow and it will be the first time the former star has done any pitching this year. He will be followed by Roy Henshaw.

Unless there are more quakes the Cubs expect to be at top strength in the two game series against the White Sox which opens Wednesday. Grimm will pour his very best pitching against the Comiskeys — Malone and Warneke in the first game and Bush and Root in the second game.

Malone, though terrorized by the first major earthquake here, has taken the later ones more or less calmly. Warneke has been one of the main sufferers, but says he will be able to throw off fear long enough to pitch four good innings against the Sox.

Bush was scared at first, but is among the calmer gents now, and Root, a Los Angeles realty holder, has been putting in much of his time soothing his fellows.

The game today was won in the ninth after that six run tying foray in the Cubs' eighth. The winning runs were driven in by Orv Mohler, former University of Southern California football star, playing his first season as a pro.

GOLDEN GLOVERS OPEN DRILLS FOR NEW YORK TODAY

Chicago Team of 25 Now in I. A. C. Quarters.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Chicago's Golden Gloves team moved into its training quarters at the Illinois Athletic club yesterday. Today the boxers will begin preparation for the intercity bouts with New York, which are to be held in the Stadium March 29.

For the next two weeks a program of sparring, road work, and gymnasium exercises is calculated to bring all the boys to top form. The squad is composed of twenty-five fighters, sixteen of whom will go into the ring against New York. Under the terms of intercity competition, it is customary, though not imperative, for the eight champions of one team to meet the eight champions of the other. The remaining eight bouts are fought between boys selected by the coaches on the basis of merit shown during the training period.

Boys Limber up Today.

Johnny Behr, head coach of the Chicago team, yesterday said that the first workout, which is to be held this afternoon, will consist of limbering up exercises. It is not likely that the boxers will spar for another day or two. Fred Caserio and George Van Der Heyden still are handicapped by eye injuries received while they were battling for Golden Gloves, and Henry Rothier is troubled with a boil.

Among the first boxers to check in at the Illinois Athletic club yesterday were Irving Goldstein, James Cummings, and Edward Ward, all Chicago boys. By evening, nearly the entire squad had assembled. Johnny Baltzer of Davenport is the only out of town boy among the eight champions, but many of the runners up and alternates come from distant parts of the central states.

They're Best of 5,000.

The squad of twenty-five includes the best boxers of the 5,000 boys who began fighting for Golden Gloves several weeks ago. The original entry list contained representatives of twenty-three cities in seven states. In the semi-finals, thirteen cities in six states were represented. The fact that all except one of the champions are Chicagoans speaks eloquently for the merits of the city's boxers. The finals were held last Wednesday at the Stadium.

The New York team which will come here on March 29 was picked last night at the close of the east's Golden Gloves tournament. In five years of intercity competition, New York and Chicago teams have fought to a draw. In 1928, each team won eight bouts; in 1929, New York was victorious, 11 to 5; Chicago won in 1930, 10 to 6, and repeated, 13 to 3, in 1931. Last year New York won, 12 to 4.

In the second Alba was improving his position steadily until Rutherford lugged him on the left eye and opened a wound, whereupon the referee moved in, took a peek at the gash, and ruled him out lest he be seriously damaged. It was not a bad cut, but such a one as could have been aggravated, and the referee's judgment, though a little more cautious than the patrons were accustomed to, was strictly all right for amateur purposes.

Challenges Are Exchanged.

Upon being thus interrupted, however, Alba remonstrated with the official and shoved past him to grab Rutherford by the elbow, where he stood in his corner, and challenged him to fight some more, informally. Rutherford said he hadn't asked for the ruling and was only doing as he was told, whereat Alba cocked his right hand as though to fetch him one for fun. At that Rutherford whirled into a clinch, ready to fight, wrestle, or talk politics, and the ring filled up with seconds and all such creatures, determined to avoid a scene.

Alba was led away, and then Rutherford walked across to him and advised him that he would be pleased to fight him in the ring or in a hoop with cleavers, ball bats, or broken bottles, at any time convenient to him. The matter rested there when they went to their dressing rooms.

This was a semi-final bout. In the final Rutherford was beaten in three rounds by Steve Dudas of Long Island.

BRIGHT PLUMAGE OF BIRDS LIGHTS FLORIDA SWAMPS

BY BOB BECKER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Big Cypress Swamp, Fla., March 13.—If you try to find any beauty in these dismal swamps into which the Seminoles have been forced by the constant pressure exerted against them, you must turn to the bird life of the lowlands. The magnificent white herons, the exquisite egrets, the cormorants, bitterns, wild ducks, sandhill cranes, ibises, and Everglade kites are the glory of the wastelands which the Seminoles now are forced to call their home.

These birds, many of which are as bright as the swamps are dark and forbidding, relieve the monotony of flat everglades and the ghostly gray cypress hammocks. There are other birds here besides those which are classed as aquatic. For example, meadowlarks, quail [we flushed a covey near our campsite in Lard Can strand] and wild turkeys. But this low country, almost inundated during the rainy season, properly belongs to the birds which thrive in or around water.

Spoonbill Formerly Plentiful.

When you travel through this Seminole country you think about two species of birds, the most colorful and brightest of them all, which used to be here before civilization took its toll. These are the roseaste spoonbill and the scarlet ibis. The former used to be quite plentiful.

The bird life of the Seminole country was one of two things which interested us today when we continued our trip through the dreary swamp lands. We wanted to find out how the edible species figured in the diet and the hunting activities of the Indians. Therefore, whenever we arrived at a camp we did a little quiet detective work to see what was in the cooking pots or hanging up in the cooking shelter.

Venison is, of course, the Seminole's chief article of meat diet. So far we have seen three fresh deer skins hanging in the camps. But this morning we visited a Seminole camp on the eastern edge of the Big Cypress swamp and there hanging in the cooking shelter was a freshly killed duck, the first dead bird we had observed in any of the camps.

His Meal Depends on Gun.

Wild turkey, ducks, cranes, and other luxurious items go into the Seminole's cooking pots from time to time. With nearly every Indian owning a rusty, single barrel shotgun it isn't any trick for them to get meat of some description. If deer, turkey and other game should be depleted the Indian can turn to rabbits, which today he does not consider worth using ammunition against.

FINAL GAMES IN INDOOR POLO ARE SLATED SATURDAY

Pairings for Saturday night's closing program of the Metropolitan Indoor Polo league will bring together the North Shore Polo and Hunt club and the 124th field artillery, senior division trios, and the 124th field artillery Cardinals and the 122d field artillery, the junior division leaders.

The playing schedule for the western and national championships was announced yesterday by Herbert J. Lorber and Maj. Richard G. Hunter, Chicago executives of the Indoor Polo Association of America, who, with Maj. George Matthews of New York, vice president of the association, constitute the executive committee in charge of the events.

Starting March 25 the western tournament wil be played each Saturday night over a period of three weeks to select teams from this league eligible to compete in the world's series. The surviving trios will be pitted against the best from the six other circuits in the national meet which will open April 11 and will continue each Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday night for three weeks.

DECATUR GETS SPRINGFIELD'S SECTIONAL MEET

Springfield, Ill., March 13.—(AP)—Decatur instead of Springfield will be one of the eight sectional tournament basketball sites this week, Principal D. W. McCoy of Springfield High school announced today. The transfer was made after a conference attended by C. V. Whitten, manager of the State High School Athletic association, and Decatur and Springfield officials.

Springfield found itself without an adequate gymnasium for sectional play when it was learned that the Springfield arsenal would not be available. Despite the transfer, Springfield retains management of the Decatur sectional, which will be held in the armory there beginning Wednesday night.

Lake View and Bowen Clash for Title Today

The heavyweight basketball championship of the Chicago Public High School league will be decided this afternoon when the undefeated Lake View five meets Bowen, whose slate shows one loss. They will play at Loyola gymnasium at 4:30 o'clock.

Lake View defeated Bowen by three points in a practice game earlier in the season. Parker was the only team which defeated Bowen in league competition.

In the Catholic league, the semi-final round in the lightweight and heavyweight divisions will be played tonight. St. Philip lights will meet Leo at 8 o'clock after which St. George will play St. Rita heavies. Both games will be at De La Salle gymnasium.

GUEST RETAINS HIGH HANDICAP IN POLO RATINGS

New York, March 13.—(AP)—A general revision of handicap rankings announced today by the Indoor Polo association of America, Winston Guest, veteran internationalist, retained his position as the country's leading indoor player with a handicap of 10 goals.

H. J. Lorber of the Chicago Riding club and Capt. C. A. Wilkinson of Fort Sheridan were raised from four to five goals each. Capt. G. E. Davis of Fort Sheridan was boosted two goals—three to five.

The reduction policy, however, hit Gerard Smith, heretofore considered one of the few players anywhere near the equal of Guest indoors. The leader of the Los Nanduces, winner of the 1931 open title, was cut from eight to seven goals.

The downward trend also hit P. L. B. Iglehart, brilliant back of Los Nanduces, and Warren Sackman, who rides with the Squadron "C" trio. Iglehart's handicap was reduced from six to five goals and Sackman's from seven to six.

E. T. Gerry and R. L. Gerry Jr. of the Aknusti Polo club were boosted from six to seven and from three to five, respectively. J. J. Burns of the Philadelphia Indoor Polo association was increased from three to four. T. W. Davis of Harvard was raised from two to three and F. S. Nicholas, also of Harvard, from three to four.

Records Fall as Tropical Park Starts

Miami, Fla., March 13.—(AP)—A new track record was created, another was broken, and a third was equaled before a crowd of more than 5,000 which attended the opening of the 17 day meeting of the Gables Racing association at Tropical Park today.

Prince Drake, running at the new distance of three and one-half furlongs, won by a neck in the second race in 0:41 flat to set a mark for other juveniles to shoot at.

Sea Fox Equals Record.

In the featured Tropical Park handicap the mile and a sixteenth record was equaled when Sea Fox was timed in 1:45. The Boca Raton purse, secondary feature, saw six parade for the five furlong dash and Leros won it in 0:59 flat, two-fifths of a second faster than the old mark.

After seven favorites had lost in a row at Hialeah on the final program, there was wide expectation of a return to form. However, six choices were defeated and long shots were the order of the day. The former steeplechaser, Comstockery, which used to race for Mrs. Payne Whitney, won the sixth race at $228.10 for $2, one of the longest prices in Florida racing.

Morrison Rides Great Race.

In the feature Sea Fox led from start to finish and bore the colors of J. F. Somerville. He was well ridden by Jockey R. Morrison and returned $12.80 for $2. A head back and driving as hard as the winner was Broadway Lights.

Mountain Elk was the choice of the eight that ran, although the odds against him were better than 3 to 1, and he closed fast to be third, three-quarters of a length back of Broadway Lights and a head before Action, which had forced the early pace.

Winston Takes Decision from Ruggerillo; 10 Rounds

Northwestern's Golf Team Will Play 10 Matches

Ten matches will be played by Northwestern's golf team this spring, according to the schedule announced yesterday by Ted Payseur, the Wildcats' new golf coach.

This is the largest number of matches ever played by a Northwestern golf team, but, since all but three are to be played at home, the team will keep within the financial restrictions placed upon the sport. All trips will be made by automobiles furnished by the players

The conference meet also will be played at Evanston on a course yet to be selected. All home matches of the Wildcats will be played at Westmoreland.

Paul McDonald is the lone letterman available. The sophomore candidates are Bob Brown, William Flynn, O. C. White, Milt Wishnick, and Vic Lespinasse. Two upper classmen, Hal Reid and Joe Huston, are also candidates.

The schedule:

May 23, 24—Conference at Evanston.

KNUTE ROCKNE'S SON REPORTS FOR FOOTBALL DRILL

Bill Rockne, eldest son of the late Knute Rockne, former Notre Dame player and coach, was one of 40 men who reported today for spring football practice at St. Benedict's college. Larry [Moon] Mullins, Notre Dame full back in 1930, is the coach.

Battered Team of Blackhawks to Face Bruins

A battered team of Blackhawks will play the Boston Bruins at Boston tonight in the last National Hockey league game of the season between the two teams.

The Blackhawks will have to play without Taffy Abel, Teddy Graham and Lolo Couture, who returned to Chicago yesterday. Dr. Meacham, Blackhawk physician, said after an examination of the three that Graham and Couture probably will be ready to participate in the Hawks' last game of the season against the Detroit Red Wings next Sunday night at the Stadium. He was doubtful, however, of having Abel ready. The big defense star suffered a painful back injury in a collision with Glen Brydson in Saturday night's game at Montreal.

THREE NEW FIVES SEEK CATHOLIC NATIONAL TITLE

Three teams were added yesterday to the list of quintets from all parts of the United States which will compete in the National Catholic Interscholastic basketball tournament at Loyola university March 22 to 26.

St. Wenceslaus of Cedar Rapids, winner of the Iowa state tournament; St. John's Cathedral of Milwaukee, winner of the Wisconsin elimination tournament, and St. Mary's of Niagara Falls, N. Y., Catholic prep champion of western New York, are the latest additions.

Thirteen states already are represented on the entry list, which is expected to be completed before the end of the week.

Jackson Beats Thurnblad, 25-19, in Billiard Match

Clarence Jackson defeated Arthur Thurnblad, 25 to 19, in 20 innings in a three cushion billiard match at Kieckhefer's Recreation last night. Kieckhefer will play Reiselt in a noon match today and Willie Hoppe will meet Jackson in an evening game.

SAMPSON WINS FROM BAKER IN EIGHT ROUNDS

Sharkey Scores Victory Over Stewart.

Marty Sampson, New York middleweight, beat Rosy [Kid] Baker of Indianapolis in the eight round windup fight at White City last night. Sampson weighed 161½ and Baker, 157 pounds.

In the fourth round Baker opened a cut over Sampson's left eye with a looping right. However, Sampson landed rights to the chin later in the round and slowed up his opponent. From then on it was all Sampson. He piled up points with a two fisted attack in close quarters. Baker took a count of three in the eighth round. Jackie Sharkey, Minneapolis featherweight, whipped Jackie Stewart of Louisville in the eight round semi-final. Stewart was down for a nine count in the second round. A barrage of punches knocked Stewart out of the ring in the fifth round, but he returned at the count of 2, with eight seconds to spare.

Georgie Nate, South Bend featherweight, and his bantamweight brother Johnny, won preliminary bouts. Georgie beat Joey Cohen of Milwaukee, Wis., in four rounds and Johnny stopped Eddie Evans in three.

Other results: Glen Camp, Kewanee, Ill., lightweight, and Johnny Terry, drew [4]; Ralph Lubanski beat Freddy Dolph [4]; Phil Pernice beat Frank Keevil [4]; Laddie Tonelli and Mickey O'Shea drew [4].

Ross boxed four rounds yesterday, two each against Varias Milling, Los Angeles Filipino featherweight, and Young Walker.

Milling will box Johnny Pena of New York in a 10 round contest on the same card. They boxed an eight round draw at the Stadium's show last Jan. 13 and were scheduled to meet again twice, at the Washington Boulevard arena last Friday and at the Coliseum tomorrow. Both matches were canceled.

Pena did loosening up exercises yesterday. He will go through the same routine today and then will begin sparring tomorrow. Nick Scalba, Chicago 122 pound fighter, and Kid Irish of Benld, Ill., are to clash in a six round match at the Stadium. Billy Gladstone, north side 138 pound boxer, may face Don Messina in another six round preliminary.

The show next week will be the first under the promotion of the Chicago Stadium Operating company, leaseholder of the big west side building while it is in receivership. The company is composed of Charles Bidwill, president; Joe Foley, vice president, and Nate Lewis, matchmaker.

Jackie Parker and Steve Gotch, local middleweights, will meet in a six round bout tonight at the Midway arena, 6115 Cottage Grove avenue. Freddie Garvelle is to face Johnny Hayes in the five round semi-final. Other bouts are:

Virvil Bemi vs. Pete Verri [4], Walter Statkus vs. Eddie Chinski [4], Al De Rose vs. Johnny Fitzpatrick [4], and Rudy Branly vs. Al Woznica [wrestlers].

George Getz, A Century of Progress sports committee chairman and Illinois athletic commissioner, yesterday seemed to have lost interest in bringing the Max Schmeling-Max Baer 15 round bout to Chicago for a June presentation. Getz was confident that the match would be held here after several conferences with Promoter Jack Dempsey and Joe Jacobs, manager of Schmeling. The delay in passing the 15 round law for nonchampionship contests in Illinois is said to be one of the major obstacles.

PERU MOBILIZES RECRUITS IN WAR WITH COLOMBIA

Youths Train; Military Revolt Checked.

BY C. N. GRIFFIS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LIMA, Peru, March 13.—Despite the military revolt yesterday at Cajamarca, Peru is mobilizing a highly competent fighting force on the eastern frontiers, with Iquitos as the main base, to settle the dispute with Colombia over Leticia.

Peruvian troops on the eastern frontier number between 3,000 to 4,000 men. In every town and village of the republic recruits are undergoing preliminary training and all reserve officers have been called to the colors.

Recruits at Trujillo, coastal town, yesterday offered their services to crush the uprising at nearby Cajamarca. Calm prevails in the rest of Peru and it is not likely the revolt will spread to other provinces.

West Peru Joins Drive.

Lieut. Col. Gustavo Jiminez proclaimed the Cajamarca revolt against President Luis Sanchez-Cerro at dawn on Saturday. Jiminez called himself the "national delegate for the revolutionary organizations and supreme military political chief of the republic." He presumably was acting for the A. P. R. A. [Young Peruvians' Radical association], which is the chief opposition group.

The growing sentiment of western Peru to support the claims to Leticia against Colombia is likely to prove an antidote to any further movements to rebel. Western merchants, bankers and planters, who a few weeks ago deprecated the eastern military adventure, now feel that the honor of the country is at stake and the issue must be faced.

All Peruvians are disillusioned over the breakdown of the machinery of peace, particularly the impotent showing of the Pan-American conciliation commission at Washington, D. C. They resent former Secretary of State Stimson's note of Jan. 25 and charge that it favored Colombia, negatived the progress of peace negotiations at Rio de Janeiro, and provoked the Colombian attack on Tarapaca three weeks later.

Recall U. S. Blue Book.

Peruvians recall the state department blue book of Feb. 7, 1913, entitled "Slavery in Peru," which they claim was based on allegations by Sir Roger Casement, whom Great Britain discredited and shot as a traitor during the war. Peruvians charge that the concessions granted Colombia by the late President Augusto B. Leguia in the Salomon-Lozano treaty, which included putting Leticia and Tarapaca in Colombian territory, were forced upon him by pressure from Washington.

Peruvians give Washington credit for excellent work in settling the Tacna-Arica dispute with Chile, but frown upon all other intercessions.

In its preparations for war, Peru's problem is far simpler than Colombian's. Iquitos is strategically located on the navigable headwaters of the Amazon, and thousands of enthusiastic and acclimated recruits are available. Rivers, forests and settlements can supply abundant food.

Rotation System an Advantage.

Moreover, the rotation system in the Peruvian army provided scores of officers who have served two or more years in the forest garrisons of the east. Even President Sanchez-Cerro fought under Gen. Oscar Benavides, Peruvian minister to London, in the skirmish with Colombia at La Pedrera some 20 years ago. Aside from purchase of machine guns and fighting planes, the conflict should not prove costly to Peru in comparison to Colombia. Most of Peru's fighting forces will be made up of eastern recruits interspersed, for disciplinary purposes, with regular army units from the west coast.

The transportation line to Iquitos is continuous. From the seaport of Callao and the capital of Lima railway and motor facilities lead to San Ramon, the western air base. A weak link is bridged by a two hour airplane flight from San Ramon to Masisea on the Ucayali river. Eight passenger planes are ceaselessly carrying men and munitions to this point. From Masisea down to Iquitos there is rapid river transportation.

RUSSIA ACCUSES SIX BRITONS OF SABOTAGE PLOT

Charges Wrecking of Electric Plants.

MOSCOW, March 13.—(AP)—An official communique tonight said that six Englishmen and 25 Russians, including eight officers and employés of the Metropolitan-Vickers company, a British electrical firm, were arrested on charges of participating in a conspiracy to damage electric power stations.

This was the first explanation given by the government for the arrests Saturday and Sunday by the soviet secret police, who took four British subjects and four other employés of the firm into custody after raids on its offices, in which records of the company were seized.

Forbidden to Leave Moscow.

The alleged sabotage plot resulted in damage to areas served by electric power stations, the communique said.

Allan Monkhouse, the company director here, and Charles Nordwell, an installation engineer, who were among the Englishmen arrested, were released after a preliminary investigation. Four British subjects remained in custody tonight.

Before their release, Monkhouse and Nordwell were forced to sign a promise not to leave Moscow until the completion of an investigation now under way. The four other Britons are W. H. Thornton and John Cushny, Monkhouse's assistants, and W. L. MacDonald, an engineer, and a man named Gregory, an installation engineer.

Called "Criminal Elements."

Asserting that the secret police investigation had revealed a number of cases of "unexpected and consecutive mishaps at large electrical stations in Moscow, Cheliabinsk, Zuevo, and Slatoust," the communique said the inquiry had disclosed "wrecking activities by a group of criminal elements, among them state employés of the commissariat of heavy industry, who aimed to destroy electrical stations in the U. S. S. R. by sabotaging activity and by putting out of commission state works served by these stations."

The investigations also showed, the communique continued, that an active part "was taken in these wrecking activities by some employés of the English firm of Metropolitan-Vickers."

Officials of American, Italian, and German companies were concerned about the raids and representatives of other foreign concerns dealing in electrical machinery said the action of the authorities made their present situation somewhat doubtful. Italian and German firms already have discussed the matter with their respective embassies.

TWO U. S. FLYERS FOUND BURNED TO DEATH IN ANDES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTIAGO, Chile, March 13.—After an 8 hour battle with Andean elements, a mule pack from Cacheuta today reached the ravine in the mountain wilderness 20 miles west of Mendoza, Argentina, where a Pan-American Grace airways plane fell Saturday. The burned bodies of two Americans, Pilot Clifford E. McMillan and Wireless Operator Richard Diamond, were found.

Mountain residents said the plane, flying from Mendoza to Santiago, Chile, had fallen from an altitude of 10,000 feet. The rescue party found the machine a twisted mass of ruins. The airmen's charred remains are being taken to Mendoza, from where they will be sent to Santiago and perhaps the United States.

Quick location of the plane was made possible by a system developed after the disappearance of Pilot Charles J. Robinson, former Chicagoan, on the Santiago-Mendoza route last July. Maps divided into 152 sectors were issued to company pilots. A message from Diamond Saturday said the plane was falling in zone J20. John Shannon, company manager, led an aerial search which included Chilean and Argentine army planes, and after locating the wreckage, gave directions to the land party.

Sioux Falls, S. D., March 13.—(AP)—An order enjoining the Sioux Falls Broadcasting association from using Associated Press news in its broadcasts was being drawn late today after Judge James D. Elliott in federal District court here announced he would sign it. The announcement came following arguments in the case of the Associated Press against the Sioux Falls Broadcasting association, in which the Associated Press asked that the broadcasting association be restrained from unauthorized use of its news dispatchers.

HOUSE AWARDS ILLINOIS BUT 2 CHAIRMANSHIPS

No Representation on Ways and Means.

Washington, D. C., March 13.—[Special.] — Illinois Democrats will head only two relatively unimportant committees in the seventy-third house of representatives, according to a list of Democratic committee assignments for the new congress made public today following a party caucus.

The two Illinois chairmen are Representative Claude V. Parsons of Golconda, who retains his chairmanship of the committee on enrolled bills, and Representative Kent E. Keller, who moved up to the chairmanship of the library committee.

No Illinoisan on Committee.

Elevation of Henry T. Rainey to the speakership and the defeat of Carl Chindblom of Wadsworth, a Republican, leaves Illinois without representation on the ways and means committee, probably the most powerful of the house groups. Whether an Illinoisan will be named to succeed Chindblom on the Republican side, however, is unknown pending announcement of Republican committee assignments tomorrow.

Several of the older members of the Illinois delegation were named to important committee posts. Representative Harry P. Beam of Chicago moves from tenth to eighth ranking majority member of the agriculture committee; Representative William W. Arnold of Robinson becomes eleventh ranking Democrat on the appropriations committee.

Major on Judiciary.

On the important judiciary committee Representative J. Earl Major of Hillsboro is now eleventh ranking Democrat, while on the equally important naval affairs committee Representative Leonard W. Schuetz of Chicago is number eight.

Representative Adolph J. Sabath of Chicago becomes the fourth ranking Democrat on the rules committee, which, with the ways and means committee, is regarded as the most powerful in the house.

Among the best assignments given new members from Illinois were the appointments of Representative James A. Meeks of Danville to the banking and currency committee, and Representative Chester Thompson of Rock Island to the military affairs committee.

OUST M'FADDEN FROM HIS HOUSE COMMITTEE JOB

Washington, D. C., March 13.—(AP)—Representative Louis T. McFadden, Pennsylvania Republican, who made repeated attacks on President Hoover and twice endeavored to have him impeached, has been deprived of his place as ranking Republican member of the house banking committee.

After an attack on the former chief executive, shortly after his intergovernmental debt moratorium, McFadden was stripped of all his patronage privileges. His removal from the banking committee, of which he is a former chairman, was construed by his associates as another act of party discipline.

James W. Wadsworth of New York, former senator who was elected to the house last fall, was placed on the banking committee.

GILKEY DISCUSSES COLLEGES' ATTITUDE TOWARD RELIGION

The different attitudes toward religion as existing in American colleges were discussed yesterday by Dean Charles W. Gilkey of the University of Chicago chapel in an address before a meeting of Baptist ministers at the Central Y. M. C. A., 19 South La Salle street.

These attitudes, the dean said, range from friendly to critical. They bear some influence on student thinking, he suggested, and in all might be found some element of benefit and value.

When Dean Gilkey completed his talk he was asked to name those professors on the Midway who represented the various attitudes.

He said that Prof. T. V. Smith of the department of philosophy and Prof. Anton J. Carlson of the department of physiology might be taken as representative of faculty members who are critical of religion.

In some quarters it was publicly reported that Dean Gilkey in his talk had attacked Profs. Smith and Carlson as "enemies of religion." No such attack was made, insisted Dean Gilkey last night.

"I spoke appreciatively of the work of these men," said Dean Gilkey. "I certainly did not attack them, or any one else."

H. N. SCHUYLER, PANA BANKER, IS DEAD AT 90

Pana, Ill., March 13.—[Special.]—Henry Newton Schuyler, 90, for fifty years prominent in national and state politics, died of apoplexy at his home this morning. He was a presidential elector in 1896 and 1904, mayor of Pana for 26 years and for 50 years head of the H. N. Schuyler State Bank of Pana which closed Feb. 6, 1930.

Born in Montgomery county New York, Mr. Schuyler arrived in Pana penniless in 1870. He was first employed as a hardware store clerk. Later he was in the realty and loan business with John A. Hayward, later his brother-in-law, and in 1876 founded his own bank. He increased the capital stock of his bank to $200,000 and when it closed its assets were near $3,000,000.

He had extensive land interests in Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska, all of which, with his $50,000 home, were swept away when his bank failed.

Several times he was offered the Republican nomination in this district for congress but declined.

Mr. Schuyler was high in Masonic circles of Illinois. One daughter, Mrs. Ruth Cole of Indianapolis, and two grandsons survive. Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon. Mayor Barnett today issued a proclamation suspending all business during the funeral.

LOUIS E. STONE, "NATURE FAKER" OF WINSTED, DIES

Winsted, Conn., March 13.—(AP)—Louis E. Stone, the newspaper man who made Winsted's freaks of nature famous throughout the country, died today at the age of 57.

The originator of the "Winsted Wildman," of 1895; the man who made famous the story of the hen that laid an egg on the pilot of a speeding train in 1911, whose yarns included those of the cat with the hairlip that whistled "Yankee Doodle," and the cow that was so cold one winter day that she gave ice cream, was treasurer and general manager of the Citizens' Publishing company and managing editor of the Winsted Evening Citizen.

ORDERS STEDMAN AND 7 OTHERS TO TRIAL TODAY

The 46th hearing of the City State bank case ended yesterday with an order by Circuit Judge Daniel P. Trude that Seymour Stedman, former Socialist candidate for mayor, and seven other officers and directors of the bank go to trial today on charges of receiving deposits while insolvent before the bank crashed in November, 1929.

Judge Trude overruled a motion to quash the indictment against Frank E. Robinson, who was a vice president and director of the bank. Stedman, who is an attorney, and Attorney A. C. Lewis argued for four days on this motion. In a half hour reply Assistant State's Attorney Grenville Beardsey pointed out that similar motions on behalf of all the defendants except Robinson, who had not then been apprehended, were denied months ago.

DOLLAR RISES IN LONDON, PARIS AFTER HOLIDAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 13. — There were only restricted dealings in dollars on the London exchange market when it reopened for business this afternoon. At the opening rate of $3.43¾ to the pound, the dollar was a cent above the closing quotation a week ago when the exchanges closed. Subsequently the dollar eased to $3.44, but it rallied to $3.43¾ at the close.

Stability in dollar exchange was due to the fact that the dollar-round ratio was pegged this morning by agreement between the Bank of England, the federal reserve, and the Bank of France.

This action was taken by the banks in order to avoid a soaring price of dollars owing to the fact that there is an enormous short interest due to be covered.

Several syndicates, among them a group of Americans, who sold the pound a year and a half ago, have been selling the dollar, and it is estimated that there is nearly $100,000,000 short interest in the European market.

Dollar Firm in Paris.

(Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.)

PARIS, March 13.—The dollar was not officially quoted in Paris today despite London's official opening and the resumption of banking activity in the United States. However, considerable unofficial dealing went on at prices varying from 25.25 to 25.58, with late dealings near the latter figure. The last official closing on March 4 was 25.32½. Official quotations will be resumed tomorrow.

Thus, unofficially at least, there is improvement, although financial authorities are careful to point out it will be some time before the dollar finds its normal level. Today, for instance, there unquestionably was a heavy amount of covering by shorts, who face tremendous losses due to the ability of the United States to control exchange rates with the aid of the Banks of France and England.

Dollar Jumps in Canada.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., March 13.—Canadians, with a million dollars a day in commitments to pay in the United States in American funds, hoped to find the Canadian and American dollar on a near parity with today's resumption of exchange quotations. But they were astonished when American dollars quoted were at a premium of 18 to 21 per cent, which was even higher than the 16¼ per cent premium that prevailed on March 3, when the American banks closed.

Commonwealth Edison Company.

I am greatly interested in Commonwealth Edison company. I would appreciate receiving what information you have on it.—L. C. M.

Commonwealth Edison company, formerly controlled by Insull interests, supplies practically the entire electric light and power requirements of Chicago. It supplies most of the power for elevated and surface traction lines.

While under the Insull management the company had made substantial investments in affiliated enterprises, such as traction enterprises, trucks, etc. The present management has followed the policy of gradually eliminating these investments. It has also discontinued stock market operations.

In 1932 the company sold 8.4 per cent fewer kilowatt-hours than in 1931. Most of the decrease occurred in retail-commercial and wholesale divisions. Dollar volume of sales were $74,401,000, a decrease of 7.4 per cent from $80,551,000 for 1931. Gross for 1930 was $84,004,000, against $83,487,000 for 1929 and $77,043,000 for 1928.

Operating expenses were substantially lower than in previous years. A change in the rate of depreciation was responsible for an increase in depreciation charges. Taxes showed a sharp increase. Exclusive of $2,238,000 municipal compensation, state and local taxes were $6,506,000, a 36.9 per cent increase over 1931. The increase alone equaled $1.09 per share.

Net income for 1932 (including Commonwealth Subsidiary corporation) was $10,059,000, or $6.24 per share, against net of $16,323,000 (excluding Commonwealth Subsidiary) or $10.40 per share, for 1931. Net for 1930 was $16,403,000, against $16,323,000 for 1929 and $15,475,000 for 1928.

The sale of $18,000,000 of 5½ per cent bonds in August, 1932, materially improved the company's current position. On Dec. 31, 1932, current assets were $31,946,000, and current liabilities were $7,425,000. Cash was $14,729,000. Working capital was $7,425,000, against $9,929,000 the year before. With the exception of $781,000 of bonds maturing in 1943, there are now no bank loans or bonds maturing prior to 1948.

COMEDY MIXES WITH BUSINESS AS BANKS REOPEN

There was consternation yesterday in the quarters of the Federal Reserve bank when a brisk gentleman entered with a camera and a tripod. Policemen rushed up to him and announced that no pictures could be taken inside the institution. The supposed cameraman then disclosed that he was an ex-hoarder and that he had his camera full of gold money.

"Just cameraflaging it from robbers," he added. Before the day was over the pretended photographer had delivered three camerafuls of yellow metal to Uncle Sam.

An automobile sales agency in Evanston announced that four orders for new cars, with first payments down, were received yesterday. The agency hadn't sold a single car in a month and the influx of buyers was taken as indicating a return of confidence.

The better feeling began to develop Saturday. Two chain store managers in the suburbs announced that their customers set all-time records for volume of business in the stores that day.

A great increase in travel was noted by railroads. W. H. Rowland, joint ticket agent at the Union station, said that the day's sales were nearer normal than they had been in several months. Traveling salesmen and company executives were reported making reservations in large numbers.

Crowds in the loop yesterday appeared to be twice as large as those of a week previous. Payment of payrolls by the banks loosened buying power and the check cashers were augmented by throngs hastening to pay taxes before penalties are imposed.

City Treasurer James A. Kearns deposited a week's accumulation of vehicle taxes, miscellaneous, and water taxes paid in during the holiday, in the Harris Trust and Savings bank. He expressed relief at getting the money out of the vaults in the city hall, where it was guarded constantly by police details.

Two elderly women were the first customers to reach the First National Bank of Englewood yesterday morning. They made a large deposit and added that they had not been able to sleep well for fear of burglars while they had kept their funds concealed at home during the moratorium.

Abraham Goldenblum, 1426 South Central Park avenue, veteran business man, deposited $2,000 in gold notes in the Liberty Trust and Savings bank, 3158 Roosevelt road. "I drew it out when I got excited," he explained, "but the President has convinced me things are going to be all right and I'm with him."

Each loop bank was assigned two policemen from the Central station. But business was so nearly normal and the bank customers so free from hysteria that the policemen had nothing to do but watch for pickpockets.

For the first time in the history of the real estate firm of McKey & Poague, one of the south side's oldest and best known organizations, at least half a dozen tenants came in yesterday and paid their apartment rent in gold. According to Frank J. O'Brien, vice president, these hoarders paid their monthly bills entirely in the yellow metal

NEW U. S. ISSUES OF 800 MILLION SOLD IN A DAY

Washington, D. C., March 13.—Despite a stiff money market, the treasury has sold 800 million dollars' worth of certificates in a single day, Secretary of the Treasury Woodin announced tonight. It was the first offering under the Roosevelt administration.

The issue was floated to refinance an issue maturing March 15 which amounts to 695 million dollars, and to provide another 105 million dollars for the treasury's cash balance. Out of this balance 59 million dollars is interest on the public debt, which must be paid on Wednesday.

Highest interest rates which the government is allowed to offer were carried on one of the series of certificates sold today, a 9 months' issue bearing 4¼ per cent interest. The other series carries 4 per cent and matures within five months.

SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS COAL SELLING 'TRUST'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 13.—Tempering the rigidity of the Sherman act with a consideration of the "deplorable" conditions in the coal industry, the Supreme court today held that the formation of a sales agency by producers in the Appalachian coal fields was not in itself a violation of the anti-trust law. The decision reversed a lower court opinion.

In an opinion written by Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes the court left the way open, however, for a new prosecution under the anti-trust laws if the sales agency, in actual operation, should prove to place undue restraint upon interstate commerce.

Hasn't Functioned Yet.

The sales agency, it was pointed out, never has had opportunity to function pending the outcome of the government's legal proceedings.

The agency, known as Appalachian Coals, Inc., was set up by 137 producing companies in Virginia, West Virginia, Tennessee, and Kentucky, to market the coal mined by those companies. The court found that the purposes of the sales agency could not be determined in advance to be other than declared, and that those purposes could not be construed as violating the anti-trust laws.

"Good intentions will not save a plan otherwise objectionable," said the court, "but knowledge of actual intent is an aid in the interpretation of facts and prediction of consequences.

"The evidence leaves no doubt of the existence of the evils at which defendants' plan was aimed. The industry was in distress. It suffered from over expansion and from a serious relative decline through the growing use of substitute fuels. It was afflicted by injurious practices within itself—practices which demanded correction. If evil conditions could not be entirely cured, they at least might be alleviated.

Cites Industrial Crisis.

"The unfortunate state of the industry would not justify any attempt unduly to restrain competition or to monopolize, but the existing situation prompted defendants to make, and the statute did not preclude them from making, an honest effort to remove abuses, to make competition fairer, and thus to promote the essential interests of commerce."

The court further held that a cooperative enterprise, otherwise free from objection which carries with it no monopolistic menace, is not to be condemned as an undue restraint merely because it may effect a change in market conditions where the change would be in mitigation of recognized evils and would not impair, but rather foster, fair competitive opportunities.

Reverses Lower Court.

"We think that the government has failed to show adequate grounds for an injunction in this case," it was held. "We recognize, however, that the case has been tried in advance of the operation of defendant's plan, and that it has been necessary to test that plan with reference to purposes and anticipated consequences without the advantage of the demonstrations of experience." Justice McReynolds dissented, holding that the injunction decree granted by the lower court against the sales agency should be confirmed.

TRADING STARTS IN TAX WARRANTS AND U. S. BONDS

The special committee of the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday removed all restrictions on its members dealing in obligations of the United States or tax anticipation warrants of Cook county and municipal governments located in the county.

The action followed the announcement of the New York Stock exchange that it has relaxed its rules restricting members from dealing in securities by permitting operations in United States government bonds.

The Chicago Stock exchange has made no decision with respect to reopening. Action is not expected before the end of the week.

I. C. C. Extends Rail Surcharge and Credit Agency Six Months

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 13.—Continuance of the emergency surcharges of from 6 cents a ton to 2 cents a hundred pounds on freight traffic, excepting a large group of agricultural commodities, until Sept. 30, 1933, was authorized today by the interstate commerce commission.

The charges have been in effect since Jan. 4, 1932, when the commission permitted them to be assessed as a measure of relief after the railroads had unsuccessfully sought a 15 per cent increase in rates.

The commission ruled, however, that not more than one surcharge of 6 cents a ton should be assessed on lake cargo coal moving by rail and lake after March 31. Surcharges on nonferrous ores and concentrates are eliminated.

Revenue Below Expectations.

In 1932 the emergency surcharges produced additional revenue of approximately $63,000,000. On the basis of traffic volume at the time the decision was made in 1931 the surcharges would have produced around 100 million dollars additional revenue.

Shippers opposed continuation of the surcharges, while the railroads asked for an indefinite continuation on the ground that every bit of additional revenue that it would be possible to obtain was needed by the railroads now.

The commission recommended that the railroads continue the pooling arrangement whereby the funds obtained from the surcharges go to the Railroad Credit corporation, and are then loaned to needy carriers. The railroads wish to drop the pooling plan. The commission said, however, that in view of the fact that the surcharges were to cease next September, the pooling plan might as well be continued.

"Economic conditions have grown progressively worse since the surcharge plan was authorized," the commission said.

Some Surcharges Removed.

In many instances the railroads had been unable to maintain the surcharges authorized, some of them having been removed and in other instances rate reductions having been made, the commission said.

"It is evident," the commission said, "that the surcharge plan, although productive of some net increase in revenue, falls far short of solving the problem of credit now confronting the railroads generally."

Giving due weight to all the surrounding circumstances, the commission said it thought the surcharges as such should be brought to an end, but that a reasonable period should be allowed during which the railroads will have an opportunity to readjust their tariffs. The order permitting the surcharges to run until next September was therefore issued.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 13.— Directions were issued today by the New York Federal Reserve bank to dealers in foreign exchange and to banks interpreting the executive orders from President Roosevelt and the secretary of the treasury regulating and restricting operations in exchange. These orders were designed to prevent withdrawing or exports of gold, and withdrawals of currency for hoarding.

To interpret these regulations the reserve bank has borrowed the services of Fred I. Kent, economist of the Bankers Trust company. They were advised to make any inquiries of him.

The circular issued by the reserve bank said that the executive order of March 10 prohibits all transactions in foreign exchange except those which may be undertaken for legitimate and normal business requirements, for traveling, and other personal requirements, and for fulfillment of contracts entered into prior to March 5.

Must Explain Transactions.

All dealers are required by the reserve bank:

"To obtain from each person to whom they sell foreign exchange directly or indirectly a written declaration signed by such persons describing the purpose for which the foreign exchange is purchased and certifying that the transaction in no way contravenes the act of March 9, 1933, the executive order of March 10, 1933, or any regulation issued thereunder; and,

"To file with the federal reserve bank written reports which will show the foreign exchange position of such dealers at any given time. For the present such reports are required only from dealers who carry their own accounts abroad and/or who carry accounts here on their books for foreigners."

Some Transactions Permitted.

The executive order of March 10, 1933, permits foreign exchange transactions for the fulfillment of contracts entered into prior to March 6, 1933. To enable the federal reserve bank to examine such contracts each dealer in foreign exchange doing business in the Second federal reserve district is directed to forward to the federal reserve bank a detailed list of all foreign exchange contracts entered into by him prior to March 6, 1933, for the delivery of foreign exchange after that date.

This list should classify contracts by currencies and should show the maturity of each contract. The dealers should advise the federal reserve bank in writing as such contracts are fulfilled.

ISAAC POWELL TRADES HOUSE FOR DAIRY FARM

Banker-Politician to Have 200 Acres.

BY AL CHASE.

Isaac N. Powell, for many years a power in the local Republican party, former city treasurer, and for many years identified with the south side and loop banking and bond brokerage business, yesterday traded his residence at 6826 Bennett avenue for a 200 acre dairy farm in Wisconsin.

Mr. Powell was one of the pioneer residents in the Jackson Park Highlands subdivision in the Bryn Mawr district, started by Frank I. Bennett in 1907. It covered the territory between 67th and 71st streets and Cregier and Jeffery avenues.

He bought the nine room three story brick residence on the 50x134 lot at 6826 Bennett avenue. They have made their home there ever since.

The trade negotiated yesterday was with R. G. Werner, who operates a dozen dairy farms in Wisconsin, with more than 600 cows. No cash was paid in the deal. Mr. Powell assumed an undisclosed mortgage on the farm.

The property has, in addition to the farmhouse, three tenants' homes, substantial barns, and 100 Guernsey cows. Mr. Powell's son, Donald H. Powell, will manage the property. The farm is on Wisconsin state highway 50 and is east of Lake Geneva. The Powells will move some time before May 1.

There was a fair business in lard yesterday, with the market firm in sympathy with hogs. Spot lard was $4.87½ for regular, with loose and leaf $4.37½. Bellies were in good demand and ⅛ cent higher at 5⅛ cents, and it was said that 23 cars sold on Saturday at 5 cents a pound. Liverpool lard was 6 pence lower on spot and unchanged to 3 to 6 pence higher on futures. Exports of lard from New York on Saturday were 392,938 pounds and of bacon 13,355 pounds.

Banks' Bill Rates Raised in Chicago

Rates on bankers' acceptances were advanced ¼ of 1 per cent yesterday, following the sharp boost which took place on March 3—the day prior to the declaration of the banking holiday by President Roosevelt.

The upward trend in rates on bankers' acceptances, coupled with the increasing yield on government securities, was seen by bankers in La Salle street yesterday as being a most favorable development in their behalf.

"With money rates being tightened up, we'll be back on a profitable basis," one banker commented. "When we can get a good return on our money, our position will be strengthened. And then we shall be able to start making loans again to business."

Sharp Advances Shown.

Rates on acceptances advanced yesterday to 3¾ per cent bid, 3⅝ per cent asked for 30-60-90 day paper; 4 per cent bid, 3⅞ per cent asked for 120 day paper and 4⅛ bid, 4⅛ asked on 150 to 180 day paper. These rates contrast with bid prices ranging on March 1 from 2½ per cent on the short term paper to 2⅝ per cent on the longest term. The bid price on short term paper was ⅛ of 1 per cent on Jan. 25.

Prime bankers' acceptances—which are issued against such stable commodities as cotton, wheat, corn—are rated next to United States government securities as a medium for investment by banks. The recent very low yield made a serious dent in the income of the banks. Short term government paper likewise was netting as low as about 13-100ths of 1 per cent.

Trading Is Restricted.

One house dealing in acceptances said there was little movement in them yesterday, with so many of the banks throughout the nation still closed. With reopening, however, it expects the demand to pick up sharply. The supply remains somewhat limited at the moment also, it was stated. One out-of-town man sought to buy a sizeable amount, but could not be accommodated.

Call loans on stock exchange collateral were renewed by New York banks yesterday at 5 per cent. This compared with 4 per cent at the close of the stock market on March 3. The ruling rate on March 3 was 3½ per cent.

AMERICAN STOCK PRICES IN LONDON SLIGHTLY LOWER

LONDON, March 13. — Trading in American securities on the stock exchange was less active today. The level at which the dollar reopened with resumption of dealings in exchange seems to have been discounted by the market.

Shares in the trans-Atlantic group closed either lower or unchanged. Canadian Pacific declined ⅛ point; General Motors, ½; International Nickel, ¼, and United States Steel, 1¼. Drug, Inc., International Telephone and Telegraph, and New York Central were unchanged.

London prices of American stocks, compared with New York closing prices of March 3, on the basis of the closing pound sterling rate today of $3.43¾ and $3.45½ on March 3, are as follows:

	London, Mar. 13.	New York, Mar. 3.
Canadian Pacific	$ 9½	$ 9½
Drug Inc.	34⅞	32¾
General Motors	11	10¾
Int. Nickel	7⅞	7⅞

STANLEY FIELD QUITS UTILITY AND BANK POSTS

Acts to Insure Public Confidence.

Stanley Field, Chicago banker and financier, yesterday resigned as chairman of the board and director of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company and as a member of the boards of the Commonwealth Edison company and the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois. All the boards from which he resigned accepted Mr. Field's actions "with reluctance."

In letters both to the board of the bank and to the utility companies Mr. Field said he did not think it advisable to retain his positions while under indictment by the federal grand jury. Mr. Field, who is president of the Field museum and a nephew of the late Marshall Field, was indicted on Feb. 27 by a federal grand jury along with other officers and members of the board of directors of the Corporation Securities company —one of the units in the utility empire of Samuel Insull which failed.

Acts for Public Confidence.

Mr. Field in his letter to the bank's board said he felt that it was necessary that the public's confidence be maintained.

The board announced that the position of chairman will not be filled at this time and that the duties devolving on this office will be taken over by James Leavell, president of the bank.

James Doyle, president of the Commonwealth Edison company, also resigned as a director of the Edison company but continues as president. The resignations of Mr. Field and Mr. Doyle were announced last evening by James Simpson, chairman of the board of the Commonwealth Edison company and the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois.

In his letter to the board of the Commonwealth Edison company, Mr. Field said:

"Because of the public nature of the business of the Commonwealth Edison company, it is essential that the confidence of the public in the institution be maintained. For this reason I feel that notwithstanding I have just been reelected a director of the Commonwealth Edison company I should not remain a director while the indictment returned against me by the federal grand jury is pending.

"[Signed] STANLEY FIELD."

Board Regrets Action.

The board of directors of the Edison company in accepting Mr. Field's resignation passed this resolution:

"Resolved, That the directors of this company, in considering the resignation of Stanley Field as a member of this board, desire to record that they do so with great reluctance, and because impelled to do so by the unselfish motives and the high sense of honor prompting Mr. Field's course. For that reason only his resignation is regretfully accepted. And further resolved, that the members of this board hereby express their deep appreciation for his long and valuable services to this company and their high regard for his character and integrity."

Mr. Simpson, commenting on the action taken by the board, stated:

"In announcing the resignation of Stanley Field from the respective boards of directors of the Commonwealth Edison company and the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, which resignation was regretfully accepted at the meetings held today, I desire to say on behalf of the members of these boards that they took the action with great reluctance, and only in deference to Mr. Field's desire and in recognition of the unselfish motives which prompted his resignation."

In accepting Mr. Doyle's resignation the board of directors of the Commonwealth Edison company expressed full confidence in his integrity and their recognition of his sense of obligation and loyalty which impelled him to take this action.

Mr. Simpson said that the positions from which Mr. Field and Mr. Doyle resigned cannot be filled before the next stockholders' meeting, which will take place in February, 1934.

WHEAT MARKET CLEARS TRADES; READY TO RESUME

Prices of Grains Decline in Foreign Markets.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A decided change for the better came to the grain trade in Chicago and throughout the country yesterday. Banks in the leading cities were open, which enabled grain receivers and shippers and elevator interests to collect and pay drafts, obtain their money on previous sales of cash grain, and send out their bills and drafts to the country.

This eased the situation all around, but it was said it would take several days before all the banks will be functioning regularly, and leaders in the grain trade said it was best to wait until all banks are functioning regularly before trading in futures be resumed.

Confer on Reopening.

President Peter B. Carey of the Chicago Board of Trade was in New York yesterday and is said to have conferred with grain and stock exchange interests and banks, so that there will be no misunderstanding in regard to any move the grain trade may make, the desire being to work in harmony with the stock exchange interests.

Mr. Carey expects to be in Washington today, where he will meet with Edward Grimes of the Cargill Grain company of Minneapolis, one of the largest handlers of cash grain in the country, and Frank Thais of Kansas City. They expect to have a conference with President Roosevelt over the proposed plan submitted by leading farm interests.

Pressure at Winnipeg.

Winnipeg wheat market was affected early by buying by houses with Chicago and export connections, and advanced fractionally but when Liverpool closed weak there was increased pressure with the local element going out of their lines on the way down. Chicago houses also were sellers at times. The Canadian market closed ⅞ to 1 cent lower with May finishing at 51¼ to 51⅜ cents; July at 52⅛ to 52⅝ cents and October at 54⅛ cents in Canadian funds.

There was a relatively slow demand for cash wheat in Liverpool, and the decline in sterling also had some effect. The English market closed equal to ⅞ to 1 cent per bushel with May finishing at 48¾ cents in United States funds.

Unofficial quotations on cash grain prices in leading markets showed little change as compared with Saturday.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Supplies of fresh eggs were liberal and weather conditions favorable for heavy production. Prices were shaded ½c to make sales. Receipts, 10,418 cases. Butter declined ½c. Receipts, 10,359 tubs. Live hens advanced ½c and leghorn hens 1c, while other poultry was unchanged. Receipts, 15 trucks. Potatoes steady. Receipts, 120 cars, with 267 cars on team track.

Most holders were still asking 3c. In refined a fair withdrawal demand was reported. Prices were unchanged at 4.10c for fine granulated.

Fear Break in Market if Receipts Rise.

Hog prices headed upward in a mild rally on abbreviated receipts as the nine day bank holiday came to an end yesterday. Progress of trading was rather slow on the upgrade, however. Live stock commission firms are rapidly clearing the decks of last week's holdover business for normal functioning of the trade, but they warn against too rapid an increase in the movement of meat animals. The market is not yet in a position to handle more than light supplies without a serious setback in prices.

While much of last week's receipts have been paid for with the cash that was mailed to the country Saturday forenoon, the delayed reopening of country banks has brought in numerous requests from farmers to hold the money here until local banks reopen.

Country Banks Open Today.

It was estimated that checks for about $2,500,000 were cleared by two Stock Yard banks late Friday and Saturday for the payment of live stock. Key banks throughout the cornbelt states are scheduled to reopen today and Wednesday, and this may bring a rush of live stock from some sections which have been holding back because of financial conditions the last week. Members of the trade are doing their utmost to head off any such movement.

Yesterday's arrivals of hogs were among the smallest on record for Monday. Only 13,000 arrived at Chicago. Cattle numbered 4,000, also an unusually light run, while 12,000 sheep and lambs were on the market. Prices in the hog division ruled strong to 10 cents higher, the top reaching $4.10, highest since last Wednesday. The general average at $3.85 showed only 5 cents gain over the preceding close.

Cattle Prices Strong.

Light steers and yearling cattle sold strong to 25 cents higher yesterday, top 1,074 pound averages at $7.35, standing within 15 cents of the year's top which was established last week when light yearlings sold up to $7.50. Wilson bought several loads at $7.00 to $7.25. Few other sales were made above $6.50, while the majority of steers cashed from $4.50 to $6.35.

The bulk of the day's crop consisted of medium and heavy long fed steers. One consignment averaged 1,800 pounds and sold at $4.85.

The lamb market made the poorest showing of all live stock yesterday and broke 10 to 25 cents in a late afternoon session. City butchers picked up a few selected fed western lambs as high as $5.60, while shippers paid $5.50. The bulk sold to packers at $5.35 and below.

COFFEE.

NEW YORK, March 13.—(AP)—Coffee was quiet today with sellers holding quotations unchanged, but roasters apparently not interested. In the spot market Santos 4s were quoted at 9¼ to 9¾ cents and Rio 7s at 8¼ cents. Cost and freight offerings included Santos Bourbon 3s and 5s at 8.40 to 8.70 cents.
